20TH YEAR. NO. 178. EAST LIVERPOOL, O., THURSDAY, JULY 30, 1903. TWO CENTS.

CHOOSING SITE FOR POSTOFFICE

BRUNT SMITH IS FAVORED

By Business Men and Citizens Generally and Likely to Be Chosen.

DECISION EAGERLY AWAITED

Col. James P. Low, sent here by the postoffice department to inspect the sites offered for the proposed new federal building in East Liverpool, has made an inspection of the Brunt property, offered as a site, and today looked over the Deidrick property. These are the only properties formerly offered as sites.

The government agent will acquaint himself with the sites and the wishes of the people regarding the location of the postoffice, and on his report will depend the action to be taken by the postmaster general in regard to the matter.

Col. Low will be in the city until tomorrow when he will return to Washington and submit a report of the conditions existing in connection with the two sites. Upon his report will rest the decision as to where the federal building will be located. Which of the two sites, the William Brunt property, Fifth and Broadway, and the Deidrick property, Fourth and Broadway, Col. Low will recommend for purchase is not known, but it is generally believed that it will be the former.

According to instructions at Washington Col. Low must take into consideration the dimensions of the property, the nature of the business in close proximity, the condition as to access, and public opinion.

This being his plan of consideration there are none except those directly interested in the sale of the Deidrick property who think Col. Low will decide upon any other than the Brunt property. The conditions surrounding it are much more favorable from every standpoint, location and dimension, and in public opinion it is the only site that should even be considered.

Prominent residents of the city have been in conversation with Col. Low regarding the site, and the sentiment of them all is that he should decide upon the Brunt property, it being the unanimous opinion that it will be more suitable in every respect.

THEY BROUGHT HOME NUGGETS OF GOLD

A Lisbon Company's Agents Find Alaskan Claims Very Promising.

Lisbon, July 30.—(Special.)—W. H. Hepburn and John Costello, who returned Tuesday from a visit to the Nome district of the Alaskan gold field, where they spent about nine days inspecting the holdings of the Ophir Creek Gold company, of Lisbon, are enthusiastic over the outlook for the company, though they are not giving out much for publication.

Mr. Hepburn will return to Alaska soon and will leave Lisbon in time to enable him to sail from Seattle for Nome about August 20.

Mr. Hepburn and Mr. Costello left Lisbon on their trip Sunday, June 14, sailing from Seattle on the steamer Oregon, and reaching Nome, a city of 5,000 to 10,000, July 8. During their stay of nine day they made their headquarters at Nome. Within a few miles of that city is located the company's Anvil Creek claim, and about half of the 400 acres controlled by the company is in this vicinity. It was found that the Anvil Creek claim is surrounded by other claims which are being successfully worked, and Mr. Hepburn brought home with him a handfull of gold nuggets from that region. The Ophir Creek claim, located 60 miles inland, was also visited and specimens of gold from there were also brought home.

Death of An Infant.

The five months old baby of Mr. and Mrs. John Kountz, of the West End, died late last evening after a short illness. Funeral services will be held at the Kountz home at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

O'CONNOR TO BE HEARD BY MAYOR TOMORROW

Officer Dawson Files a Charge of Pointing Firearms and Resisting Arrest.

Officer Dawson, true to the forecast of the News Review, swore to a warrant late yesterday afternoon charging Edward ("Teddy") O'Connor with pointing firearms and resisting arrest. The officer would have preferred the charge on the evening of O'Connor's arrest but the thought of it slipped his mind. Upon his arrival at the city hall yesterday afternoon he at once filed the charge and stated last evening that he was going to let the law take its course. O'Connor's attorneys approached Dawson and attempted to persuade him to withdraw the charge, but the policeman declared he would not, and O'Connor will positively have to answer to the charge before the mayor tomorrow.

WAR OF WORDS LED TO FIGHT

Fierce Battle in a Restaurant Between a Cook and a Waiter.

BOTH ARRESTED AND FINED

A war of words lasting for more than two weeks between Sherman Reed, colored, day cook at the Arcade restaurant, and Amos Kapp, a night waiter at the same establishment, culminated in a fierce battle last night when the two met face to face in the restaprant and renewed their argument. After warmly debating for a few minutes both men decided to have it out by a combat and witnesses to the affair say that it was one of the liveliest scenes enacted for months in the city. As a result of their fight both were arrested and were compelled to pay a fine of $5 and costs each to escape lodging in the city jail.

What the two men disputed about is not known, each telling a different story, but it was of such consequence that the brother of Kapp, who is the proprietor of the restaurant, felt ten days ago that it would result in a fight and for that reason changed Amos from day turn to night. This move kept the two apart for several days, but last evening the negro stepped into the restaurant and almost instantly the hottest kind of epihets were being used by each. Finally Reed started at Kapp in a menacing manner and the latter picked up a pop bottle and a couple of saucers and cups and commenced firing them at his adversary with wonderful strength and accuracy. The bottle struck the negro on the head and cut a big gash in it, and the remaining pieces were felt by him.

Reed, it is said, commenced to realize his position and after retaliating with a few dishes, none of them striking their intended mark, however, rushed up stairs over the restaurant to his room for the purpose of getting a gun. Meantime an enormous crowd had collected and Officers Dawson and Morris were attracted. Dawson ran up to the negro's room and prevented him from getting the gun, and Morris placed Kapp under arrest. Each accused the other of being the originator of the trouble and the officers decided to take them before the mayor to settle the dispute. The chief executive listened to the tales of each and determined that they were both guilty. He then imposed a fine on each and they were dismissed.

SPECULATION OF BANK OFFICERS

Responsible for the Failure of the Doylestown (Pa.) National Bank.

Doylestown, Pa., July 30.—(Special.)—The comptroller of the currency has closed the Doylestown National bank and appointed Examiner Schoefield receiver. Considerable excitement rules here, as the deposits are large.

The failure is due to stock speculation on the part of the officers of the bank.

Going On a Vacation.

Lisbon, July 30.—(Special)—Jennie B. McMillan, abstractor at the court house, will leave tomorrow on a vacation trip to Saginaw, Mich., for two weeks.

NEARLY KILLED BY ANGRY COW

HIS INJURIES ARE SERIOUS

Lisbon, July 30.—(Special.)—Eliphaz Cope, a prominent and well known citizen, was nearly killed at his home near Rogers this morning by an infuriated cow. Accompanied by a dog he was turning a cow and calf into a pasture when the cow, angered at the dog, started toward him. The dog fled and the cow turned on Mr. Cope, goring and trampling him almost to death before other members of the family came to his rescue and drove the cow away with clubs.

Mr. Cope was frightfully injured about the head, chest and back, his entire body being covered with wounds and bruises. His cries, before he lost consciousness, attracted his family in time to save his life. There were several particularly bad gashes about the head and back and a number of his teth were knocked out. The attending physicians think he will survive if he is not internally injured. He had not fully recovered consciousness this afternoon.

Mr. Cope is upward of 50 years of age. He is president of the Columbiana County Pioneer and Historiical society and is well known as well as an extensive nurseryman.

PRESIDENT PRO TEM MAY VOTE IN COUNCIL

Counsel Smith Bennett Renders a Decision Upon a Query from East Liverpool.

Columbus, July 30.—(Special)—In answer to a query from Councilman Bullock, of East Liverpool, Smith W. Bennett, special counsel in the office of the attorney general, says the president pro tem of council is not disqualified from voting when occupying the chair. The president only votes in case of a tie, but the president pro tem may vote at all times.

UPRISING OF CUBANS IN SANTIAGO PROVINCE

Revolutionists Are Demanding Payment for Service in the Army.

Havana, July 30.—(Special.)—Rumors of an uprising in the province of Santiago have just been confirmed by government reports. Bands of armed men appear at villages, proclaiming revolution and demanding payment of the former revolutinary army.

The government is to act at once.

WANTS TO KNOW

Chief of Police of Piqua Inquires About East Liverpool's Police Department.

Judging from the following letter received yesterday afternoon by Chief Wyman from Chief of Police Frank Geihle, of Piqua, there are other cities in the state a trifle exercised over the organizing of the municipal forces and bodies:

"Dear Sir—We are seeking information regarding the police systems of the state as a basis of organizing our force. Please state numerical strength and general organization, also present population and regulations of liquor traffic in your city."

Court Adjourned Yesterday.

Lisbon, July 30.—(Special.)—Court adjourned yesterday until 1 o'clock Saturday, when Judge Hole will decide a number of cases he has had under advisement.

MANY CLAIMS ARE ENTERED

IN THE SUIT AGAINST BUCKEYE BRICK WORKS.

Liens Which the Receiver Is Directed to Pay Amount to a Large Sum.

Lisbon, July 30.—(Special)—In the case of Harmon Michaels et al. vs the Buckeye Brick company, of Wellsville, a mortgage of the Perpetual Savings & Loan company, of Wellsville, has been decreed a first lien on certain property of the company, but the amount of the indebtedness is left open for future determination by the court. Other mortgages held as follows are decreed second liens on the property: John A. Noble, $1,085; W. E. Smith, $1,050.60; Vulcan Clay company, $359.50; David Hargest, $319; P. M. Smith, $542.50.

Receiver Catlett is authorized to pay these claims from the proceeds of the sale of real estate.

The following are decreed third lien creditors for sums ranging from $200 to $300: A. D. Forbes, E. H. Riggs J. W. Hammond, John Todd, J. W. Riley, J. C. Catlett, P. M. Smith, P. H. White, J. J. Dowling, P. Fitzpatrick, Samuel Stephenson, W. E. Smith, J. W. Russell, G. W. Adams, G. M. Aten, These claims the receiver is directed to pay.

A mortgage for $2,445.07 held by John C. Catlett is decreed a court lien. The court finding that after the payment of these priority claims there will remain money in the hands of the receiver, he is directed to pay from these funds a number of small sums for labor. Claims of Daniel M. Smith, for $2,738.37 and David Hargest for $568.80 are adjudged first mortgages, and a claim of John Dodge for $1,727.04 is adjudged a second mortgage on certain property of the company. The Central Building and Loan company is found to hold a first mortgage lien on certain of the property for $12,130.12.

LABOR DAY PROGRAM IS BEING GOT READY

A Great Deal of Interest Being Manifested By the Local Unions.

The Labor day committee held a meeting in the Potters' Herald office last evening and a few more details were arranged for the celebration of Labor day in this city, September 7.

A report was received from the subcommittee having in hand the program. The report was not so encouraging as it might have been, and many business men and merchants who have heretofore supported the cause of labor by buying advertising space on the program were reported to have turned the solicitors down. The grocerymen and butchers of the city have been especially antagonistic to the movement, and not one merchant in these lines could be induced to take space. It is thought the attitude of these business men will precipitate a bitter fight if persisted in, as the matter is sure to reach the entire membership of the many local unions in the city. The general committee of arrangements has decided to let the question lie over until the next meeting of Trades Council, when it will be brought to the attention of that body. The solicitors have been asked to meet with the council for the purpose of presenting the matter in an intelligent way. Decisive action is sure to be taken by the council, and the Labor day committee is determined to see it through.

The question of adopting a general Labor day badge was disposed of by the committee deciding to recommend a ribbon badge in place of the button worn last year. An order for 5,000 of the ordinary ribbon badges will be placed at once and when done will be distributed among the members of the locals through their secretary.

A circular letter will be mailed early in the week to the officials of every union organization in this section of the state, urging all unionists and their friends to be present at the East Liverpool demonstration, which will be the largest and most successful ever held.

Edward W. Holz of Leetonia, has been appointed administrator of the estate of his deceased father, Christian J. Holz, with the will annexed, under bond of $600. There will be no appraisement. The widow has elected to accept the will.

HEARTBROKEN WIFE'S STORY

Mrs. Heidrick and Her Babies Left Penniless and Friendless.

TALE TOLD WITH MANY TEARS

NEIGHBORS HELP FAMILY

Heartbroken and nearly crazed with grief, Mrs. Wilbur Heidrick, wife of the motorman who was soundly thrashed by his brothers-in-law and their father Tuesday night because he had left his wife to pay attention to a well known young woman of the city, is in terrible distress at her home, Jefferson and Fifth streets. So trying is her position that friends fear she may carry out her first intention and put a sudden end to her miserable existence.

Mrs. Heidrick was interviewed by a reporter of the News Review this morning at her home. While the poor woman talked she was absolutely unable to control her feelings, hot tears pouring down her cheeks in a stream. When met by the reporter she had just left the presence of her husband, and according to her statement he had just finished heaping coals of fire on her already aching heart.

"I don't know what to do," she said. "My husband has completely forsaken me. He told me a few minutes ago that he was going to leave me and my dear children and that he wants me to never claim him again as my husband. The thought is simply terrible. I am penniless and without friends. What on earth will ever become of me and my children? My parents in Steubenville have now turned against me, and I am thrown out on the cold world without a home, without a friend and without a penny. To say that I am heartbroken does not express my condition. I have always tried to live right and have treated my husband the best I knew, and now I am to be cruelly deserted by him and treated like a dog. He says he is going away and that he will never come back. I am afraid I can never stand the ordeal."

The picture presented by Mrs. Heidrick would appeal to the most hardened wretch that ever inhabited the civilized world. She is pretty and her reputation for goodness, kindness and all of the other attributes that go to make a pure woman could not be better. Those knowing her intimately are all indignant over the actions of her husband.

At noon today Heidrick was still in the city, but if he carries out his avowed determination he will leave before evening and his family will be left to subsist as best it can.

The family living next door to the Heidricks are highly indignant over the deplorable affair. It was necessary for them to furnish Mrs. Heidrick and her children with food yesterday. They did not have a morsel of eatables in the house and would have been starving but for the kindness shown them. The neighbor woman who prevented Mrs. Heidrick from suicide Tuesday night is suffering from burns received as a result of drops of the carbolic acid falling on her arm. She is in constant terror for fear that the frenzied woman will take her life in spite of interference and watching.

Just what the result of the affair will be cannot be predicted, but unless the proper authorities take some step it is feared that the life of Mrs. Heidrick will be cut off by her own hands.

THIEVES CAME THIS WAY

Valuable Horses And a Complete Outfit Were Stolen Near Warren.

Daring thieves entered the barn of Ray Dunwoody, a farmer living near Warren, on the night of July 28 and stole two of his most valuable horses, a pair of double harness, a fine new surrey and other paraphernalia. The officers were communicated with and the thieves were last seen coming toward this city.

Chief Wyman received word last evening to be on the lookout for the thieves and the team. He has instructed the police and a vigorous search will be instituted in this vicinity.

FINED FOR STRIKING A YOUNG WOMAN

Dutch Zoellers Paid $5 and Costs For Hitting Miss Minnie Lytle.

Pleading guilty to the charge of striking Miss Minnie Lytle on the mouth, Charles ("Dutch") Zoellers was fined $5 and costs by Mayor Weaver last night shortly before 9 o'clock.

Zoellers stated to the mayor that his wife had left his place of business on Walnut street early in the afternoon and when she failed to return to prepare his supper he started out in search of her. In a short time he located her in the saloon of C. B. Bowers, Franklin street, where she was in company with Miss Lytle. When he commenced to censure his spouse for her actions the Lytle girl interfered and he simply made her shut up by landing a gentle blow on her ruby lips.

Miss Lytle telephoned for the policeman and later Zoellers was arraigned.

THE CONTEST WAXING WARM

It Is Votes and Not Talk That Will Win and the Time Is Short.

TOMORROW THE LAST DAY

So spirited has become the rivalry among the leading candidates in the News Review's great popularity contest that some feeling has arisen. In a few instances candidates and their friends have been accused of employing tactics that were not regular.

The News Review is sincerely sorry that anything of the sort has occurred, and would advise the candidates who are interested in securing a place to get after the coupons instead of engaging in fruitless arguments. It will be more profitable. This paper has not a man in its employ who is taking any part in the contest, so far as the management is aware, and if a candidate or any of his friends has a charge to make that favoritism has been shown, he will confer a favor by reporting the same to this office at once. The News Review treats all alike. Each of the leaders had votes that counted yesterday, and the contest is warming up.

All ballots must be in by 6 o'clock tomorrow evening. As fast as counted the results of the balloting will be bulletined at the News Review office. The whole city is eagerly awaiting the outcome.

TO CIRCUIT COURT

The Hartley Will Case of Salineville Will Be Appealed, Error Being Alleged.

Lisbon, July 30.—(Special)—The Salineville case, in which Lina Hartley seeks to set aside the alleged will of Abraham Hartley, will be taken on error to the circuit court and the application of Byron Hudson and Frank Huxley that their bond be approved as executors named in the will has been continued until after the next term of circuit court.

PLANT TO START IN SEPTEMBER

Columbus Pottery, A. S. Hughes Manager, Will Soon Be Doing Business.

BIG PLANS FOR THE FUTURE

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, July 30.—J. R. Rose, who has charge of the business of the Bell Pottery company, of Columbus, states that the firm is daily in receipt of applications for positions from all pottery towns of the country. Manager Albert S. Hughes is here and is looking after matters at the plant which is approaching completion. Mr. Rose said a start would probably be made in September. All the buildings are completed, but work has not been started on the kilns. It has not been determined whether to put in down draft or the ordinary kiln. The company is wrestling with this proposition just now. Mr. Rose says the sale of lots is progressing favorably, but not as lively as at the start. Between 400 and 600 hands will be employed in the new plant. The capacity will be increased to 24 kilns after the plant has been in operation a short time, if there is no change in plans, which will make it the largest single pottery in the United States, and, by including the company's pottery at Findlay, will make the concern the largest of the kind in the land.

The state board of appraisers and assessors will begin the work of appraising quasi-public service corporations early next month under the excise law imposing a tax of one-tenth of the per cent on the gross earnings. A comparison with the returns of this year with those of 1896 shows a great growth of telephone companies. In the latter year there were 18 such companies and now there are over 200.

Captain John Maynard, assistant clerk of the house of representatives, today formally announced his candidacy for the house clerkship, to succeed the late Burgess L. McElroy, who served two terms. He is now sending out notices of his candidacy to the Republican nominees for membership in the lower house. Dr. W. F. Cain, who represented Noble in the last house, is a strong candidate for the place.

DOG KILLING CASE ON TRIAL TODAY

John Montgomery Charged With Destroying Solicitor Davidson's Property.

The suit brought in the court of Justice H. P. McCarron by George E. Davidson against John Montgomery for malicious destruction of property, is being heard this afternoon.

The details of the brutal slaughter of Mr. Davidson's two valuable English setter dogs while in camp at Fernwood last week were given exclusive mention in the News Review a few days ago. Mr. Davidson is determined to have satisfaction and says he will carry the matter to the highest tribunal.

Attorney F. W. Lones, of Wellsville, and Mr. Davidson himself are conducting the prosecution, while Attorneys W. S. Potts and W. K. Gaston appear for the defendant.

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

BOOK ON CHINA.

In almost every household is treasured some piece of china, or, perhaps, some example of the poorest earthenware, which is valued beyond price. Around these pieces are crowded memories of the past too varied and too precious to be named. In short, they are sacred, so sacred as to have earned the dignity and title of household gods. This "Old China Book," by N. Hudson Moore, just published, reproduces in careful outline and sketch hundreds of specimens or examples of pottery which are expected to revive a thousand memories in the minds of readers. It was compiled, the author says, to meet the wants, expressed in hundreds of letters of those who own old china, particularly old English china, and who would like to know more about it and to stimulate others to whom the fascination of china collecting are as yet unknown.

The subject as it is treated in this book appeals to those who are interested in their country's history during the time when this colonial country cast aside its mother's hand and took its first step alone. It tends to stir the spirit of patroitism to look on the plain buildings our ancestors were content to view as "beauties." These and other sketches are to be found within the limits of a collection of "Old Blue." Then, apart from the peculiar interest of the Staffordshire wares, are those lovely English porcelains and pottery of the late eighteenth century. One of the earliest examples shown in this volume is the once familiar "Willow Pattern" in form of a platter.

The platter of "New York from Brooklyn Heights" is evidently photographed from an example which has yielded to the frequent cleansing of a fearful housewife, but what is left indicates a very delightful picture. Several examples of fish platters, showing the capitol at Washington, are decidedly ornate. The "Battle of Bunker Hill" is the picture on an old tray, part of a fruit dish. The round spots in the border are holes which pierce it, a curious style of ornamentation. As we see it on the china the battle seems almost a toy affair, the proverbial thin line of red broken by two little prancing horses in the middle.

For the near home feeling there are beautiful examples of plates in which are pictured the old City Hotel, New York; Scudder's American Museum, New York; Columbia college, New York; the Burning of the Merchants' Exchange, New York, and of St. Paul's Chapel, New York. There are state pieces, which appeal to those who delight in tracing commonwealth insignia; these are in examples of plates representing the state of New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Delaware and others; the examples of Louisville, Ky.; Sandusky, O., and Albany, N. Y. Among the examples of vases that named the "Jasper Vase," in lilac and white, is an exceedingly chaste piece of work. The original is in the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. But the number and variety of examples presented are too great to be even outlined here.

AWAITING A MEETING.

It is likely that a meeting of the stockholders of the East Liverpool Potteries company will be held some time within the next few weeks. The situation with the company is such as to demand a meeting soon and only the return to the city of the prominent stockholders has been awaited. John J. Purinton returned a few days ago from Boston and other eastern points and Robert Hall is expected home in a short time from Colorado Springs. Both are heavy stockholders of the corporation.

It will be remembered that while the dissolution of the combine has been decided upon the formal steps toward this end have not been taken and such a move is awaited with a great deal of impatience by stockholders, who will retain interests in the individual plants.

A SAD MESSAGE.

William Davidson, a sticker-up at Thompson's, was called to Hamilton, Ontario, yesterday by a telegram announcing that his little daughter, living there with his mother, had died very suddenly. The message did not state the particulars of the sad affair. Mr. Davidson had returned only two weeks ago from Hamilton and at that time the little girl was in excellent health. This is the second death in the Davidson family recently, Mrs. Davidson having died last winter from typhoid fever. Mr. Davidson left last night for Hamilton.

POTTER ROBBED.

T. J. Eisenhuth, the proprietor of a one-kiln art plant on Ravine street, told a News Review reporter yesterday that his home had been entered during the forenoon by robbers and pottery to the value of about $9 taken. Mr. and Mrs. Eisenhuth left home yesterday to spend a few hours down town and the robbery occurred in their absence. They left several doors and windows of the house unfastened and the robbers had no trouble in effecting an entrance. Mr. Eisenhuth claims that two men were seen leaving the premises by neighbors.

Eisenhuth is finding a local market for most of the ware made in his plant. He expects to make another kiln next month.

RUMORED ELOPEMENT.

It was reported today that Miss Maggie Dailey, a well known young lady of the West End, has been missing from the home of her mother, Mrs. Maggie Dailey, since Monday. Until that time Miss Dailey has been employed as forelady in one of the departments at Brunt's porcelain works and is well known in pottery circles. It is claimed that a well known young operative left town at the same time, and it is believed by their friends that they eloped to be married.

PAINFUL INJURY.

Jesse Colclough, jiggerman at the K., T. & K. pottery, met with an accident yesterday which will disqualify him for work for several days. His hand was caught in the jigger-head in some manner, and the thumb of his right hand was badly mashed. A physician dressed the wound and Mr. Colclough's jigger is idle today.

NEW FILTER PRESS.

The National has been installing new filter presses in its plant, which is not only a marked improvement, but will lessen the number of delays encountered in the past. The management of the National have succeeded in making the plant one of the pleasantest in the city in which to work.

THE WEATHER.

...o and Western Pennsylvania—Showers; cooler along the lake; Friday fair; fresh west to northwest winds.

West Virginia—Showers; Friday fair in west, showers in east portion.

Well Known New England Woman Cured By Hyomei—Cure Was Lasting.

The thousands of discouraged people who dread summer's approach because they think that hay fever cannot be avoided, will read with interest and gratitude the following statement from Helen F. Williams, of Mansfield, Mass:

"For 27 years, from the month of August until heavy frost, I have been afflicted with hay fever, growing worse and worse each year, and of late years I was unable to attend to my work during that period.

"Last summer I fortunately gave Hyomei a trial and I am happy to say that it entirely cured me and I have had no return of the condition since."

This letter is one of the many that have come to the proprietors of Hyomei, and the results following this treatment have been so wonderful that it is proposed at the annual convention of hay fever sufferers to recommend Hyomei to all who are susceptible to this disease.

Hyomei is a treatment for hay fever that combines the latest discoveries of science and the best of common sense. Knowing that a change of climate was the only way in which relief could be obtained, the evolution of Hyomei naturally resulted. By breathing its germ killing and healing balsams, any one can have, at any moment of the day, either in their home, the office or the factory, a climate like that of the White Mountains or other health resorts, where hay fever is unknown.

Will Reed agrees to refund the money to any hay fever sufferer who uses Hyomei if it does not give satisfaction.

Indian Coolies for South Africa.

London, July 30.—The parliamentary correspondence on the South African labor question has been issued. Lord Milner, high commissioner for South Africa, telegraphed Colonial Secretary Chamberlain on May 12, 1903, urging the employment of 10,000 Indian coolies for work on the railways, the coolies to be forcibly repatriated at the end of their service. Lord Milner represented the labor problem to be alarming in South Africa. He reported that there were not enough natives there, if all worked, to meet the growing requirements for the development of the country's resources and that such a dilemma must eventually land the country in financial embarrassment.

Shown the Way Out of Town.

Idaho Springs, Col., July 30.—After a meeting of business men 500 citizens of Idaho Springs went to the city jail and took 14 of the men arrested in connection with the blowing up of the Sun and Moon mine buildings, marched them to the city limits, and told them to leave the place and never return. The men driven out include the president of the local union, the vice president, secretary and treasurer and two or three members of the executive committee. All the others are prominent members of the union. Some of the men complained that they had no money and a purse was made up for them. Everything was done in an orderly manner. The other prisoners were taken to Georgetown, the county seat.

Drivers Have Battle With Police.

New York, July 30.—The police reserves battled with a mob of striking drivers who began their fight for shorter hours against the New York Transfer company. The trouble was precipitated when one of the drivers who refused to join them made his appearance on Seventh avenue. The mob cut the traces from the horse, dumped the contents of the wagon into the gutter and then attacked the offending driver with knives.

Judge Gillmer to Resign.

Youngstown, O., July 30.—The announcement is made that Judge T. I. Gillmer, of Warren, will resign from the judgeship within a week or so. His term does not expire until next February and the election of his successor takes place this fall. If his resignation is given before the Republican convention there will be nominations for the short and long terms.

Electric Car Wrecked.

Anderson, Ind., July 30.—A wreck on the Union Electric company's road in the suburbs caused the death of Walter McGowan, of Alexandria, and injuries more or less serious to 17 passengers. The car was going full speed when it struck a short curve. The brakes failed to work and the car shot from the track and turned over.

Buried 32,000 in His Lifetime.

Columbus, O., July 30.—Adam Stephens, who in his 77 years of life buried more than 32,000 people, is dead. For 35 years he had been superintendent of Greenlawn cemetery in this city. He was born near Lancaster, Pa., but had lived here most of his life.

NEW INDUSTRIES WANT TO COME

Only High Price of Manufacturing Sites Keeps Them Out.

APPLICATIONS ARE MANY

But the Same Answer Is Returned to All—Steel Casting Company Wants a Site And a $20,000 Bonus from the City.

So desirable is East Liverpool, owing to its location, for almost any kind of an industry that there is scarcely a week passes in which some city official does not get a letter of inquiry from some firm regarding a site within its corporate limits. Foreign business men realize the value of the Crockery City's location from the standpoint of its close proximity to Pittsburg. As a matter of fact East Liverpool is strictly in the Pittsburg district, and as that district is considered the busiest and most flourishing in the United States, it is not considered strange that applications galore are received for permanent building here.

The numerous applications received lately have been given due consideration and a number of them have been looked upon with favor, but owing to certain existing conditions those interested have been compelled to make the reply: "Your proposition is all right and we would like to assist you in locating in this city, but we are powerless, owing to the fact that people who have property for sale have rated it at such a figure that we know it would be useless to consult you further."

As was stated recently in the News Review one of the biggest concerns in the east applied for a site in the city and was very anxious that some kind of a deal be made whereby it could get a location. Business men took the proposition into careful consideration, viewed a number of desirable sites and could have closed a deal but for the property owners, who upon learning that their property was in demand immediately raised the selling price to almost double the amount usually asked by them. Until such conditions cease it is not very likely that any new industries will settle in the city, and it is hoped by many that a change will soon be noted.

The following letter received by Mayor Weaver from Indianapolis is a sample of the offers made during the past few weeks:

"Mayor of East Liverpool, East Liverpool, O.

"Dear Sir—I have clients who are looking for a location for a steel casting company. They are practical men in the business, expect to erect a first-class plant and to live in the town where it is located and manage it personally. They will guarantee to employ 50 men at the start, 100 men within 12 months and 150 men within two years. They estimate the number of their employes much greater, but will guarantee the above. They are looking for a location where labor can be procured and where the town is willing to offer a site and $20,000 bonus to secure the factory. They will contract to have the factory built and running before one dollar of the bonus is to be paid, and to give any other assurance which may be required to show that they mean business. If your city is interested in this matter I will be glad to hear from you, or to have you refer this to your Business Men's association or such other person or organization as will give it attention.

"Yours very truly,

"W. H. LATTA."

The mayor will turn the letter over to parties likely to be interested. If East Liverpool had an active board of trade, opportunities are constantly being presented for securing new industries.

Case Under Advisement.

Lisbon, July 30.—(Special.)—The case of W. G. Bentley, of Salem, as administrator of the estate of Martha Street, versus William J. Street et al, heirs of the deceased, was on trial yesterday morning and afternoon and was taken under advisement. The administrator had petitioned for the sale of certain real estate, including the Street homestead, and Judge B. S. Ambler, of Salem, who is a party defendant, claims an interest in the property by virtue of a mortgage, which the administrator contends the heirs had no right to give.

INJURED IN WRECK

Excursion Train on Bessemer Road Crashes Into Rear of Freight.

NO FATALITIES ARE REPORTED

Panic Ensues Among Passengers. Cause of Casualty Not Given—Trip Resumed and Injured Have Wounds Dressed in Oil City.

Butler, Pa., July 30.—An excursion train of nine coaches, loaded with 500 picknickers, bound from Butler to Oil City on the Protected Home Circle picnic, crashed into the rear of a northbound freight train at Carter station, five miles south of Grove City, on the Pittsburg, Bessemer and Lake Erie railroad. A score of passengers were injured, and only the slow rate of speed at the time prevented fatalities. The injured are:

Miss Leah Rogers, Butler; arm and head cut.
Tracy Renshaw, Butler; cut on head.
John Schuring, Butler; cut and bruised slightly.
George Campbell, Butler; head cut.
Lillian Sarver, Butler; head cut.
Isaac Scanlon, newsboy; head bruised and forehead cut.
Mrs. Howe Lyon, Jr., elbow dislocated.
Jane Long, Buttercup; nose broken.
W. L. Beatty, Prospect; elbow cut and back bruised.
Howard Gardner, Butler; cut on head.
Alonzo C. Bonnery, Butler, arteries cut on left wrist.
Mrs. C. A. Hite, Butler; chin cut and fact bruised.
Moses Bell, engine driver; hands and face cut.
E. F. Henry, fireman; back bandly sprained.

The train was in charge of Conductor Charles Kamerer, who escaped injury. W. L. Beatty, of Prospect, got his injuries by being knocked out of the rear door. Attorney Schuring, of Butler, was thrown violently down the aisle. A flagman had been sent back from the freight 20 minutes before the accident occurred to stop the excursion train. After the crash a panic ensued among the passengers.

After a delay of an hour and 30 minutes the engine was raised upon the rails and the excursion continued to Oil City, where the injured had their wounds carefully dressed. The debris of the freight blocked two tracks for two hours.

Work of Conference Endorsed.

Denver, July 30.—The national executive committee of the United Peoples party endorsed all the proceedings of the conference of the reform parties which has been in session in this city for the past two days. The proclamation was also endorsed. A resolution was adopted calling a meeting of the national executive committee of the United Peoples party to be held at St. Louis Feb. 22, 1904. It was also resolved that it was the sense of the committee that the nominating committee should be held early in 1904, before the conventions of either the Republicans or the Democrats. A committee on organization was appointed to organize reform parties in every state in the union.

EAST END

PITTSBURG CAPITALISTS WANT A FACTORY SITE

Have Been Negotiating With a Real Estate Firm for Land in the East End.

The fact that Pittsburg capitalists have been negotiating for a factory site in the East End during the past week has aroused a great deal of speculation as for what purpose the land is wanted. The Smoky City people have visited the East End and looked over the territory, but if they divulged their intentions the secret is being very closely guarded.

Negotiations have been in progress for several days with a well known real estate firm, controlling a very desirable factory site, but no deal has as yet been closed. It is the general belief among those interested in the proposed deal that the site is not wanted for a clay making plant, and the prospect for some new industry is most pleasing.

TRACK TO BE RAISED

C. & P. Railroad Company Will Place Tracks on a Level With the City Street Grades.

The tracks of the C. & P. railroad, from a point near the culvert at Ralston crossing to the state line, are to be raised 18 inches above the present grade. At present the tracks are below the established street grades of the city, and it has been found almost impossible to keep them in proper condition. Stone ballasting is to be used in the work, which is to commence within the next few weeks.

New crossing plates are to be installed at the Mulberry street crossing when the old track is raised and the new one laid. The plates have been on the ground for some time.

Another Family Row.

Officer Fisher was called to Calhoun's addition yesterday morning shortly before noon to take a hand in one of the many family disputes which have been numerous of late in that section. It is stated that blows were passed between a husband and wife as the result of a little difference of opinion and the woman then telephoned to the East End station for an officer. The husband took advantage of the space necessary for the officer to reach the scene and made good his escape. No charge was preferred by the woman and her husband can return to his home without fear of being molested by the police.

Dr. Pratt Will Preach.

Rev. Dr. M. B. Pratt, of the First Methodist church, has accepted the invitation of Rev. N. M. Crowe to preach in the Second Presbyterian church tomorrow evening. The service will be largely attended, as it is preparatory to communion, which will be observed at the church Sunday, and from the fact that the members of the congregation are anxious to hear Dr. Pratt preach. Rev. Mr. Crowe will preside at the communion service Sunday morning.

Officer Jay Fisher and Frank Allabaugh were visitors to the country this morning.

Miss Jessie Watkins, of Lisbon, is the guest of Miss Cornelia Supplee, of Ohio avenue.

Miss Kate Stamm, who has been visiting relatives at Silver Lake, is expected home today.

S. R. Dixon and wife left this morning for Atlantic City, where they will spend a couple of weeks.

Miss Mary Duncan, of St. George street, has returned from a pleasant visit with relatives at Silver Lake.

A crowd of young people attended the dancing at Ohioville last night, returning at an early hour this morning.

Rev. John C. Hanley, of Canton, is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hanley, Sr., of Pennsylvania avenue.

Attorney James E. Davis went to Calcutta early this morning and is assisting in harvesting the hay crop on his farm.

The ball game which was to have been played tomorrow by Bob Sodaker's and Billy Morrow's teams, has been postponed until next week.

Rev. D. W. McQuiston is home from Cambridge, where he addressed the synodical convention of Young People's societies of the United Presbyterian church.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Erie street Methodist church will give a social at the home of Mrs. Emma Pinkerton, on Pennsylvania avenue, from 5 until 7 o'clock this evening.

Quite a number of young people from the Dry Run neighborhood went to the woods bright and early this morning for a day's outing. The heavy rain this morning marred the day's pleasures.

Reports from the bedside of Elza Caldwell, the lad seriously shot some time ago by his brother James, are that he will soon be able to walk around. The wound will not leave him a cripple, as was at first feared.

YOUNG THEOLOGUE'S MISSIONARY WORK

Gave Rise to Rumors Which Grew Into the Proportions of a White-cap Crusade.

Mysterious occurrences at Winona within the past two weeks have caused something of a sensation in the small village, and have given rise to reports which were greatly exaggerated concerning "whitecaps." The mysterious appearance of numerous scriptural texts tacked on doors, fences and thrown on steps, gave rise to various tales. For a time a number of the residents of the village were quite indignant over these procedures.

It has now turned out that the cause of the commotion was nothing but the misdirected efforts of a theological student, who conceived the idea of promulgating the cause of righteousness by clandestinely pasting verses, cards, and texts of scripture on gates, barn doors and porches at different places in the neighborhood.

POSSE QUITS SEARCH FOR WM. JACKSON

Sebring Wife Shooter Still at Large And Seems to Have Made Good His Escape.

Sebring, July 30.—(Special.)—The posse has withdrawn from the search for William Jackson, the Sebring wife shooter, and it is believed that he has made good his escape from the immediate neighborhood. The belief that he has committed suicide in the woods is held by but few people. Jackson is armed with the weapon he used on the night of the tragedy.

Physicians at the Alliance hospital stated today that Mrs. Jackson had shown a slight improvement, but that complications are sure to set in which will result in her death ultimately. She may linger for several weeks.

Temporary Truce Declared.

Detroit, July 30.—An agreement has been reached between the striking firemen, oilers and helpers and Superintendent Stanley, of the Detroit United railway, and the men temporarily resumed work under the old conditions. Negotiations, however, will be resumed where they were broken off by the strike and a conference seeking an adjustment of all differences will be held Monday afternoon.

Actress Suicides in Chicago.

Chicago, July 30.—Miss Anna Poston, an actress, 24 years of age, shot and killed herself in her room at the Inter Ocean hotel. Miss Sally Price, her roommate, stated that Miss Poston had been grieving over something for the past two weeks and had made frequent references to suicide. From letters the police learned that she had a sister, Mrs. Mattie Weinns, living in Binghamton, N. Y.

New Counterfeit.

Washington, July 30.—A new issue of the counterfeit of the United States (buffalo) note, described in the press dispatches of Oct. 17, 1902, has been discovered. The check letter has been changed from "C" to "B" and the plate number from 57 to 52. Otherwise the notes are the same.

Shot Rival With Winchester.

MASS FOR MONARCHS

Prayers for Dead Pope and King Humbert Ascend from Sistine Chapel and Pantheon.

RAMPOLLA GETS LUCKY NUMBER

Said to Signify "Pope"—Gotti Not Prejudiced Against America—Conclave Commences Saturday Morning. Sixty-Two Cardinals to Be Present.

Rome, July 30.—Cardinal Oreglia invited the cardinals to enter the conclave on Friday afternoon. The doors will not, however, be closed until Saturday morning and the conclave will not commence until then.

Lots were drawn for the "cells" which the cardinals will occupy during the conclave. The "cell" bearing No. 58 fell to Cardinal Rampolla. According to the cabalistic code of the Roman populace, No. 58 signifies "pope," and since the drawing of lots for the conclave "cells" not a single man or woman among the lower classes of the Roman population has the slightest doubt of Rampolla's election to the chair of St. Peter.

Cardinal Gibbons' cell number is 29, second floor of the court of St. Damascus, in the vatican.

Cardinal Logue's Opinion.

Cardinal Logue, archbishop of Armagh, had an interview with Cardinal Gibbons. When asked what he thought of the objections frequently mentioned against Cardinal Gotti being elected pope on the ground that his being a member of a religious order would prevent him from dealing in a broad spirit with Catholic problems in America and Great Britain, he said:

"It is absurd. Cardinal Gotti was formerly an internuncio and has mixed with the representatives of the various powers. He knows the prevailing conditions as well as anybody. Just because he is a Carmelite, it does not follow that he is narrow-minded. Moreover, it is unreasonable to attribute too much weight to the personality of the new pope. International matters and internal policy are now almost invariably settled by commissions of cardinals, who, under the late Pope Leo, have directed their departments just as much as the heads of departments of a civil government direct their departments.

"But, whatever may be possible it is not likely that he will attempt to make any changes in policy without being careful to take the advice of those commissions which have heretofore directed the policy of the vatican."

With the arrival here of Cardinal Prisco, archbishop of Naples, the number of cadinals who will participate in the conclave is complete and totals 62.

Dramatic Contrast.

Rome during the morning was the scene of one of those dramatic contrasts which are now characteristic of the Eternal City. While at the vatican, in the sistine chapel, a solemn requiem mass was being intoned, with all the solemnity the Catholic church can impose, for the repose of the soul of Leo XIII, the spiritual monarch who claimed Rome as his capitol, another and no less solemn requiem mass was being celebrated in the magnificent pantheon for the repose of the soul of the late King Humbert, the temporal monarch, the capital of whose kingdom was Rome.

In the evening there was a public procession through the streets to the tombs of King Humbert and King Victor Emmanuel. It passed off quietly, though thousands of persons witnessed the demonstration and the procession itself was over a mile in length.

GRAND CHIEF YOUNGSON DEAD

Expired in City Hospital in Meadville This Morning—Appointed Successor.

Cleveland, July 30.—A dispatch received here says A. B. Youngson, who succeeded to the grand chieftainship of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers on the death of Chief P. M. Arthur, died at Meadville, Pa., at 2:40 o'clock this morning.

Meadville, Pa., July 30.—Grand Assistant Chief Engineer A. B. Youngson, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, who is lying at the point of death in Meadville City hospital, and who by the recent sudden death of Chief P. M. Arthur became the executive head of the brotherhood, named M. H. Shay, of Youngstown, O., as his successor, to act in case of his death. Shay is chairman of the committee of adjustment in the brotherhood on the Erie and one of the most capable men in the order.

WHAT CONSTITUTES THE TRUE GENTLEMAN

A PURE HEART, A CLEAN MIND AND A DEEP SENSE OF COURTESY AND CONSIDERATION FOR OTHERS AT ALL TIMES ARE THE REQUISITES OF A GENTLEMAN. It has been said that some of our most perfect ladies and gentlemen—in the strict interpretation of the term—are found in the almshouses today. A gentleman may be recognized in any circle no matter what his attire, and this goes to prove that POSITION AND WEALTH HAVE NOTHING TO DO WITH THE MAKING OF A GENTLEMAN. Environment brings out the good and bad in a gentleman, and if a child is reared in refinement he has the advantage of the child carelessly reared. YOU CAN ALWAYS TELL A GENTLEMAN BY HIS ATTITUDE TOWARD OTHERS.

WHY THE NEGRO LIKES THE CITY

By BOOKER T. WASHINGTON

THERE are several influences that are constantly exerting themselves against the negro growing up on the soil at present. One of these is THE LACK OF PUBLIC SCHOOL FACILITIES. In the cities the negro parent finds a comfortable schoolhouse and a school in session eight or nine months.

Another thing which sends a larger number of negroes to the cities than many realize is the surety of getting police protection when one is charged with a crime.

FOR EVERY LYNCHING OR ATTEMPT AT LYNCHING IN THE COUNTRY A SCORE OF NEGROES LEAVE FOR THE CITY.

COUNTY AND NEIGHBORHOOD

Elder James Calvin, of Youngstown, known as "the marrying parson," is dead at the age of 90. He had resided in that city since 1832.

A man believed to be Andrew Brindzke, of New Castle, was killed at Lowellville. He was getting off a B. & O. train when he fell under.

The convention to nominate a successor to Congressman Gill will meet at Steubenville September 22. The primaries will be held September 16.

Isaac Kille, a prominent Damascus citizen, has been taken to Massillon asylum for treatment. He was ill for several weeks which terminated in insanity.

Jesse R. Maple, who lives on Yellow Creek, just above the mouth of Brush creek, is hale and hearty at the age of 94. He was born on the farm where he now lives.

Peter Calambros met with death by burning in a horrible way at the Mingo Junction steel plant. A big splash of hot metal enveloped him and burned every inch of his body.

Amos Denn, of Warren, was bothered with ants and he poured gasoline into an ant hole at the side of the house. The blaze killed the ants, but badly damaged one side of his home, which was scorched by the blaze.

Court at Youngstown overruled the motion for a new trial in the case of Michael Schiller, a saloonkeeper, convicted of murder in the first degree for stabbing his wife to death and sentenced him to be electrocuted at Columbus on Tuesday, November 10.

George Rice, aged 11 years, son of James M. Rice, proprietor of the Crown Mineral Spring bottling works at Alliance, died from injuries received by the explosion of a pop bottle. A piece of glass penetrated his left side and severed an artery.

A Woman's Complexion.

It is rank foolishness to, attempt to remove sallowness or greasiness of the skin by the use of cosmetics, or "local" treatment, as advocated by the "beauty doctors." The only safe and sure way that a woman can improve her complexion is by purifying and enriching the blood, which can only be accomplished by keeping the liver healthy and active. The liver is the seat of disease and blood pollution. Green's August Flower acts directly on the liver, cleanses and enriches the blood, purifies the complexion. It also cures constipation, biliousness, nervousness, and induces refreshing sleep. A single bottle of August Flower has been known to cure the most pronounced and distressing cases of dyspepsia and indigestion. New size trial bottle, 25 cents: regular size, 75 cents. BABY'S VOICE

Is the joy of the household, for without it no happiness can be complete. How sweet the picture of mother and babe, angels smile at and commend the thoughts and aspirations of the mother bending over the cradle. The ordeal through which the expectant mother must pass, however, is so full of danger and suffering that she looks forward to the hour when she shall feel the exquisite thrill of motherhood with indescribable dread and fear. Every woman should know that the danger, pain and horror of child-birth can be entirely avoided by the use of Mother's Friend, a scientific liniment for external use only, which toughens and renders pliable all the parts, and assists nature in its sublime work. By its aid thousands of women have passed this great crisis in perfect safety and without pain. Sold at $1.00 per bottle by druggists. Our book of priceless value to all women sent free. It does the work quickly and thoroughly—it brings back the color to the cheeks—the lips grow red—the eyes bright—unsightly blotches and pimples disappear—the head is held erect—the step becomes quick and buoyant—sleep is sweet and refreshing. No dreams leave their shadows for the next day—the mind becomes clear and active—appetite and digestion are perfect—the love of life is sweet again and the weak, tired, worn-out, moody and despondent self is buried irrevocably in the past.

Mr. J. C. Lukens, of Tippecanoe, Ohio, says: I have been greatly relieved of Nervousness, Stomach and Kidney Trouble by the use of Life Plant. As a family medicine to keep the blood in order and tone up the system and prevent sickness, I think it stands at the head of the list. Tippecanoe, March 1, 1900.

THE RAILROAD PROBLEM.

The railroad problem, which has been before the city council for almost a year, should be settled without unnecessary delay. Otherwise the improvements which East Liverpool earnestly desires and greatly needs will be delayed indefinitely. Already needless quibbling has led to such procractination that the improvements which the railroad company is making all along its line are less advanced in this city than at almost any other point, whereas this ought to have been one of the first spots where the double track should have been completed early and put to use. Manufacturers and merchants and all others who deal with the railroad company are constantly hampered and annoyed by delayed shipments and delayed deliveries of freight, and this state of affairs is bound to continue as long as the railroad company is restrained from extending its facilities here.

The News Review is no apologist for the Pennsylvania company, and fully agrees with those who argue that the city owes that corporation nothing. Yet the Cleveland & Pittsburg is the only railroad the city has, and with it we must deal. It is not wise, therefore, for East Liverpool to place unnecessary obstructions in the way of the railroad constructing a system of double tracks, which will be of vast benefit to the city, as well as to the railroad. There has been too much disputing over streets and alleys that are unnamed, unopened and unused and likely to continue so indefinitely. These are not matters of vital importance to the city. The really important issues involved are whether there shall be a station in the East End, protection for dangerous grade crossings and improved facilities for reaching the company's cars with teams for the purpose of unloading freight after it has reached the city. The board of public service, which is largely composed of manufacturers and business men, does not seem disposed to insist upon the erection of a freight station upon the hill. Certainly the board is in a position to know whether or not business interests demand that concession.

If a majority of the manufacturers are satisfied with what the railroad company is disposed to grant—and whether they are or not can be ascertained very easily—that fact should go a long way toward satisfying the people, whose prosperity depends so largely on the prosperity of the city's industrial establishments. The railroad company has conceded much and may be prevailed upon to concede more. The city should certainly make the very best bargain possible and have a contract with no loopholes in it. Now, when the railroad is asking favors, is the time to see that the city gets what it is entitled to. The needs of the future, as well as those of the present, should be carefully kept in mind in making the contract, as the city's growth is bound to be great, and no one wants to see its expansion hindered. But the whole proposition is a business one and should be dealt with in a business way. It is not business to halt and hem and haw and postpone. The questions involved are already so well understood that further discussion of them is needless. Tackle the problem and settle it, and hasten the coming of the day when the railroad will be able to serve its patrons promptly. Croaking and knocking and wailing against corporations will do no good, and have already done much harm in delaying settlement of questions which the business men of the city are impatient to see settled, that improvements may proceed without interruption.

The people of Ohio will have a chance to vote next November on a constitutional amendment giving the general assembly power to divide the cities of the state into three classes. The first class is to include cities of 100,000 population and over; the second, cities from 25,000 to 100,000 population and the third those under 25,000. The legislature is authorized to provide a proper form of government for cities of each class. The only objection that has been advanced against this proposed amendment is that it will result in a "tearing up" of the governments just established under the new code; and that the plan of uniformity should be given a trial. Those who take this ground have overlooked the word "may" in the amendment. Should it be adopted, it will not require the legislature to act under it at once. If the majority feels like giving the uniform plan a trial for two years, it can do so. The amendment is not mandatory; it is permissive.

The secretary of the Democratic state committee, referring to the Ohio Democratic senatorial candidate, says: "Any Democrat who voted three times for Cleveland and twice for Bryan will do." In other words, a candidate who is unlikely to know where he "is at" at present is wanted. Under this ruling every county in the state could furnish anywhere from 2 to 200 candidates. But it won't make a bit of difference what selection is made. The game will be interesting only in the candidacy stage.

England's latest and biggest battle ship will cost $7,500,000. Her tonnage is 16,530, which is but a small fraction greater than that of two American battle ships under construction. It takes a long purse to keep in the modern naval swim.

A New York man has just awakened from a sleep of 44 days. Philadelphia should look to her laurels. With practice he may be able to beat her best record.

The railroad problem has passed the talking stage. Now is the time for action.

Construction Will Be Pushed As Rapidly As Possible on C. A. Smith's New Railway.

The interrupted work on the new car line to the East End of the city has been resumed and the construction force is being added to as fast as the men can be secured. Yesterday afternoon there were 10 or 12 men at work and this number has been increased today. According to the statements of C. A. Smith and his associates the line will now be rushed to completion.

Contractor Coates, who with his men commenced the construction of the line, is expected here this evening. Engineer Bryan is also expected from Pittsburg. Owing to the uncertainty of the time of a decision being reached in the injunction proceedings both of these men left the city to look after other interests. Contractor Coates will bring with him a number of men experienced in street car construction.

A feeling of relief prevails among the people along the proposed route of the new line and particularly in the neighborhood where the streets have remained torn up on account of the injunction. Mr. Smith states that these streets will be placed in good condition at once.

The necessary material to proceed with the work is at hand and additional shipments will be received as needed. No further delay in the completion of the line is expected.

There is but one thing to hinder the speedy construction of the line at the present time. Though there are seemingly plenty of laborers in the vicinity it has been found difficult to get sufficient men to work on the line, and the contractor will be handicapped greatly unless conditions change. Not only are laborers in demand but teams and teamsters are hard to find. Having a plentiful supply of ties, rails, etc., the contractor is able to push the work with dispatch, if he can only get the men.

Orders of Interest in Connection With the Settlement of Estates.

Lisbon, July 30.—(Special)—The late Thomas T. Hamilton, of Wellsville, left no will and the widow, Lizzie Hamilton, has been appointed administratrix. Bond, $5,000. Appraisers, A. H. Bulger, John I. Hodson and Will Reed.

Michael V. Ryan, as administrator of the estate of James F. Ryan, of Wellsville, has been given an order for the private sale of real estate. An additional bond of $7,000 has been required.

Louis Weirick has been appointed executor of the late John Weirick, of Salem. No bond required.

Susanna Lodge, of Leetonia, as guardian of Walter G. and Orlan Lodge, has been given an order for the appraisement of six tracts in Salem township.

Go Prepared.

In preparing for your summer outing a little forethought may save you no end of trouble. Mr. John H. Manly, a dry goods merchant, of Bellville, R. I., while packing an outfit for camping a few weeks on Narragansett Bay, put in a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for emergency use. The second day in camp his little boy was taken with cramp colic. The first dose of this remedy gave relief and the second dose effected a cure. Think of the pain and suffering this boy would have had to endure without this remedy at hand to relieve him. Such cases often result fatally. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

A Foolish Pair

Mr. and Mrs. Googoobird were very economical and careful creatures, and it happened that in a few years they managed to lay by a nice little sum of money. One day they agreed to buy new clothes and begin to enjoy life.

So Mr. Googoobird purchased a pretty straw hat, and Mrs. Googoobird purchased a beautiful spring bonnet. Then they put on these fine things and flew out to the road, where they perched upon the milestone to wait for the other birds and animals to pass by and say nice things about them.

But all the time nobody came their way to admire them, and they wondered why that was so. They still waited, however.

Now, the truth of the matter was that there was a small black cloud in the sky that was getting larger every minute, and all the animals were afraid to venture from their homes until after the storm, for they were sure that the cloud meant rain. The Googoobirds were so pleased with themselves that they never once thought of clouds or rain, and when the rain did come it took them by surprise.

My, how it did rain! And, my, how their poor hats did suffer! Mrs. Googoobird's feathers were so thoroughly soaked with water that they were simply washed off her hat, and black dye from the band of Mr. Googoobird's hat ran down into his eyes. Their fine things were utterly ruined, but they learned a very good lesson, and that lesson was that clothes are not everything in this world. Good common sense is worth much more.—Detroit Journal.

Horses of Celebrated Men.

It is generally known that Napoleon's white stallion, the horse he rode at Waterloo, was named Marengo and that Wellington's charger in the same battle was Copenhagen. The latter lived to be twenty-seven years old. The remains of Marengo are preserved in the Museum of the United Services, London. Do you remember the names of any of George Washington's horses? In nearly all of the Washington statues the Father of His Country is represented as on horseback, but what is the name of the animal he bestrides? Richard III. owned White Surrey, and it was for that splendid animal that he cried when he shouted, "My kingdom for a horse!" William III.'s favorite horse, Sorrel, had one eye. Savoy, the black horse of Charles VII. of France, also had only one eye.

WELLSVILLE

THIS IS REFRESHING

Wellsville, Despite Hot Weather, Is Talking of a Skating Park.

If the present plans of a number of the heavy stockholders of the Central base ball park are carried out, Wellsville will have one of the finest ice skating parks in this section of the state the coming winter. It is the intention of these stockholders to convert the park into a skating pond as soon as the base ball season is over, and work will be commenced toward making the change at that place.

A six inch curb is to be placed inside the park and a certain distance from the fence and the water is to be put on the inside of this curb. By this plan it will be unnecessary to make any excavation or tear up the ball field in any way. The ice is to be frozen by an artificial process similar to that used in a majority of the skating parks. The ice is to be kept about five inches thick and frozen to the ground. In this way it is claimed that it will remain frozen longer and give a much smoother surface for the skaters.

W. C. Connor is the prime mover in the project. He believes that much money can be made if a good skating park is constructed. The former plan of the stockholders, to use the park for a foot ball field during the fall, has been abandoned.

NEW PUMPING STATION

Duquesne Engineering Company, $17,772, the Lowest Bidder for the Work.

Three bids were submitted for the construction of the new pumping station. They were opened today at noon and the bid of the Duquesne Engineering company, of Pittsburg, $17,772, was the lowest.

Though the contract was awarded this company it will likely be at another meeting to be held this week.

Rural Carrier Found.

Civil Service Examiner E. W. Crawford, of Washington, D. C., was in the city Tuesday afternoon, when he examined two applicants for the rural free delivery route. The applicants were Miss Sylvia Culman and M. C. Excell. Mr. Crawford will make a report on their standing in a short time. Postmaster Snowden has appointed A. G. McBane, of California Mills, to carry the route commencing Monday, August 3. He has already passed the examination and waits the route until some regular carrier can be secured.

To Organize a Band.

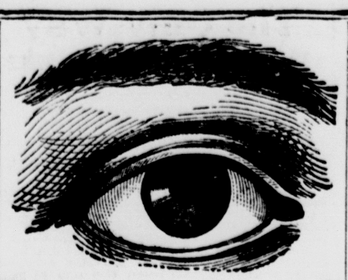

Mayor W. L. Fogo has issued an official call to all of the musicians in the city and those who are interested in the formation of a brass band of a meeting to be held in the city hall for the above purpose this evening. It is expected that a band of at least 15 or 16 pieces can be formed. There are enough instruments in the hands of those interested in the project to equip the entire band and it is hoped that as many as possible will attend the meeting.

Sunday School Picnic.

The annual outing and picnic of the Sunday school of the First United Evangelical church and the Bethel Mission was held today at Columbian park in the East End, East Liverpool. Over 100 children attended and the day was most enjayably spent. The majority of the children were under the care of their parents or a guardian, but the others were looked after by the pastor of both churches, Rev. W. A. Vandersall.

Scattered Pottery Casks.

A runaway occurred in the neighborhood of the Smith-McNicol pottery yesterday which did not result in much damage. A team of horses hitched to a dray of loaded pottery casks ran off at breakneck speed, throwing the driver to the ground. All of the casks rolled out of the dray before the horses were stopped. The driver was uninjured. The team became frightened at a blast which sounded nearby.

Money Left Over.

The committees who had the Fourth of July celebration in charge met last evening at the city hall at which time the financial business connected with the celebration was settled up. It was found that the total expenditures of the celebration amounted to $452, which does not include the $25 to be awarded to the firm having the best vehicle in the parade. The total amount received, including all donations, was $480, which, when the $25 prize has been awarded, will leave a balance in the treasury of $3. The parade committee the first of the week will award the $25 prize.

Real Estate Deals.

A house and lot belonging to Estella Hoffman, situated on Commerce street, West End, has been sold to George and William Sheckler, of Chester, for $750. The same men purchased three houses and lots on Fourteenth street at a cost of about $1,600 from A. C. Van Dyke.

Repairs at the Depot.

A number of much needed repairs are being made at the Third street depot. A new lavatory is being put in and also a new floor in the men's waiting room. The office of the assistsuperintendent, J. W. Coney, has been entirely remodeled and refurnished.

Will Play at Empire.

The West End Athletic club, which is classed as the second base ball team of Wellsville, will go to Empire Saturday and in the afternoon will play the strong team of that village.

New Rules.

E. L. Wilson and Byron D. Beacom, who comprise the board of public safety, are now hard at work preparing new rules and regulations for the police and fire departments.

NEW BANK LOCATION

Will Probably Be in the McCutcheon Building on Virginia Avenue.

The committee which was appointed a few days ago to select and make arrangements to secure quarters for the new Industrial bank, have lost no time since given authority to proceed, and it is now almost certain that the bank will be located in the McCutcheon building on Virginia avenue.

The committee approached Mr. McCutcheon several days ago, and the chances for securing the room were thought to be of the best since the drug man is contemplating the erection of a residence and business room on his new property at the corner of Virginia avenue and Second street. The only difficulty which confronts the parties to the deal is the fact that the bank people desire that the location for the bank be in readiness within 60 days.

Even if the contract for Mr. McCutcheon's new building were let at once it would hardly be in shape to move into in the 60 days' limit. However, all are taking a breathing spell in which to figure, and if it is at all possible for the drug man to rush the work on his new building so as to have it ready for occupancy in the limited time allowed, the present drug store site will be rented to the bank. The location is a very desirable one, and is thought by the committee to be commodious enough to accommodate the institution for several years to come, or until the company would decide to erect a building of its own.

GOOD ROADS MOVEMENT

A Supervisor in Brooke County Setting a Good Example to Others.

The Wellsburg Herald, which is interested in the good roads movement, says:

"Robert McNabb, road supervisor, reports that his work on the roads near Collier is about done so far as his present contracts are concerned. His next work on the Cross Creek roads will be the improvement by macadamizing of one and one-quarter miles of road between Ebenezer church and Sanders' mill. He expects to begin work in a few days. McNabb, with J. T. Douglas and one or two others, were the Brooke county delegates to the recent road convention held at Morgantown. He reports that the meeting resulted in great good and that many had come from the lower counties a hundred miles or more on horseback, so eager were they for information, displaying an interest that should be emulated by those in the northern counties."

The farmers of Hancock county, especially those who attended the convention at Morgantown, are vitally interested in the movement, and it is probable action will be taken very soon toward improving the country roads in this section of the state. The country people feel that they have neglected the agitation quite long enough. The roads leading into Chester from every rural district become actually impassable during the winter, and all are awake to the fact that the time for action is at hand.

WORK RESUMED

Delay Was Short in Resuming Operations at Hadley Farm Well.

The members of the Chester Oil & Gas company consider themselves the most fortunate individuals in the whole state of West Virginia. At an early hour Wednesday morning the tools being used in the well on the Hadley farm were lost, and the drillers felt sure a long job of fishing was on hand. The mishap was caused by the jars breaking, and this is considered the very worst kind of luck. The drillers were further handicapped by the absence of clutches of any sort.

Edward Stewart, who is an expert oil man, and who has been superintending the work, was equal to the emergency, and in a very short time had rigged up an improvised grappling apparatus. The arrangement was a crude affair but it answered the purpose in a very satisfactory manner. Wickets were quickly cut in the jars, and the new appliance took hold at once. It was only a short time after the breakage occurred until the drillers were able to resume their operations.

Word was sent to the interested ones in Chester that the damage had been repaired and the members of the company, who had been badly discouraged since the break was reported, commenced making renewed preparations to visit the well. New estimates were made as to the length of time it would take to bring the well to a finished state, and early this morning the stockholders in large numbers went to the Hadley farm to witness the finish.

GREAT TRANSFORMATION

An Attraction of Unusual Interest at Rock Springs Theater Next Week.

Manager M. Shay, of the "Choir Transformation," has just closed with Manager Franklin for the appearance of his attraction at Rock Springs park next week. The lovers of fine music are delighted with the prospect of an opportunity to hear this new act before it is taken into New York for the coming season.

Mr. Shay and his stage director, M. O'Brien, have been rehearsing the piece for the past two weeks, and it has now reached a degree of perfection which surprises even the promoters. Miss Kathryn McFadden will be seen at her best, while Master Earl Troupe, who arrived this week, has been hard at work upon his music for several days. The scenic and electrical effects for this great transformation are said to surpass anything of the sort ever attempted, and will undoubtedly attract large crowds during the entire week.

Arrested for Picking Berries.

Stephen Canady and Albert Buchheit were arrested for trespass yesterday, the charge being filed by Benton Newell, upon whose farm the men had been picking blackberries. The men were arraigned in the court of Justice A. G. Pugh and upon pleading guilty were each fined $3 and costs. Canady was able to pay, but Buchheit did not have the money and was remanded to jail. Both were from East Liverpool.

Bought Valuable Property.

C. T. McCutcheon, the Virginia avenue drug man, has closed the deal for the lot at the southeast corner of Virginie avenue and Second street, buying it from William Croxall. The property is one of the most desirable in the city as a residence location. The lot includes the space occupied by the present postoffice building. The new owner expects to erect a fine residence in the near future.

CHESTER NOTES.

Mrs. L. A Smith, of Phoenix avenue, is ill.

Alexander Allison, who has been ill for a week, is improving.

James Webb, of Fairview, is the guest of Lawrence Baxter today.

Miss Rachel Baxter and sister, Miss Ruth, are the guests of relatives at Fairview.

W. H. Sterling, who has been ill with rheumatism for the past four weeks, is better.

Ground will be broken soon for the construction of two dwellings on Pennsylvania avenue, to be built by John Shrader.

Mrs. Rev. Bruce Gillis, with her sister, Mrs. Smith, departed yesterday for Xenia, where the ladies will visit their parents.

Justice W. C. Johnston, who has been ill for several weeks, has recovered sufficiently to be able to resume his duties as postmaster.

Robert Hobbs, who recently disposed of his interests in the firm of Allison & Hobbs, will be employed by the new firm of J. C. Lewis & Co.

Mrs. Dr. George E. Lewis and Miss Spear are spending today in Wellsville, the guests of Miss Anna Moore, bookkeeper at the Chester grocery.

The tin mill is once more running full in every department. All of the mill men who have been out of town arrived early in the week and are at work.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles St. Clair, of Carolina avenue, have returned from an extended visit to Monroe county. They were guests at the home of Mrs. St. Clair's parents.

The household goods of J. C. Lewis arrived in Chester yesterday from Knsington. Mr. Lewis and family will reside at the corner of Carolina avenue and Second street.

Depositions are being taken today in the case of Ellen Gibson versus James Gibson, which comes up for trial at New Cumberland shortly. Mrs. Gibson seeks legal separation, and a large number of witnesses are being examined before Justice W. C. Johnston today.

Under the direction of A. Dinerstein the theatre and upper cafe at Rock Springs park are being re-painted. The work is nearly completed, and the new buildings present a handsome appearance.

The whereabouts of Stage Manager Joe Bradley is still a mystery. Careful inquiry is being made in every city for miles around, and it is hoped the authorities will be able to locate him soon.

Prof. James M. Miller, will have charge of the Chester schools the coming year. He is a Hancock county boy, who formerly taught in Chester and last year had charge of the Holliday's Cove high school.

Catarrh of the Stomach.

When the stomach is overloaded; when food is taken into it that fails to digest, it decays and inflames the mucous membrane, exposing the nerves, and causes the glands to secret mucin, instead of the natural juices of digestion. THE KING HARDWARE CO.

A YOUTHFUL SCIENTIST.

Inventor of a Wonderful Device to Make the Deaf Hear.

Scientific men all over the world are deeply interested in the discovery made by Miller Reese Hutchinson, a young inventor, who by means of an electrical device has seemingly demonstrated that the deaf can be made to hear.

The instrument as explained by the inventor is an application of the combined principles of the telephone and the microphone, the latter being a very sensitive scientific instrument for the magnifying of sound. By the combination sounds are vastly magnified through the outer and middle ears to the inner ear and the auditory nerve.

In operation the instrument sends the air waves against the tympanum and forces it to vibrate, thus vibrating the middle ear and loosening the three vibratory bones so that they perform their functions. "It was the use of this appliance, it is said, that enabled Queen Alexandra of England to regain her hearing, which for some years had been impaired. Mr. Hutchinson is the happy possessor of a gold medal given him by the queen "for scientific research and investigation."

While pursuing his investigation the inventor made a study of the human ear under one of the leading aurists of the country, acquiring a thorough knowledge of its mechanical construction. Speaking of this phase of his research, the inventor said: "I am an engineer, electrical and mechanical, and the human body is mechanism. The perfecting of my invention has been due to the application of sound mechanical principles and mathematical facts to the mechanical aspects of the ear as an organ."

Miller Reese Hutchinson is a native of Mobile and ten years ago, when but sixteen years of age, began working on the problem, which even at that age had engrossed his attention. He was educated in the public schools and at the Alabama Polytechnic institute, graduating from that school as an electrical engineer. After his graduation Mr. Hutchinson applied himself to the perfecting of two instruments by means of which, it is said, persons who have never heard a sound in all their lives have been enabled to hear with distinctness music played on a piano and the tones of the human voice in ordinary conversation.

FOOTBALL SEASON

Will Open Early in This City—Rovers Begin Practice Next Week.

The foot ball season will be opened in this city during the early part of September and already teams are being organized. Practice will be commenced this week and both association and Rugby players will begin to get into condition for the fall gridiron contests.

Manager Ashbaugh and Captain Tyson, of the West End Rovers, have issued notices to the players of last year's team to report for practice Monday evening, August 3, at West End park. The team will be selected from the following well known players: Amos, McDevitt, J. Hester, Tyson, T. Hester, F. Coleman, Arb, Coleman, Jones, Cartwright, Robinson, McAvoy, Johnson, Fraser, Miller Hardy and Moore.

Notices have also been issued by several of the association teams to report for practice. The first few weeks will be given to learning new signals and new plays, the weather being too warm for active training.

Wellsville Team on a Tour.

The members of the Wellsville base ball team all reported to the manager yesterday morning and in the afternoon went to the park to indulge in practice. The rain prevented, however, and the team left the city this morning for New Castle, where they will play a game in the afternoon. From New Castle, the team will go to Jamestown, N. Y., and will play against the team of that city on Friday and Saturday afternoons. Next week the team will play in a few Pennsylvania towns and will return for a game on the Wellsville grounds the following Saturday with Rochester, Pa.

West End Beaten.

The West End base ball team was defeated in a contest last evening by the Pleasant Heights club on the grounds of the latter. The feature of the game was the hard hitting of both teams, the score being 17 to 20.

A Game on Saturday.

A game of base ball has been arranged between the Pleasant Heights team and the club from Smith's Ferry. The game will be played next Saturday on the grounds of the former team on the hill.

Gave Up Preaching For Two Years.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Put Me On Active List.

Are you well? Do you sleep well? Do you get up rested, fresh and vigorous? Is your mind clear and active? If not read the following. See what another has suffered and how he recovered.

"Some years ago I was afflicted with sun stroke which left me with a shattered nervous system and exceedingly poor health. I suffered terribly with pain in my head, the top of my head would feel hot. I could not study, and after striving for two years to wear the trouble off, I was compelled to give up my pastoral labor and retire to my farm where I spent nearly two years trying to recuperate. It was all of no avail. Physicians' treatment and patent medicines failed to relieve me. I was exceedingly nervous and irritable and sometimes would shake terribly. I could not bear any noise. At the least excitement the blood would rush to my face and head. Two years ago I was induced to try Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. After using one bottle I could see improvement in my condition so I continued taking it for nearly a year. I am happy to say I no longer have those pains in my head or nervous spells. My appetite is good and I am able to preach three times on Sunday without fatigue. I consider Dr. Miles' Nervine the most wonderful medicine ever discovered."—Rev. D. Alex. Holman, Pastor U. B. Aeronauts Enjoined.

Omaha, July 30.—A temporary injunction was granted in the court of Judge Dickinson that the balloon which ascends twice daily from Courtland beach must not descend on the farm property, destroy crops or frighten the live stock of Claus Nelson. The balloon has fallen many times on Nelson's property. To recover their airship the aeronauts have been forced to pay lately sums ranging from $2 to $5, and a few days ago the farmer stood guard over the canvas with a shotgun and demanded $20. The big bag was recovered by a writ of replevin.

BLOWN TO ETERNITY

Gunpowder Magazines Explode With Frightful Concussion, Killing Over a Score.

HALF A HUNDRED ARE INJURED

Property of United States Cartridge Company—Windows Wrecked for Miles Around and Houses Go Down as If Built of Cards.

Lowell, Mass., July 30.—Two small gunpowder magazines, situated in the very midst of the humble residences of 50 mill operatives, exploded with a frightful concussion and the resultant wave of death cut off the lives of more than a score of human beings and injured nearly 50 others. Half a dozen men who were loading kegs of powder from one of the magazines were blown to pieces; four boys 200 yards away were killed by the force of the explosion, and 14 frame houses within a radius of 400 yards went down as if they had been built of cards. Seven of these homes immediately caught fire, probably from the kitchen stoves, and were completely consumed. At least three persons were caught in the ruins and burned to death, while seven or eight others, who were rescued, died subsequently of their injuries.

It is estimated that 70 separate pieces of property, including those already mentioned, were destroyed, while the force of the explosion wrecked windows for five or six miles around and its thunder could be heard distinctly more than 50 miles away.

Many Dwellings Near Magazines.

The magazines were the property of the United States Cartridge company, of this city, but fortunately were situated more than a mile away from the factory itself. They were built of brick about 10 feet high, with a rounded roof of corrugated iron. They were constructed some 30 years ago, in what was then a broad open field on the banks of the Concord river. During the last decade small wooden dwelling houses have gradually sprung up in the vicinity, crowding closer and nearer with the fancied security to the two innocent looking buildings until they almost completely surrounded them, except on the river side, the nearest house being scarcely 50 feet away.

One of the magazines was just within the roadside of fence, while the other was about 100 feet behind it near the banks of the river. Both magazines ordinarily contained two or three tons of gunpowder in tin kegs. The company has for some time been desirous of strenghtening the floor of the magazine near the street and eight men were sent there with three large express teams to take out the powder and mend the floor. Two of the teams had been loaded and the other was almost full when the explosion occurred.

Cause of Explosion.

It was a long time before the actual cause of the explosion could be ascertained. It was thought at first that every one within a radius of 50 feet of the magazines had been killed, but later it was found that Clarendon Good, the foremen of the men who were loading the powder on the teams, had survived, together with one of his assistants, Amadee Boulanger, and the latter was seen in the hospital.

He said that the men went down to the magazine nearest to the street to fix the floor and after the teams had been loaded with the powder which was in the magazine, it was discovered that a can of nitroglycerin which was stored in the magazine was leaking. Mr. Goodwin picked up what he thought was a jug of water and began pouring onto the nitroglycerin with the idea of diluting it and washing it up. As soon as the fluid from the jug struck the floor he found that it was nitric acid. The floor at once began to smoke, and when the men saw it they rushed from the building, but had not gone 10 feet when the explosion occurred.

The magazine was therefore the first to go up, followed immediately by the gunpowder in the three teams, and several seconds later by the second magazine.

DROWNED AT ATLANTIC CITY

Carbondale Man Loses Life Trying to Rescue Girl from Sea—Mother Witnesses Accident.

Atlantic City, July 30.—Dr. Joseph Kelvine, aged 34 years, of Carbondale, Pa., gave up his life while trying to rescue from the sea Miss Mearle Shannon, aged 20 years, of Williamsport, Pa., who disappeared beneath the waves before she could be taken from the water.

Dr. Kelvine was a guest at the Hotel Sothern, where Miss Shannon was employed. The accident happened off New Jersey avenue. The young woman, while bathing, was swept around the end of a jetty where the water was 20 feet deep. The girl gave a shriek and Dr. Kelvine, who had accompanied her into the surf, went to her rescue. He reached her and while struggling to get her into shallow water she was torn from him by the waves.

About this time three life guards came to the rescue and one of them took care of Dr. Kelvine, who lapsed into unconsciousness. The girl sank and the other two guards dived for her, but did not find the drowning girl. The life guards tried to resuscitate Dr. Kelvine without success. It is believed he died from some other cause than drowning, as he had not been in the water long enough.

The accident was witnessed by thousands of persons on the boardwalk, among which was Mrs. John Klune, of Carbondale, the mother of Dr. Kelvine. She did not know that the dead man was her son until she had elbowed her way through the crowd and found him lying upon a bench. Mrs. Klune was taken care of by friends.

Arranging for Long's Funeral.

London, July 30.—Pending the arrival of relatives of John G. Long, of St. Augustine, Fla., United States consul general at Cairo, Egypt, who fell down the steps of his hotel at Dunbar, Scotland, Monday evening, sustaining injuries from which he died the same night, Major General Sir Francis Wingate, sirdar of the Egyptian army, who is home on leave and with whom Mr. Long spent Monday evening, is making preliminary arrangements for the funeral. It is expected that the body will be removed to Liverpool Saturday for shipment to the United States and that the interment will take place at Washington.

Arrests Made in Danville.

Danville, Ill., July 30.—Eleven arrests were made for participation in the lawless outbreak of Saturday night, when the jail was attacked in an effort to lynch James Wilson, a negro who, it is alleged, assaulted Mrs. Burgess, of Alvin. The grand jury has been ordered to convene on Monday to indict the leaders of the mob. Of those arrested only one gave bond. A guard has been placed around the hospital where five men, who were members of the mob, are receiving treatment for their wounds.

Herman's Contract Signed.

Washington, July 30.—Acting Postmaster General Wynne signed the contract of Paul Herman, of Rutherford, N. J., to furnish the money order forms to the government during the next four years. The first forms are to be supplied under the new contract on Sept. 4.

Actor Dies of Tuberculosis.

Phoenix, Ariz., July 30.—H. S. Tabor, an actor whose home was in New York, is dead from tuberculosis. He was formerly with Frohman and Daly and at one time with the Ethel Barrymore company.

MESSAGES MAY BE INTERCEPTED

Marconi's Monopoly of Wireless Telegraphy Easily Frustrated, According to German Company.

Berlin, July 30.—The German Wireless Telegraph company, which was recently organized through the amalgamation of the Slaby and Braun systems, has issued a statement regarding Signor Marconi's utterances on the possibility of the German company intercepting Marconi messages in England.

Marconi's opinion that such interception can only occur if the German company's stations are erected in England is, it is declared, erroneous. The German company says all that is necessary is to erect a strong station on the shores of the Baltic or the North sea, attune its receiving wires to Marconi's station at Poldhu, Cornwall, and it would be impossible for Marconi to receive trans-Atlantic messages. The statement concludes:

"Such procedure for fighting the world monopoly aimed at by Marconi could hardly be called 'chicanery,' but more properly self-defense."

Knocked Out in Fifth Round.

Philadelphia, July 30.—Champion "Young Corbett" knocked out "Jack" O'Neill, of this city, in the fifth round at the National Athletic club. The first three rounds were tame, O'Neill avoiding the champion's rushes. In the fourth round O'Neill hit Corbett three glancing blows on the jaw and was about to deliver a fourth one when Corbett dropped to his knees to avoid it. This gave the local man confidence in the fifth round, which proved fatal to him. He met Corbett's rushes and in an unguarded moment received a terrific right hand punch which sent him to the floor and he was counted out.

Posses Exchange Shots With Convicts.

Folsom, Cal., July 30.—The posses under the direction of Sheriff Keena, of Placerville, and Sheriff Bosquit, of El Dorado, had a brush with the fugitive Folsom convicts on Greenwood creek and a number of shots were exchanged, but so far as can be learned nobody was shot. The convicts avoided a decisive encounter and are now supposed to be working back in the general direction of Coloma.

"Love lightens labor," the saying runs, and in a sense it is true. But even love cannot lighten labor or make it easy for the woman who is in constant suffering from inflammation, bearing-down pains or other womanly diseases. The one thing that can make work easy for women is sound health, and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the thing that will give sound health to sick women. It cures womanly diseases which cause weakness, and cures the backache, sideache, nervousness and other ills which are the result of womanly diseases.

"I suffered from female weakness for five months," writes Miss Belle Hedrick, of Nye, Putnam Co., W. Va. "I was treated by a good physician but he never seemed to do me any good. I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce for advice, which I received, telling me to take his 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' When I had used the medicines a month, my health was much improved. It has continued to improve until now I can work at almost all kinds of housework. I had scarcely any appetite, but it is all right now. Have gained several pounds in weight. Dr Pierce's medicines have done wonderfully well here. I would advise all who suffer from chronic diseases to write to Dr. Pierce."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the paper-covered book, or 31 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

GRAUSTARK

...By...

GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters.

CHAPTER I.—Grenfall Lorry, a wealthy American globe trotter, stumbles into acquaintance with a charming foreign girl on the train from Denver to Washington. The pair are left behind when the flier stops for repairs in West Virginia. II.—Lorry wires ahead to hold the train. He and the unknown girl ride twenty miles at a tearing pace in a mountain coach. There is no lovemaking, but a near approach to it as the rolling stage tumbles the passengers about. III.—Lorry dines with the foreign party, consisting of Miss Guggenslocker, Uncle Caspar and Aunt Yvonne. They are natives of Graustark, a country Lorry had never heard of before.

"Ach, that accounts for his surprise when I talked louder and faster than ever. I did not know what he meant. He said positively he would not wait, but just then a second message came from the other station. I did not know what it was then, but a gentleman told me that it instructed him to hold the train if he wanted to hold his job. Job is situation, is it not? Well, when he read that message he said he would wait just twenty minutes. I asked him to tell me how you were coming to us, but he refused to answer. Your aunt and I went at once to the telegraph man and implored him to tell us the truth, and he said you were coming in a carriage over a very dangerous road. Imagine our feelings when he said some people had been killed yesterday on that very road.

"When your aunt and I returned to the train we saw the conductor holding his watch. He said to me, 'In just three minutes we pull out. If they are not here by that time they can get on the best they know how. I've done all I can.' I did not say a word, but went to my section and had Hedrick get out my pistols. If the train left before you arrived it would be without its conductor.

"Then came the sound of carriage wheels and galloping horses. Almost before we knew it you were with us. I am so happy that you were not a minute later."

There was something so cool and grim in the quiet voice, something so determined in those brilliant eyes, that Grenfall felt like looking up the conductor to congratulate him. The dinner was served, and while it was being discussed his fair companion of the drive graphically described the experience of twenty strange minutes in a shackledown mountain coach.

Somehow the real flavor of romance was stricken from the ride by her candid admissions. What he had considered a romantic treasure was being calmly robbed of its glitter, leaving for his memory the blur of an adventure in which he had played the part of a gallant gentleman and she a grateful lady. He was beginning to feel ashamed of the conceit that had misled him. Down in his heart he was saying, "I might have known it. I did know it. She is not like other women." The perfect confidence that dwelt in the rapt faces of the others forced into his wondering mind the impression that this girl could do no wrong.

"And, Aunt Yvonne," she said, in conclusion, "the luck which you say is mine as birthright asserted itself. I escaped unhurt, while Mr. Lorry alone possesses the pain and unpleasantness of our ride."

"I possess neither," he objected. "The pain that you refer to is a pleasure."

"The pain that a man endures for a woman should always be a pleasure," said Uncle Caspar smilingly.

"But it could not be a pleasure to him unless the woman considered it a pain," reasoned Miss Guggenslocker. "He could not feel happy if she did not respect the pain."

"And encourage it," supplemented Lorry dryly. "If you do not remind me occasionally that I am hurt, Miss Guggenslocker, I am liable to forget it." To himself he added, "I'll never learn how to say it in one breath."

"If I were not so soon to part from you, I should be your physician, and, like all physicians, prolong your ailment interminably," she said prettily.

"To my deepest satisfaction," he said warmly, not lightly. There was nothing further from his mind than servile flattery, as his rejoinder might imply. "Alas," he went on, "we no sooner meet than we part. May I ask when you are to sail?"

"On Thursday," replied Mr. Guggenslocker.

"On the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse," added his niece, a faraway look coming into her eyes.

"We are to stop off one day, tomorrow, in Washington," said Aunt Yvonne, and the jump that Lorry's heart gave was so mighty that he was afraid they could see it in his face.

"My uncle has some business to transact in your city, Mr. Lorry. We are to spend tomorrow there and Wednesday in New York. Then we sail. Ach, how I long for Thursday!" His heart sank like lead to the depths from which it had sprung. It required no effort on his part to see that he was alone in his infatuation. Thursday was more to her than his existence. She could forget him and think of Thursday, and when she thought of Thursday, the future, he was but a thing of the past, not even of the present.

"Have you always lived in Washington, Mr. Lorry?" asked Mrs. Guggenslocker.

"All my life," he replied, wishing at that moment that he was homeless and free to choose for himself.

"You Americans live in one city and then in another," she said. "Now, in our country generation after generation lives and dies in one town. We are not migratory."

"Mr. Lorry has offended us by not knowing where Graustark is located on the map," cried the young lady, and he could see the flash of resentment in her eyes.

"Why, my dear sir, Graustark is in"—began Uncle Caspar, but she checked him instantly.

"Uncle Caspar, you are not to tell him. I have recommended that he study geography and discover for himself. He should be ashamed of his ignorance."

He was not ashamed, but he mentally vowed that before he was a day older he would find Graustark on the map and would stock his negligent brain with all that history and the encyclopedia had to say of the unknown land. Her uncle laughed, and, to Lorry's disappointment, obeyed the young lady's command.

"Shall I study the map of Europe, Asia or Africa?" asked he, and they laughed.

"Study the map of the world," said Miss Guggenslocker proudly.

"Edelweiss is the capital?"

"Yes, our home city, the queen of the crags," cried she. "You should see Edelweiss, Mr. Lorry. It is of the mountain, the plain and the sky. There are homes in the valley, homes on the mountain side and homes in the clouds."

"And yours? From what you say it must be above the clouds—in heaven."

"We are farthest from the clouds, for we live in the green valley, shaded by the white topped mountains. We may, in Edelweiss, have what climate we will. Doctors do not send us on long journeys for our health. They tell us to move up or down the mountain. We have balmy spring, glorious summer, refreshing autumn and chilly winter, just as we like."

"Ideal! I think you must be pretty well toward the south. You could not have July in January if you were far north."

"True; yet we have January in July. Study your map. We are discernible to the naked eye," she said, half ironically.

"I care not if there are but three inhabitants of Graustark, all told, it is certainly worthy of a position on any map," said Lorry gallantly, and his listeners applauded with patriotic appreciation. "By the way, Mr. Gug—Guggenslocker, you say the conductor asked you for my name, and you did not know it. May I ask how you learned it later on?" His curiosity got the better of him, and his courage was increased by the champagne the old gentleman had ordered.

"Well, that coin purchased your name for me."

"I did not know your name until my niece told it to me after your arrival in the carriage," said Uncle Caspar.

"I don't remember giving it to Miss Guggenslocker at any time," said Lorry.

"You were not my informant," she said demurely.

"Oh, no, indeed. I am no mind reader."

"My own name was the last thing you could have read in my mind in that event, for I have not thought of it in three days."

She was sitting with her elbows on the table, her chin in her hands, a dreamy look in her blue eyes.

"You say you obtained that coin from the porter on the Denver train?"

"Within two hours after I got aboard."

"Well, that coin purchased your name for me," she said calmly, candidly. He gasped.

"You—you don't mean that you"—he stammered.

"You see, Mr. Lorry, I wanted to know the name of a man who came nearest my ideal of what an American should be. As soon as I saw you I knew that you were the American as I had grown to know him through the books—big, strong, bold and comely. That is why I bought your name of the porter. I shall always say that I know the name of an ideal American—Grenfall Lorry."

Her frank statement staggered him almost beyond the power of recovery.

"I—I am honored," he at last managed to say, his eyes gleaming with embarrassment. "I trust you have not found your first judgment a faulty one." He felt very foolish after this flat remark.

"I have remembered your name," she said graciously. His heart swelled.

"There are a great many better Americans than I," he said. "You forget our president and our statesmen."

"I thought they were mere politicians."

Grenfall Lorry, idealized, retired to his berth that night, his head whirling with the emotions inspired by this strange, beautiful woman. How lovely, how charming, how naive, how queenly, how indifferent, how warm, how cold—how everything that puzzled him was she. His last waking thought was: "Guggenslocker! An angel with a name like that!"

CHAPTER IV.

THE INVITATION EXTENDED.

THEY were called by the porter early the next morning. The train was pulling into Washington five hours late. Grenfall wondered as he dressed whether fortune would permit him to see much of her during her brief day in the capital.

After the train had come to a standstill he could hear the rustle of her garments in the next compartment. Then he heard her sweep into the passage, greet her uncle and aunt, utter a few commands to the maid, and, while he was adjusting his collar and necktie, pass from the car. No man ever made quicker time in dressing than did Lorry.

"She'll get away, and that 'll be the end of it," he growled, seizing his traps and rushing from the train two minutes after her departure. The porter attempted to relieve him of his bags on the platform, but he brushed him aside and was off toward the station.

"Nice time for you to call a man, you idiot," was his parting shot for the porter, forgetting of course that the foreigners had been called at the same time. With eyes intent on the crowd ahead, he plunged along, seeing nobody in his disappointed flight. "I'll never forgive myself if I miss her," he was wailing to himself. She was not to be seen in the waiting rooms, so he rushed to the sidewalk.

"Baggage transferred?"

"Cab, sir."

"Go to the devil—yes, here! Take these traps and checks and rush my stuff to — W—— avenue. Trunks just in on B. and O.," he cried, tossing his burdens to a transfer man and giving him the checks so quickly that the fellow's sleepy eyes opened wider than they had been for a month. Relieved of his impediments, he returned to the station.

"Good morning, Mr. Lorry. Are you in too much of a hurry to see your friends?" cried a clear, musical voice, and he stopped as if shot. The anxious frown flew from his brow and was succeeded instantaneously by a glad smile. He wheeled and beheld her, with Aunt Yvonne, standing near the main entrance to the station. "Why, good morning," he exclaimed, extending his hand gladly. To his amazement she drew herself up haughtily and ignored the proffered hand. Only a brief second did this strange and uncalled for hauteur obtain. A bright smile swept over her face, and her repentant fingers sought his timidly, even awkwardly. Something told him that she was not accustomed to handshaking; that same something impelled him to bend low and touch the gloved fingers with his lips. He straightened, with face flushed, half fearful lest his act had been observed by curious loungers, and he had taken a liberty in a public place which could not be condoned. But she smiled serenely, approvingly. There was not the faintest sign of embarrassment or confusion in the lovely face. Any other girl in the world, he thought, would have jerked her hand away and giggled furiously. Aunt Yvonne inclined her head slightly, but did not proffer her hand. He wisely refrained from extending his own. "I thought you had left the station," he said.

"We are waiting for Uncle Caspar, who is giving Hedrick instructions. Hedrick, you know, is to go on to New York with our boxes. He will have them aboard ship when we arrive there. All that we have with us is hand luggage. We leave Washington tonight."

"I had hoped you might stay over for a few days."

"It is urgent business that compels us to leave so hastily, Mr. Lorry. Of all the cities in the world, I have most desired to see the capital of your country. Perhaps I may return some day. But do not let us detain you if you are in a hurry."

He started, looked guilty, stammered something about baggage, said he would return in a moment, and rushed aimlessly away, his ears fiery.

"I'm all kinds of a fool," he muttered as he raced around the baggage room and then back to where he had left the two ladies. Mr. Guggenslocker had joined them, and they were preparing to depart. Miss Guggenslocker's face expressed pleasure at seeing him.

"We thought you would never return, so long were you gone," she cried gayly. He had been gone just two minutes by the watch. The old gentleman greeted him warmly, and Lorry asked them to what hotel they were going. On being informed that they expected to spend the day at the Ebbitt he volunteered to accompany them, saying that he intended to breakfast there. Quicker than a flash a glance unfathomable as it was brief passed between the three, not quickly enough, however, to escape his keen, watchful eyes, on the alert since the beginning of his acquaintance with them, in conjunction with his ears, to catch something that might satisfy in a measure his burning curiosity. What was the meaning of that glance? It half angered him, for in it he thought he could distinguish annoyance, apprehension, dismay or something equally disquieting. Before he could stiffen his long frame and give vent to the dignified reconsideration that flew to his mind the young lady dispelled all pain and displeasure, sending him into raptures by saying:

"How good of you! We shall be so delighted to have you breakfast with us, Mr. Lorry, if it is convenient for you. You can talk to us of your wonderful city. I am sure we cannot trouble you much longer."

He expostulated gallantly and delightedly and then hurried forth to call a cab. At 8 o'clock he breakfasted with them, his infatuation growing deeper and stronger as he sat for the hour beneath the spell of those eyes, the glorious face, the sweet, imperial air that was a part of her, strange and unaffected. As they were leaving the dining room he asked if she would not drive with him.

His ardent gallantry met with a surprising rebuke. Her voice, a moment ago sweet and affable, changed its tone instantly to one so proud and arrogant that he could scarcely believe his ears.

"I shall be engaged during the entire day, Mr. Lorry," she said slowly, looking him fairly in the eyes with cruel positiveness. For a moment he dared not speak.

"I have reason to feel thankful that you are to be engaged," he said at last calmly, without taking his eyes from hers, "I am forced to believe, much to my regret, that I have offended when I intended to please. You will pardon my temerity."

There was no mistaking the resentment in his voice or the glitter in his eyes. Impulsively her little hand was stretched forth, falling upon his arm, while into her eyes came again the soft glow and to her lips the most pathetic, appealing smile, the forerunner of a pretty plea for forgiveness. The change startled and puzzled him more than ever. In one moment she was unreasonably rude and imperious, in the next gracious and imploring.

"Forgive me," she cried, the blue eyes battling bravely against the steel in the gray ones above. "I was so uncivil! Perhaps I cannot make you understand why I spoke as I did, but, let me say, I richly deserved the rebuke. Pray forgive me and forget that I have been disagreeable. Do not ask me to tell you why I was so rude to you just now, but overlook my unkind treatment of your invitation. Please, Mr. Lorry, I beg of you—I beg for the first time in my life. You have been so good to me, be good to me still."

His wrath melted away like snow before the sunshine. How could he resist such an appeal? "I beg for the first time in my life," whirled in his brain. What did she mean by that?

"I absolve the penitent," he said gravely.

"I thank you. You are still my ideal American—courteous, bold and gentle. I do not wonder that Americans can be masterful men. And now I thank you for your invitation and ask you to let me withdraw my implied refusal. If you will take me for the drive I shall be delighted and more than grateful."

Brights Disease

Not Rare, but Common—All Kidney Disease is Bright's Disease—The 8th to 10th Month it Becomes Chronic and Incurable by All Known Means Except the new Fulton Compounds, which Record 87% of Recoveries.

We have before us a little work on kidney diseases by Joseph F. Edwards, M. D., of Philadelphia, that contains some things that everyone ought to know. Many people imagine Bright's Disease is rare, when, in fact, it covers the whole gamut of kidney diseases. This book sets out that the kidneys have but one function, viz., the elimination of the urea and waste products, and that all interferences with that function are called Bright's Disease. Dr. Edwards adds: "For the benefit of physicians who may read this book I will give a list of the cases which I attribute to Bright's Disease, viz.:

Albumenuria.
Congestion of the Kidney.
Degeneration of the Kidney.
Fatty Degeneration of the Kidney.
Inflammation of the Kidney.
Uraemia.
Disease of the Kidney."

Thus, all kidney disease being Bright's Disease, the serious question is, is it acute or chronic? In other words, is it in the primary or secondary stage? After the eigth to tenth month it becomes chronic and is then incurable by all known means except the Fulton Compounds. The kidneys are not sensitive. There is often no notice of the trouble till it has already fastened. If you have kidney disease in the first stage the Renal Compound will cure it quickly. If it is of more than 8 to 10 months standing it is the only thing known that will cure it. In proof that nothing else will we cite all medical works as evidence that to this time there has been nothing that cures Chronic Bright's Disease. The stockholders of the John J Fulton Co., business and professional men of San Francisco, are the first people in the world to announce a positive cure, presenting a definite percentage of recoveries (87 per cent), and giving out the lists of the cured, all among purely chronic, well-defined cases. If you have any kind of kidney trouble, there is only one thing to take. The Renal Compound for Bright's Disease is $1; for Diabetes, $1.50. John J. Fulton Co., 409 Washington street, San Francisco, sole compounders. Free analyses for patients. Pamphlet free. We see the sole agents.

A FRIEND'S ADVICE

Will Often Help You Greatly—Read What An East Liverpool Citizen Says.

You may hesitate to listen to the advice of strangers, but the testimony of residents of East Liverpool is worth your most careful attention. It is an easy matter to investigate such proof as this. The evidence must be conclusive. Read the following:

Mr. W. F. Cochran, of Mulberry street, East End, says: "At intervals for 30 years I had serious kidney and bladder trouble. The agony I went through can hardly be described. Many nights I rolled from one side to another trying to find an easy position for my back; I could not move without having sharp twinges of pain and I was also troubled with urinary difficulty, the secretions being very irregular, and at times very distressing. I ran down so that I could hardly help myself. Doctors treated me. I took a power of stuff and had given up all hope when I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised as a never failing remedy. I got a box at the W. & W. Pharmacy and after taking half of it I could see some improvement. I continued, and the treatment did me more good than anything I ever used"

Sold for 50 cents a box by all dealers. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Sold at the W. & W. Pharmacy.

NOW that the heat of summer is here thousands are realizing how low their ambition, vitality and resistive force has become.

They are easily exhausted, heat seems unusually oppressive, feel draggy—all fagged out. They feel the need of a tonic that will build them up from the very foundation; give them strength, life, activity.

Hagee's Cordial of Cod Liver Oil (with Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda) is an ideal summer tonic, a builder—revitalizer—reconstructive that physicians of all schools prescribe for these conditions. Pleasant to take. Contains all the active properties of cod liver oil without the grease.

Sold by all druggists. Prepared by Katharmon Chemical Co. St. Louis, Mo.

Corrosive Ink.

With an impatient grunt the bookkeeper threw away his pen and put a new one in the holder. "It's terrible," he said, "how ink corrodes pens. In six or seven hours a new pen will begin to scratch. It keeps me busy changing the blamed things, let alone the expense. There's money in it for the man who will invent a noncorrosive ink." An old man, a bill collector, remarked to him: "My young friend, I'll tell you a sure way to stop your ink from corroding your pen. Take a few rusty iron nails and put them in your ink well. The ink's corrosive acid will play itself out on the nails, and in consequence your pen will escape. A pen that only lasts you a day now should, with my method, last at least a week."—Philadelphia Record.

Hospitality Pays.

Cities and communities frequently expend large sums of money in entertaining conventions, conferences and other public gatherings, both because of a spirit of hospitality prevailing or through a sinister desire to "advertise the city." After the affair is over and the visitors have gone their several ways the people ask one of the other, "Does it pay to spend money thus?" There never was a case of public hospitality that didn't pay, if not in dollars and cents, in the extension and broadening of that finest of all sentiments, the brotherhood of man.—Dayton Herald.

His Auspicious Beginning.

"To gratify the curiosity of the public, Mr. Dollaraline," purred the young person with the notebook, "will you please tell me if the first contribution you ever sent to a magazine was accepted?"

The literary celebrity smiled genially.

"I am happy to say it was," he answered.

"What was it?"

"Four dollars for a year's subscription."—Chicago Tribune.

Bright Spick Span New Dwellings.

$2500 Six rooms, slate roof, front and rear portico, cellar, gas, electric light wiring, sanitary plumbing, bath, hot and cold water, golden oak grain throughout, just finished and within five minutes walk of the Diamond, on Minerva street. No hill to climb. Terms—$500 down, balance $20 monthly.

$1650 Six rooms, slate roof, front, back and side porticos, grained inside, well arranged, comfortable and convenient. Good cellar, drilled well with force pump. Lot 40x100. Commands a fine view, is easy of access, within one minute's walk of north side street car line. It is located one-half square east of the Calcutta road just beyond Riverview cemetery. Terms—$450 down; balance $10 per month.

Other properties we would note as follows as being on sale with us (particulars furnished upon inquiry). Ten room brick house, lot 33x133, Sixth street, $5,200; new ten room house, lot 40x100, Ogden street, $2,500; six room modern house, Spring street, $2,900; four rooms, water and gas, lot 30x100 Minerva street, $1,850; ten room modern double house near Second street, $3,000; four rooms, new, just completed, McKinnon addition, $1,200; three rooms and small lot, Cadmus street, $700; two rooms and large lot Gardendale, $400; four rooms, lot 30x100, Pennsylvania avenue, East End, $1,450; six rooms, new, Sheridan avenue, $2,750; five rooms, pantry, lot 30x100, Bradshaw avenue, $1,850; six rooms, furnace, gas, lot 30x100, Eighth street, $2,400; four rooms, just new, Oakland addition, $1,200; four rooms, new, Maple street, East End, $1,250; four rooms, Ohio avenue, East End, $1,750; seven rooms and five rooms on Third street, $5,500; seven rooms on Pine street, $2,500.

Restaurant and dwelling of 12 rooms furnished in part. Well suited and located for a boarding or mealing house. See us for terms and price.

We have 25 times as many more properties. Call and see us about any or all of them. We will sell on terms to suit your income. Why pay rent when you can own a home? Don't you know that by paying a dollar on each $100 you owe will wipe out the debt and interest in ten years? For instance, fifteen dollars paid monthly for ten years will pay off a $1,500 debt and interest. It's not how much money one spends but how one spends it that makes one's financial weal or woe.

SOCIAL EVENTS

PRESBYTERIAN PICNIC

Members of Church and Sunday School to Have An Enjoyable Outing Monday.

The members of the church and Sunday school of the Presbyterian church will hold their annual picnic next Monday at Rock Springs park. It is the earnest endeavor of all those who are arranging the program for the day, to make the event memorable to the large number which will participate in the pleasures of the outing.

Rev. Dr. Marshall, former pastor of the church, will make an address at the pavilion. Miss Margaret Baxter and Prof. Laughlin, also a quartet selected from the choir of the church, will render musical selections on the program. Prof. R. E. Rayman will make an address on the progress of the Sunday school, and Attorney Jason H. Brookes will probably speak on a topic of interest to the Sunday school and church workers.

Places on the program have been assigned to Frank H. Croxall, also Mr. Romey, and George C. Murphy will act as chairman. The Presbyterians and friends are cordially invited to be present and enjoy the day.

Lyceum Reception.

Lisbon, July 30.—(Special)—The members of the Young Men's Lyceum last evening gave a reception to their parents and older friends. The functions of the previous evening were repeated, a choice musical and literary program being rendered. Miss Ellen Wellington gave three readings and there was vocal and instrumental music by Mrs. Helen Blockson, Mrs. Clent Baxley, Miss Leah King and D. H Jackson. Tonight's reception to the young men and "old boys" will be the concluding one.

In Honor of Visitors.

Mrs. John S. Goodwin entertained yesterday afternoon at a luncheon in honor of Mrs. Blynn, of Denver, Col. and Miss Mame Scott, of Cambridge, O. A large number of ladies were in attendance.

Wedded at Lisbon.

Entertained Friends.

Mrs. William Davidson, in honor of her sister-in-law of New York city, entertained a few of her friends at 6 o'clock dinner last evening.

When Carlyle Pinched His Wife.

A volume by the late Anthony Froude, the historian, tells this story of Carlyle and his wife, who lived on notoriously bad terms, the latter dying first: "Carlyle found a remembrance in her diary of the blue marks which in a fit of passion he had once inflicted on her arms. As soon as he could collect himself he put together a memoir of her, in which with deliberate courage he inserted the incriminating passages of her diary, the note of the blue marks among them, and he added an injunction of his own that, however stern and tragic that record might be, it was never to be destroyed."

A BONANZA STRIKE

FOR GREEN MOUNTAIN MINING & MILLING CO.

The Stockholders and Friends of This Company Will Be Pleased to Note the Following Letter.

Office of James A. Snedaker, Mining Engineer, Equitable Building.

Mr. S. J. Crawford, Sec., 519 Frick building, Pittsburg, Pa.

Dear Sir—I had a long talk with Mr. Frost over the 'phone and would have gone to the mines Monday, but as Mr Hart will be here Thursday I wish to see him before leaving. Mr. Frost tells me that the ore body has continued and that they are still in the same for a distance of 10 feet, the ore running, according to assays, 17-100 of an ounce in Gold, 6½ ounces of Silver, 21 per cent Lead and 7 96-100 per cent Copper. You can see that this is an ideal ore. I will expect shortly to go down there and it may be possible that I will ship a lot of this ore direct to the smelter. This bonanza that we have struck places us beyond any doubt on the paying list, and the Green Mountain Co.'s stock should be worth a great deal more than it was a month ago. This ore has been struck in the Leonard claim. It is evidently the main vein of the "Pride of the West" and is the greatest bonanza that has been struck in the San Juan for over a year. The expected has happened—that is, this is one of the great mines of the whole country. We can see our way towards having a mill and that pretty quick. It will, of course, require some drifting and development, but this can be done before a mill could be completed. You can tell all of your friends that we have made good much better than our promise. This vein is larger and better than any vein that the Silver Lake mines ever had and will make a greater producer.

I have had Mr. Frost express you some samples from the vein. We have this ore body at least 250 feet deep from the surface, and with the size of it will mean thousands of tons of ore.

Mr. Hart will be here tomorrow and we will go over the whole situation together and possibly go to the mines. Will let you know at our earliest convenience everything pertaining to the property.

Very truly yours,
(Signed.)
JAMES A. SNEDAKER.

CHOOSING SITE FOR POSTOFFICE

BRUNT SMITH IS FAVORED

By Business Men and Citizens Generally and Likely to Be Chosen.

DECISION EAGERLY AWAITED

Col. James P. Low, sent here by the postoffice department to inspect the sites offered for the proposed new federal building in East Liverpool, has made an inspection of the Brunt property, offered as a site, and today looked over the Deidrick property. These are the only properties formerly offered as sites.

The government agent will acquaint himself with the sites and the wishes of the people regarding the location of the postoffice, and on his report will depend the action to be taken by the postmaster general in regard to the matter.

Col. Low will be in the city until tomorrow when he will return to Washington and submit a report of the conditions existing in connection with the two sites. Upon his report will rest the decision as to where the federal building will be located. Which of the two sites, the William Brunt property, Fifth and Broadway, and the Deidrick property, Fourth and Broadway, Col. Low will recommend for purchase is not known, but it is generally believed that it will be the former.

According to instructions at Washington Col. Low must take into consideration the dimensions of the property, the nature of the business in close proximity, the condition as to access, and public opinion.

This being his plan of consideration there are none except those directly interested in the sale of the Deidrick property who think Col. Low will decide upon any other than the Brunt property. The conditions surrounding it are much more favorable from every standpoint, location and dimension and in public opinion it is the only site that should even be considered.

Prominent residents of the city have been in conversation with Col. Low regarding the site, and the sentiment of them all is that he should decide upon the Brunt property, it being the unanimous opinion that it will be more suitable in every respect.

THEY BROUGHT HOME NUGGETS OF GOLD

A Lisbon Company's Agents Find Alaskan Claims Very Promising.

Lisbon, July 30.—(Special.)—W. H. Hepburn and John Costello, who returned Tuesday from a visit to the Nome district of the Alaskan gold field, where they spent about nine days inspecting the holdings of the Ophir Creek Gold company, of Lisbon, are enthusiastic over the outlook for the company, though they are not giving out much for publication.

Mr. Hepburn will return to Alaska soon and will leave Lisbon in time to enable him to sail from Seattle for Nome about August 20.

Mr. Hepburn and Mr. Costello left Lisbon on their trip Sunday, June 14, sailing from Seattle on the steamer Oregon, and reaching Nome, a city of 5,000 to 10,000, July 8. During their stay of nine day they made their headquarters at Nome. Within a few miles of that city is located the company's Anvil Creek claim, and about half of the 400 acres controlled by the company is in this vicinity. It was found that the Anvil Creek claim is surrounded by other claims which are being successfully worked, and Mr. Hepburn brought home with him a handfull of gold nuggets from that region. The Ophir Creek claim, located 60 miles inland, was also visited and specimens of gold from there were also brought home.

Officer Dawson Files a Charge of Pointing Firearms and Resisting Arrest.

Officer Dawson, true to the forecast of the News Review, swore to a warrant late yesterday afternoon charging Edward ("Teddy") O'Connor with pointing firearms and resisting arrest. The officer would have preferred the charge on the evening of O'Connor's arrest but the thought of it slipped his mind. Upon his arrival at the city hall yesterday afternoon he at once filed the charge and stated last evening that he was going to let the law take its course. O'Connor's attorneys approached Dawson and attempted to persuade him to withdraw the charge, but the policeman declared he would not, and O'Connor will positively have to answer to the charge before the mayor tomorrow.

Fierce Battle in a Restaurant Between a Cook and a Waiter.

A war of words lasting for more than two weeks between Sherman Reed, colored, day cook at the Arcade restaurant, and Amos Kapp, a night waiter at the same establishment, culminated in a fierce battle last night when the two met face to face in the restaprant and renewed their argument. After warmly debating for a few minutes both men decided to have it out by a combat and witnesses to the affair say that it was one of the liveliest scenes enacted for months in the city. As a result of their fight both were arrested and were compelled to pay a fine of $5 and costs each to escape lodging in the city jail.

What the two men disputed about is not known, each telling a different story, but it was of such consequence that the brother of Kapp, who is the proprietor of the restaurant, felt ten days ago that it would result in a fight and for that reason changed Amos from day turn to night. This move kept the two apart for several days, but last evening the negro stepped into the restaurant and almost instantly the hottest kind of epihets were being used by each. Finally Reed started at Kapp in a menacing manner and the latter picked up a pop bottle and a couple of saucers and cups and commenced firing them at his adversary with wonderful strength and accuracy. The bottle struck the negro on the head and cut a big gash in it, and the remaining pieces were felt by him.

Reed, it is said, commenced to realize his position and after retaliating with a few dishes, none of them striking their intended mark, however, rushed up stairs over the restaurant to his room for the purpose of getting a gun. Meantime an enormous crowd had collected and Officers Dawson and Morris were attracted. Dawson ran up to the negro's room and prevented him from getting the gun, and Morris placed Kapp under arrest. Each accused the other of being the originator of the trouble and the officers decided to take them before the mayor to settle the dispute. The chief executive listened to the tales of each and determined that they were both guilty. He then imposed a fine on each and they were dismissed.

SPECULATION OF BANK OFFICERS

Responsible for the Failure of the Doylestown (Pa.) National Bank.

Doylestown, Pa., July 30.—(Special.)—The comptroller of the currency has closed the Doylestown National bank and appointed Examiner Schoefield receiver. Considerable excitement rules here, as the deposits are large.

The failure is due to stock speculation on the part of the officers of the bank.

HIS INJURIES ARE SERIOUS

Lisbon, July 30.—(Special.)—Eliphaz Cope, a prominent and well known citizen, was nearly killed at his home near Rogers this morning by an infuriated cow. Accompanied by a dog he was turning a cow and calf into a pasture when the cow, angered at the dog, started toward him. The dog fled and the cow turned on Mr. Cope, goring and trampling him almost to death before other members of the family came to his rescue and drove the cow away with clubs.

Mr. Cope was frightfully injured about the head, chest and back, his entire body being covered with wounds and bruises. His cries, before he lost consciousness, attracted his family in time to save his life. There were several particularly bad gashes about the head and back and a number of his teth were knocked out. The attending physicians think he will survive if he is not internally injured. He had not fully recovered consciousness this afternoon.

Mr. Cope is upward of 50 years of age. He is president of the Columbiana County Pioneer and Historical society and is well known as well as an extensive nurseryman.

MANY CLAIMS ARE ENTERED

IN THE SUIT AGAINST BUCKEYE BRICK WORKS.

Liens Which the Receiver Is Directed to Pay Amount to a Large Sum.

Lisbon, July 30.—(Special)—In the case of Harmon Michaels et al. vs. the Buckeye Brick company, of Wellsville, a mortgage of the Perpetual Savings & Loan company, of Wellsville, has been decreed a first lien on certain property of the company, but the amount of the indebtedness is left open for future determination by the court. Other mortgages held as follows are decreed second liens on the property: John A. Noble, $1,085; W. E. Smith, $1,050.60; Vulcan Clay company, $359.50; David Hargest, $319; P. M. Smith, $542.50.

Receiver Catlett is authorized to pay these claims from the proceeds of the sale of real estate.

The following are decreed third lien creditors for sums ranging from $200 to $300: A. D. Forbes, E. H. Riggs J. W. Hammond, John Todd, J. W. Riley, J. C. Catlett, P. M. Smith, P. H. White, J. J. Dowling, P. Fitzpatrick, Samuel Stephenson, W. E. Smith, J. W. Russell, G. W. Adams, G. M. Aten, These claims the receiver is directed to pay.

A mortgage for $2,445.07 held by John C. Catlett is decreed a court lien. The court finding that after the payment of these priority claims there will remain money in the hands of the receiver, he is directed to pay from these funds a number of small sums for labor. Claims of Daniel M. Smith, for $2,738.37 and David Hargest for $568.80 are adjudged first mortgages, and a claim of John Dodge for $1,727.04 is adjudged a second mortgage on certain property of the company. The Central Building and Loan company is found to hold a first mortgage lien on certain of the property for $12,130.12.

A Great Deal of Interest Being Manifested By the Local Unions.

The Labor day committee held a meeting in the Potters' Herald office last evening and a few more details were arranged for the celebration of Labor day in this city, September 7.

A report was received from the subcommittee having in hand the program. The report was not so encouraging as it might have been, and many business men and merchants who have heretofore supported the cause of labor by buying advertising space on the program were reported to have turned the solicitors down. The grocerymen and butchers of the city have been especially antagonistic to the movement, and not one merchant in these lines could be induced to take space. It is thought the attitude of these business men will precipitate a bitter fight if persisted in, as the matter is sure to reach the entire membership of the many local unions in the city. The general committee of arrangements has decided to let the question lie over until the next meeting of Trades Council, when it will be brought to the attention of that body. The solicitors have been asked to meet with the council for the purpose of presenting the matter in an intelligent way. Decisive action is sure to be taken by the council, and the Labor day committee is determined to see it through.

The question of adopting a general Labor day badge was disposed of by the committee deciding to recommend a ribbon badge in place of the button worn last year. An order for 5,000 of the ordinary ribbon badges will be placed at once and when done will be distributed among the members of the locals through their secretary.

A circular letter will be mailed early in the week to the officials of every union organization in this section of the state, urging all unionists and their friends to be present at the East Liverpool demonstration, which will be the largest and most successful ever held.

Edward W. Holz of Leetonia, has been appointed administrator of the estate of his deceased father, Christian J. Holz, with the will annexed, under bond of $600. There will be no appraisement. The widow has elected to accept the will.

Mrs. Heidrick and Her Babies Left Penniless and Friendless.

TALE TOLD WITH MANY TEARS

NEIGHBORS HELP FAMILY

Heartbroken and nearly crazed with grief, Mrs. Wilbur Heidrick, wife of the motorman who was soundly thrashed by his brothers-in-law and their father Tuesday night because he had left his wife to pay attention to a well known young woman of the city, is in terrible distress at her home, Jefferson and Fifth streets. So trying is her position that friends fear she may carry out her first intention and put a sudden end to her miserable existence.

Mrs. Heidrick was interviewed by a reporter of the News Review this morning at her home. While the poor woman talked she was absolutely unable to control her feelings, hot tears pouring down her cheeks in a stream. When met by the reporter she had just left the presence of her husband, and according to her statement he had just finished heaping coals of fire on her already aching heart.

"I don't know what to do," she said. "My husband has completely forsaken me. He told me a few minutes ago that he was going to leave me and my dear children and that he wants me to never claim him again as my husband. The thought is simply terrible. I am penniless and without friends. What on earth will ever become of me and my children? My parents in Steubenville have now turned against me, and I am thrown out on the cold world without a home, without a friend and without a penny. To say that I am heartbroken does not express my condition. I have always tried to live right and have treated my husband the best I knew, and now I am to be cruelly deserted by him and treated like a dog. He says he is going away and that he will never come back. I am afraid I can never stand the ordeal."

The picture presented by Mrs. Heidrick would appeal to the most hardened wretch that ever inhabited the civilized world. She is pretty and her reputation for goodness, kindness and all of the other attributes that go to make a pure woman could not be better. Those knowing her intimately are all indignant over the actions of her husband.

At noon today Heidrick was still in the city, but if he carries out his avowed determination he will leave before evening and his family will be left to subsist as best it can.

The family living next door to the Heidricks are highly indignant over the deplorable affair. It was necessary for them to furnish Mrs. Heidrick and her children with food yesterday. They did not have a morsel of eatables in the house and would have been starving but for the kindness shown them. The neighbor woman who prevented Mrs. Heidrick from suicide Tuesday night is suffering from burns received as a result of drops of the carbolic acid falling on her arm. She is in constant terror for fear that the frenzied woman will take her life in spite of interference and watching.

Just what the result of the affair will be cannot be predicted, but unless the proper authorities take some step it is feared that the life of Mrs. Heidrick will be cut off by her own hands.

THIEVES CAME THIS WAY

Valuable Horses And a Complete Outfit Were Stolen Near Warren.

Daring thieves entered the barn of Ray Dunwoody, a farmer living near Warren, on the night of July 28 and stole two of his most valuable horses, a pair of double harness, a fine new surrey and other paraphernalia. The officers were communicated with and the thieves were last seen coming toward this city.

Chief Wyman received word last evening to be on the lookout for the thieves and the team. He has instructed the police and a vigorous search will be instituted in this vicinity.

FINED FOR STRIKING A YOUNG WOMAN

Dutch Zoellers Paid $5 and Costs For Hitting Miss Minnie Lytle.

Pleading guilty to the charge of striking Miss Minnie Lytle on the mouth, Charles ("Dutch") Zoellers was fined $5 and costs by Mayor Weaver last night shortly before 9 o'clock.

Zoellers stated to the mayor that his wife had left his place of business on Walnut street early in the afternoon and when she failed to return to prepare his supper he started out in search of her. In a short time he located her in the saloon of C. B. Bowers, Franklin street, where she was in company with Miss Lytle. When he commenced to censure his spouse for her actions the Lytle girl interfered and he simply made her shut up by landing a gentle blow on her ruby lips.

Miss Lytle telephoned for the policeman and later Zoellers was arraigned.

THE CONTEST WAXING WARM

It Is Votes and Not Talk That Will Win and the Time Is Short.

TOMORROW THE LAST DAY

So spirited has become the rivalry among the leading candidates in the News Review's great popularity contest that some feeling has arisen. In a few instances candidates and their friends have been accused of employing tactics that were not regular.

The News Review is sincerely sorry that anything of the sort has occurred, and would advise the candidates who are interested in securing a place to get after the coupons instead of engaging in fruitless arguments. It will be more profitable. This paper has not a man in its employ who is taking any part in the contest, so far as the management is aware, and if a candidate or any of his friends has a charge to make that favoritism has been shown, he will confer a favor by reporting the same to this office at once. The News Review treats all alike. Each of the leaders had votes that counted yesterday, and the contest is warming up.

All ballots must be in by 6 o'clock tomorrow evening. As fast as counted the results of the balloting will be bulletined at the News Review office. The whole city is eagerly awaiting the outcome.

TO CIRCUIT COURT

The Hartley Will Case of Salineville Will Be Appealed, Error Being Alleged.

Lisbon, July 30.—(Special)—The Salineville case, in which Lina Hartley seeks to set aside the alleged will of Abraham Hartley, will be taken on error to the circuit court and the application of Byron Hudson and Frank Huxley that their bond be approved as executors named in the will has been continued until after the next term of circuit court.

PLANT TO START IN SEPTEMBER

BIG PLANS FOR THE FUTURE

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, July 30.—J. R. Rose, who has charge of the business of the Bell Pottery company, of Columbus, states that the firm is daily in receipt of applications for positions from all pottery towns of the country. Manager Albert S. Hughes is here and is looking after matters at the plant which is approaching completion. Mr. Rose said a start would probably be made in September. All the buildings are completed, but work has not been started on the kilns. It has not been determined whether to put in down draft or the ordinary kiln. The company is wrestling with this proposition just now. Mr. Rose says the sale of lots is progressing favorably, but not as lively as at the start. Between 400 and 600 hands will be employed in the new plant. The capacity will be increased to 24 kilns after the plant has been in operation a short time, if there is no change in plans, which will make it the largest single pottery in the United States, and, by including the company's pottery at Findlay, will make the concern the largest of the kind in the land.

The state board of appraisers and assessors will begin the work of appraising quasi-public service corporations early next month under the excise law imposing a tax of one-tenth of the per cent on the gross earnings. A comparison with the returns of this year with those of 1896 shows a great growth of telephone companies. In the latter year there were 18 such companies and now there are over 200.

Captain John Maynard, assistant clerk of the house of representatives, today formally announced his candidacy for the house clerkship, to succeed the late Burgess L. McElroy, who served two terms. He is now sending out notices of his candidacy to the Republican nominees for membership in the lower house. Dr. W. F. Cain, who represented Noble in the last house, is a strong candidate for the place.

DOG KILLING CASE ON TRIAL TODAY

John Montgomery Charged With Destroying Solicitor Davidson's Property.

The suit brought in the court of Justice H. P. McCarron by George E. Davidson against John Montgomery for malicious destruction of property, is being heard this afternoon.

The details of the brutal slaughter of Mr. Davidson's two valuable English setter dogs while in camp at Fernwood last week were given exclusive mention in the News Review a few days ago. Mr. Davidson is determined to have satisfaction and says he will carry the matter to the highest tribunal.

Attorney F. W. Lones, of Wellsville, and Mr. Davidson himself are conducting the prosecution, while Attorneys W. S. Potts and W. K. Gaston appear for the defendant.

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

BOOK ON CHINA.

In almost every household is treasured some piece of china, or, perhaps, some example of the poorest earthenware, which is valued beyond price. Around these pieces are crowded memories of the past too varied and too precious to be named. In short, they are sacred, so sacred as to have earned the dignity and title of household gods. This "Old China Book," by N. Hudson Moore, just published, reproduces in careful outline and sketch hundreds of specimens or examples of pottery which are expected to revive a thousand memories in the minds of readers. It was compiled, the author says, to meet the wants, expressed in hundreds of letters of those who own old china, particularly old English china, and who would like to know more about it and to stimulate others to whom the fascination of china collecting are as yet unknown.

The subject as it is treated in this book appeals to those who are interested in their country's history during the time when this colonial country cast aside its mother's hand and took its first step alone. It tends to stir the spirit of patroitism to look on the plain buildings our ancestors were content to view as "beauties." These and other sketches are to be found within the limits of a collection of "Old Blue." Then, apart from the peculiar interest of the Staffordshire wares, are those lovely English porcelains and pottery of the late eighteenth century. One of the earliest examples shown in this volume is the once familiar "Willow Pattern" in form of a platter.

The platter of "New York from Brooklyn Heights" is evidently photographed from an example which has yielded to the frequent cleansing of a fearful housewife, but what is left indicates a very delightful picture. Several examples of fish platters, showing the capitol at Washington, are decidedly ornate. The "Battle of Bunker Hill" is the picture on an old tray, part of a fruit dish. The round spots in the border are holes which pierce it, a curious style of ornamentation. As we see it on the china the battle seems almost a toy affair, the proverbial thin line of red broken by two little prancing horses in the middle.

For the near home feeling there are beautiful examples of plates in which are pictured the old City Hotel, New York; Scudder's American Museum, New York; Columbia college, New York; the Burning of the Merchants' Exchange, New York, and of St. Paul's Chapel, New York. There are state pieces, which appeal to those who delight in tracing commonwealth insignia; these are in examples of plates representing the state of New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Delaware and others; the examples of Louisville, Ky.; Sandusky, O., and Albany, N. Y. Among the examples of vases that named the "Jasper Vase," in lilac and white, is an exceedingly chaste piece of work. The original is in the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. But the number and variety of examples presented are too great to be even outlined here.

AWAITING A MEETING.

It is likely that a meeting of the stockholders of the East Liverpool Potteries company will be held some time within the next few weeks. The situation with the company is such as to demand a meeting soon and only the return to the city of the prominent stockholders has been awaited. John J. Purinton returned a few days ago from Boston and other eastern points and Robert Hall is expected home in a short time from Colorado Springs. Both are heavy stockholders of the corporation.

It will be remembered that while the dissolution of the combine has been decided upon the formal steps toward this end have not been taken and such a move is awaited with a great deal of impatience by stockholders, who will retain interests in the individual plants.

A SAD MESSAGE.

William Davidson, a sticker-up at Thompson's, was called to Hamilton, Ontario, yesterday by a telegram announcing that his little daughter, living there with his mother, had died very suddenly. The message did not state the particulars of the sad affair. Mr. Davidson had returned only two weeks ago from Hamilton and at that time the little girl was in excellent health. This is the second death in the Davidson family recently, Mrs. Davidson having died last winter from typhoid fever. Mr. Davidson left last night for Hamilton.

POTTER ROBBED.

T. J. Eisenhuth, the proprietor of a one-kiln art plant on Ravine street, told a News Review reporter yesterday that his home had been entered during the forenoon by robbers and pottery to the value of about $9 taken. Mr. and Mrs. Eisenhuth left home yesterday to spend a few hours down town and the robbery occurred in their absence. They left several doors and windows of the house unfastened and the robbers had no trouble in effecting an entrance. Mr. Eisenhuth claims that two men were seen leaving the premises by neighbors.

Eisenhuth is finding a local market for most of the ware made in his plant. He expects to make another kiln next month.

RUMORED ELOPEMENT.

It was reported today that Miss Maggie Dailey, a well known young lady of the West End, has been missing from the home of her mother, Mrs. Maggie Dailey, since Monday. Until that time Miss Dailey has been employed as forelady in one of the departments at Brunt's porcelain works and is well known in pottery circles. It is claimed that a well known young operative left town at the same time, and it is believed by their friends that they eloped to be married.

PAINFUL INJURY.

Jesse Colclough, jiggerman at the K., T. & K. pottery, met with an accident yesterday which will disqualify him for work for several days. His hand was caught in the jigger-head in some manner, and the thumb of his right hand was badly mashed. A physician dressed the wound and Mr. Colclough's jigger is idle today.

NEW FILTER PRESS.

The National has been installing new filter presses in its plant, which is not only a marked improvement, but will lessen the number of delays encountered in the past. The management of the National have succeeded in making the plant one of the pleasantest in the city in which to work.

HAY FEVER FOR 27 YEARS

Well Known New England Woman Cured By Hyomei—Cure Was Lasting.

The thousands of discouraged people who dread summer's approach because they think that hay fever cannot be avoided, will read with interest and gratitude the following statement from Helen F. Williams, of Mansfield, Mass.:

"For 27 years, from the month of August until heavy frost, I have been afflicted with hay fever, growing worse and worse each year, and of late years I was unable to attend to my work during that period.

"Last summer I fortunately gave Hyomei a trial and I am happy to say that it entirely cured me and I have had no return of the condition since."

This letter is one of the many that have come to the proprietors of Hyomei, and the results following this treatment have been so wonderful that it is proposed at the annual convention of hay fever sufferers to recommend Hyomei to all who are susceptible to this disease.

Hyomei is a treatment for hay fever that combines the latest discoveries of science and the best of common sense. Knowing that a change of climate was the only way in which relief could be obtained, the evolution of Hyomei naturally resulted. By breathing its germ killing and healing balsams, any one can have, at any moment of the day, either in their home, the office or the factory, a climate like that of the White Mountains or other health resorts, where hay fever is unknown.

Will Reed agrees to refund the money to any hay fever sufferer who uses Hyomei if it does not give satisfaction.

Indian Coolies for South Africa.

London, July 30.—The parliamentary correspondence on the South African labor question has been issued. Lord Milner, high commissioner for South Africa, telegraphed Colonial Secretary Chamberlain on May 12, 1903, urging the employment of 10,000 Indian coolies for work on the railways, the coolies to be forcibly repatriated at the end of their service. Lord Milner represented the labor problem to be alarming in South Africa. He reported that there were not enough natives there, if all worked, to meet the growing requirements for the development of the country's resources and that such a dilemma must eventually land the country in financial embarrassment.

Shown the Way Out of Town.

Idaho Springs, Col., July 30.—After a meeting of business men 500 citizens of Idaho Springs went to the city jail and took 14 of the men arrested in connection with the blowing up of the Sun and Moon mine buildings, marched them to the city limits, and told them to leave the place and never return. The men driven out include the president of the local union, the vice president, secretary and treasurer and two or three members of the executive committee. All the others are prominent members of the union. Some of the men complained that they had no money and a purse was made up for them. Everything was done in an orderly manner. The other prisoners were taken to Georgetown, the county seat.

Drivers Have Battle With Police.

New York, July 30.—The police reserves battled with a mob of striking drivers who began their fight for shorter hours against the New York Transfer company. The trouble was precipitated when one of the drivers who refused to join them made his appearance on Seventh avenue. The mob cut the traces from the horse, dumped the contents of the wagon into the gutter and then attacked the offending driver with knives.

Judge Gillmer to Resign.

Youngstown, O., July 30.—The announcement is made that Judge T. I. Gillmer, of Warren, will resign from the judgeship within a week or so. His term does not expire until next February and the election of his successor takes place this fall. If his resignation is given before the Republican convention there will be nominations for the short and long terms.

Electric Car Wrecked.

Anderson, Ind., July 30.—A wreck on the Union Electric company's road in the suburbs caused the death of Walter McGowan, of Alexandria, and injuries more or less serious to 17 passengers. The car was going full speed when it struck a short curve. The brakes failed to work and the car shot from the track and turned over.

Buried 32,000 in His Lifetime.

Columbus, O., July 30.—Adam Stephens, who in his 77 years of life buried more than 32,000 people, is dead. For 35 years he had been superintendent of Greenlawn cemetery in this city. He was born near Lancaster, Pa., but had lived here most of his life.

Only High Price of Manufacturing Sites Keeps Them Out.

APPLICATIONS ARE MANY

So desirable is East Liverpool, owing to its location, for almost any kind of an industry that there is scarcely a week passes in which some city official does not get a letter of inquiry from some firm regarding a site within its corporate limits. Foreign business men realize the value of the Crockery City's location from the standpoint of its close proximity to Pittsburg. As a matter of fact East Liverpool is strictly in the Pittsburg district, and as that district is considered the busiest and most flourishing in the United States, it is not considered strange that applications galore are received for permanent building here.

The numerous applications received lately have been given due consideration and a number of them have been looked upon with favor, but owing to certain existing conditions those interested have been compelled to make the reply: "Your proposition is all right and we would like to assist you in locating in this city, but we are powerless, owing to the fact that people who have property for sale have rated it at such a figure that we know it would be useless to consult you further."

As was stated recently in the News Review one of the biggest concerns in the east applied for a site in the city and was very anxious that some kind of a deal be made whereby it could get a location. Business men took the proposition into careful consideration, viewed a number of desirable sites and could have closed a deal but for the property owners, who upon learning that their property was in demand immediately raised the selling price to almost double the amount usually asked by them. Until such conditions cease it is not very likely that any new industries will settle in the city, and it is hoped by many that a change will soon be noted.

The following letter received by Mayor Weaver from Indianapolis is a sample of the offers made during the past few weeks:

"Mayor of East Liverpool, East Liverpool, O.

"Dear Sir—I have clients who are looking for a location for a steel casting company. They are practical men in the business, expect to erect a first-class plant and to live in the town where it is located and manage it personally. They will guarantee to employ 50 men at the start, 100 men within 12 months and 150 men within two years. They estimate the number of their employes much greater, but will guarantee the above. They are looking for a location where labor can be procured and where the town is willing to offer a site and $20,000 bonus to secure the factory. They will contract to have the factory built and running before one dollar of the bonus is to be paid, and to give any other assurance which may be required to show that they mean business. If your city is interested in this matter I will be glad to hear from you, or to have you refer this to your Business Men's association or such other person or organization as will give it attention.

"Yours very truly,

"W. H. LATTA."

The mayor will turn the letter over to parties likely to be interested. If East Liverpool had an active board of trade, opportunities are constantly being presented for securing new industries.

Case Under Advisement.

Lisbon, July 30.—(Special.)—The case of W. G. Bentley, of Salem, as administrator of the estate of Martha Street, versus William J. Street et al, heirs of the deceased, was on trial yesterday morning and afternoon and was taken under advisement. The administrator had petitioned for the sale of certain real estate, including the Street homestead, and Judge B. S. Ambler, of Salem, who is a party defendant, claims an interest in the property by virtue of a mortgage, which the administrator contends the heirs had no right to give.

INJURED IN WRECK

Excursion Train on Bessemer Road Crashes Into Rear of Freight.

Butler, Pa., July 30.—An excursion train of nine coaches, loaded with 500 picknickers, bound from Butler to Oil City on the Protected Home Circle picnic, crashed into the rear of a northbound freight train at Carter station, five miles south of Grove City, on the Pittsburg, Bessemer and Lake Erie railroad. A score of passengers were injured, and only the slow rate of speed at the time prevented fatalities. The injured are:

Miss Leah Rogers, Butler; arm and head cut.
Tracy Renshaw, Butler; cut on head.
John Schuring, Butler; cut and bruised slightly.
George Campbell, Butler; head cut.
Lillian Sarver, Butler; head cut.
Isaac Scanlon, newsboy; head bruised and forehead cut.
Mrs. Howe Lyon, Jr., elbow dislocated.
Jane Long, Buttercup; nose broken.
W. L. Beatty, Prospect; elbow cut and back bruised.
Howard Gardner, Butler; cut on head.
Alonzo C. Connery, Butler, arteries cut on left wrist.
Mrs. C. A. Hite, Butler; chin cut and fact bruised.
Moses Bell, engine driver; hands and face cut.
E. F. Henry, fireman; back bandly sprained.

The train was in charge of Conductor Charles Kamerer, who escaped injury. W. L. Beatty, of Prospect, got his injuries by being knocked out of the rear door. Attorney Schuring, of Butler, was thrown violently down the aisle. A flagman had been sent back from the freight 20 minutes before the accident occurred to stop the excursion train. After the crash a panic ensued among the passengers.

After a delay of an hour and 30 minutes the engine was raised upon the rails and the excursion continued to Oil City, where the injured had their wounds carefully dressed. The debris of the freight blocked two tracks for two hours.

Work of Conference Endorsed.

Denver, July 30.—The national executive committee of the United Peoples party endorsed all the proceedings of the conference of the reform parties which has been in session in this city for the past two days. The proclamation was also endorsed. A resolution was adopted calling a meeting of the national executive committee of the United Peoples party to be held at St. Louis Feb. 22, 1904. It was also resolved that it was the sense of the committee that the nominating committee should be held early in 1904, before the conventions of either the Republicans or the Democrats. A committee on organization was appointed to organize reform parties in every state in the union.

EAST END

PITTSBURG CAPITALISTS WANT A FACTORY SITE

Have Been Negotiating With a Real Estate Firm for Land in the East End.

The fact that Pittsburg capitalists have been negotiating for a factory site in the East End during the past week has aroused a great deal of speculation as for what purpose the land is wanted. The Smoky City people have visited the East End and looked over the territory, but if they divulged their intentions the secret is being very closely guarded.

Negotiations have been in progress for several days with a well known real estate firm, controlling a very desirable factory site, but no deal has as yet been closed. It is the general belief among those interested in the proposed deal that the site is not wanted for a clay making plant, and the prospect for some new industry is most pleasing.

TRACK TO BE RAISED

C. & P. Railroad Company Will Place Tracks on a Level With the City Street Grades.

The tracks of the C. & P. railroad, from a point near the culvert at Ralston crossing to the state line, are to be raised 18 inches above the present grade. At present the tracks are below the established street grades of the city, and it has been found almost impossible to keep them in proper condition. Stone ballasting is to be used in the work, which is to commence within the next few weeks.

New crossing plates are to be installed at the Mulberry street crossing when the old track is raised and the new one laid. The plates have been on the ground for some time.

Another Family Row.

Officer Fisher was called to Calhoun's addition yesterday morning shortly before noon to take a hand in one of the many family disputes which have been numerous of late in that section. It is stated that blows were passed between a husband and wife as the result of a little difference of opinion and the woman then telephoned to the East End station for an officer. The husband took advantage of the space necessary for the officer to reach the scene and made good his escape. No charge was preferred by the woman and her husband can return to his home without fear of being molested by the police.

Dr. Pratt Will Preach.

Rev. Dr. M. B. Pratt, of the First Methodist church, has accepted the invitation of Rev. N. M. Crowe to preach in the Second Presbyterian church tomorrow evening. The service will be largely attended, as it is preparatory to communion, which will be observed at the church Sunday, and from the fact that the members of the congregation are anxious to hear Dr. Pratt preach. Rev. Mr. Crowe will preside at the communion service Sunday morning.

YOUNG THEOLOGUE'S MISSIONARY WORK

Gave Rise to Rumors Which Grew Into the Proportions of a White-cap Crusade.

Mysterious occurrences at Winona within the past two weeks have caused something of a sensation in the small village, and have given rise to reports which were greatly exaggerated concerning "whitecaps." The mysterious appearance of numerous scriptural texts tacked on doors, fences and thrown on steps, gave rise to various tales. For a time a number of the residents of the village were quite indignant over these procedures.

It has now turned out that the cause of the commotion was nothing but the misdirected efforts of a theological student, who conceived the idea of promulgating the cause of righteousness by clandestinely pasting verses, cards, and texts of scripture on gates, barn doors and porches at different places in the neighborhood.

POSSE QUITS SEARCH FOR WM. JACKSON

Sebring Wife Shooter Still at Large And Seems to Have Made Good His Escape.

Sebring, July 30.—(Special.)—The posse has withdrawn from the search for William Jackson, the Sebring wife shooter, and it is believed that he has made good his escape from the immediate neighborhood. The belief that he has committed suicide in the woods is held by but few people. Jackson is armed with the weapon he used on the night of the tragedy.

Physicians at the Alliance hospital stated today that Mrs. Jackson had shown a slight improvement, but that complications are sure to set in which will result in her death ultimately. She may linger for several weeks.

Temporary Truce Declared.

Detroit, July 30.—An agreement has been reached between the striking firemen, oilers and helpers and Superintendent Stanley, of the Detroit United railway, and the men temporarily resumed work under the old conditions. Negotiations, however, will be resumed where they were broken off by the strike and a conference seeking an adjustment of all differences will be held Monday afternoon.

Actress Suicides in Chicago.

Chicago, July 30.—Miss Anna Poston, an actress, 24 years of age, shot and killed herself in her room at the Inter Ocean hotel. Miss Sally Price, her roommate, stated that Miss Poston had been grieving over something for the past two weeks and had made frequent references to suicide. From letters the police learned that she had a sister, Mrs. Mattie Weinns, living in Binghamton, N. Y.

New Counterfeit.

Washington, July 30.—A new issue of the counterfeit of the United States (buffalo) note, described in the press dispatches of Oct. 17, 1902, has been discovered. The check letter has been changed from "C" to "B" and the plate number from 57 to 52. Otherwise the notes are the same.

Shot Rival With Winchester.

RAMPOLLA GETS LUCKY NUMBER

Said to Signify "Pope"—Gotti Not Prejudiced Against America—Conclave Commences Saturday Morning. Sixty-Two Cardinals to Be Present.

Rome, July 30.—Cardinal Oreglia invited the cardinals to enter the conclave on Friday afternoon. The doors will not, however, be closed until Saturday morning and the conclave will not commence until then.

Lots were drawn for the "cells" which the cardinals will occupy during the conclave. The "cell" bearing No. 58 fell to Cardinal Rampolla. According to the cabalistic code of the Roman populace, No. 58 signifies "pope," and since the drawing of lots for the conclave "cells" not a single man or woman among the lower classes of the Roman population has the slightest doubt of Rampolla's election to the chair of St. Peter.

Cardinal Gibbons' cell number is 29, second floor of the court of St. Damascus, in the vatican.

Cardinal Logue's Opinion.

Cardinal Logue, archbishop of Armagh, had an interview with Cardinal Gibbons. When asked what he thought of the objections frequently mentioned against Cardinal Gotti being elected pope on the ground that his being a member of a religious order would prevent him from dealing in a broad spirit with Catholic problems in America and Great Britain, he said:

"It is absurd. Cardinal Gotti was formerly an internuncio and has mixed with the representatives of the various powers. He knows the prevailing conditions as well as anybody. Just because he is a Carmelite, it does not follow that he is narrow-minded. Moreover, it is unreasonable to attribute too much weight to the personality of the new pope. International matters and internal policy are now almost invariably settled by commissions of cardinals, who, under the late Pope Leo, have directed their departments just as much as the heads of departments of a civil government direct their departments.

"But, whatever may be possible it is not likely that he will attempt to make any changes in policy without being careful to take the advice of those commissions which have heretofore directed the policy of the vatican."

With the arrival here of Cardinal Prisco, archbishop of Naples, the number of cadinals who will participate in the conclave is complete and totals 62.

Dramatic Contrast.

Rome during the morning was the scene of one of those dramatic contrasts which are now characteristic of the Eternal City. While at the vatican, in the sistine chapel, a solemn requiem mass was being intoned, with all the solemnity the Catholic church can impose, for the repose of the soul of Leo XIII, the spiritual monarch who claimed Rome as his capitol, another and no less solemn requiem mass was being celebrated in the magnificent pantheon for the repose of the soul of the late King Humbert, the temporal monarch, the capital of whose kingdom was Rome.

In the evening there was a public procession through the streets to the tombs of King Humbert and King Victor Emmanuel. It passed off quietly, though thousands of persons witnessed the demonstration and the procession itself was over a mile in length.

GRAND CHIEF YOUNGSON DEAD

Expired in City Hospital in Meadville This Morning—Appointed Successor.

Cleveland, July 30.—A dispatch received here says A. B. Youngson, who succeeded to the grand chieftainship of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers on the death of Chief P. M. Arthur, died at Meadville, Pa., at 2:40 o'clock this morning.

Meadville, Pa., July 30.—Grand Assistant Chief Engineer A. B. Youngson, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, who is lying at the point of death in Meadville City hospital, and who by the recent sudden death of Chief P. M. Arthur became the executive head of the brotherhood, named M. H. Shay, of Youngstown, O., as his successor, to act in case of his death. Shay is chairman of the committee of adjustment in the brotherhood on the Erie and one of the most capable men in the order.

A PURE HEART, A CLEAN MIND AND A DEEP SENSE OF COURTESY AND CONSIDERATION FOR OTHERS AT ALL TIMES ARE THE REQUISITES OF A GENTLEMAN. It has been said that some of our most perfect ladies and gentlemen—in the strict interpretation of the term—are found in the almshouses today. A gentleman may be recognized in any circle no matter what his attire, and this goes to prove that POSITION AND WEALTH HAVE NOTHING TO DO WITH THE MAKING OF A GENTLEMAN. Environment brings out the good and bad in a gentleman, and if a child is reared in refinement he has the advantage of the child carelessly reared. YOU CAN ALWAYS TELL A GENTLEMAN BY HIS ATTITUDE TOWARD OTHERS.

By BOOKER T. WASHINGTON

THERE are several influences that are constantly exerting themselves against the negro growing up on the soil at present. One of these is THE LACK OF PUBLIC SCHOOL FACILITIES. In the cities the negro parent finds a comfortable schoolhouse and a school in session eight or nine months.

Another thing which sends a larger number of negroes to the cities than many realize is the surety of getting police protection when one is charged with a crime.

FOR EVERY LYNCHING OR ATTEMPT AT LYNCHING IN THE COUNTRY A SCORE OF NEGROES LEAVE FOR THE CITY.

COUNTY AND NEIGHBORHOOD

Elder James Calvin, of Youngstown, known as "the marrying parson," is dead at the age of 90. He had resided in that city since 1832.

A man believed to be Andrew Brindzke, of New Castle, was killed at Lowellville. He was getting off a B. & O. train when he fell under.

The convention to nominate a successor to Congressman Gill will meet at Steubenville September 22. The primaries will be held September 16.

Isaac Kille, a prominent Damascus citizen, has been taken to Massillon asylum for treatment. He was ill for several weeks which terminated in insanity.

Jesse R. Maple, who lives on Yellow Creek, just above the mouth of Brush creek, is hale and hearty at the age of 94. He was born on the farm where he now lives.

Peter Calambros met with death by burning in a horrible way at the Mingo Junction steel plant. A big splash of hot metal enveloped him and burned every inch of his body.

Amos Deun, of Warren, was bothered with ants and he poured gasoline into an ant hole at the side of the house. The blaze killed the ants, but badly damaged one side of his home, which was scorched by the blaze.

Court at Youngstown overruled the motion for a new trial in the case of Michael Schiller, a saloonkeeper, convicted of murder in the first degree for stabbing his wife to death and sentenced him to be electrocuted at Columbus on Tuesday, November 10.

George Rice, aged 11 years, son of James M. Rice, proprietor of the Crown Mineral Spring bottling works at Alliance, died from injuries received by the explosion of a pop bottle. A piece of glass penetrated his left side and severed an artery.

A Woman's Complexion.

It is rank foolishness to, attempt to remove sallowness or greasiness of the skin by the use of cosmetics, or "local" treatment, as advocated by the "beauty doctors." The only safe and sure way that a woman can improve her complexion is by purifying and enriching the blood, which can only be accomplished by keeping the liver healthy and active. The liver is the seat of disease and blood pollution. Green's August Flower acts directly on the liver, cleanses and enriches the blood, purifies the complexion. It also cures constipation, biliousness, nervousness, and induces refreshing sleep. A single bottle of August Flower has been known to cure the most pronounced and distressing cases of dyspepsia and indigestion. New size trial bottle, 25 cents: regular size, 75 cents. BABY'S VOICE

Is the joy of the household, for without it no happiness can be complete. How sweet the picture of mother and babe, angels smile at and commend the thoughts and aspirations of the mother bending over the cradle. The ordeal through which the expectant mother must pass, however, is so full of danger and suffering that she looks forward to the hour when she shall feel the exquisite thrill of motherhood with indescribable dread and fear. Every woman should know that the danger, pain and horror of child-birth can be entirely avoided by the use of Mother's Friend, a scientific liniment for external use only, which toughens and renders pliable all the parts, and assists nature in its sublime work. By its aid thousands of women have passed this great crisis in perfect safety and without pain. Sold at $1.00 per bottle by druggists. Our book of priceless value to all women sent free. THE RAILROAD PROBLEM.

The railroad problem, which has been before the city council for almost a year, should be settled without unnecessary delay. Otherwise the improvements which East Liverpool earnestly desires and greatly needs will be delayed indefinitely. Already needless quibbling has led to such procractination that the improvements which the railroad company is making all along its line are less advanced in this city than at almost any other point whereas this ought to have been one of the first spots where the double track should have been completed early and put to use. Manufacturers and merchants and all others who deal with the railroad company are constantly hampered and annoyed by delayed shipments and delayed deliveries of freight, and this state of affairs is bound to continue as long as the railroad company is restrained from extending its facilities here.

The News Review is no apologist for the Pennsylvania company, and fully agrees with those who argue that the city owes that corporation nothing. Yet the Cleveland & Pittsburg is the only railroad the city has, and with it we must deal. It is not wise, therefore, for East Liverpool to place unnecessary obstructions in the way of the railroad constructing a system of double tracks, which will be of vast benefit to the city, as well as to the railroad. There has been too much disputing over streets and alleys that are unnamed, unopened and unused and likely to continue so indefinitely. These are not matters of vital importance to the city. The really important issues involved are whether there shall be a station in the East End, protection for dangerous grade crossings and improved facilities for reaching the company's cars with teams for the purpose of unloading freight after it has reached the city. The board of public service, which is largely composed of manufacturers and business men, does not seem disposed to insist upon the erection of a freight station upon the hill. Certainly the board is in a position to know whether or not business interests demand that concession.

If a majority of the manufacturers are satisfied with what the railroad company is disposed to grant—and whether they are or not can be ascertained very easily—that fact should go a long way toward satisfying the people, whose prosperity depends so largely on the prosperity of the city's industrial establishments. The railroad company has conceded much and may be prevailed upon to concede more. The city should certainly make the very best bargain possible and have a contract with no loopholes in it. Now, when the railroad is asking favors, is the time to see that the city gets what it is entitled to. The needs of the future, as well as those of the present, should be carefully kept in mind in making the contract, as the city's growth is bound to be great, and no one wants to see its expansion hindered. But the whole proposition is a business one and should be dealt with in a business way. It is not business to halt and hem and haw and postpone. The questions involved are already so well understood that further discussion of them is needless. Tackle the problem and settle it, and hasten the coming of the day when the railroad will be able to serve its patrons promptly. Croaking and knocking and railing against corporations will do no good, and have already done much harm in delaying settlement of questions which the business men of the city are impatient to see settled, that improvements may proceed without interruption.

The people of Ohio will have a chance to vote next November on a constitutional amendment giving the general assembly power to divide the cities of the state into three classes. The first class is to include cities of 100,000 population and over; the second, cities from 25,000 to 100,000 population and the third those under 25,000. The legislature is authorized to provide a proper form of government for cities of each class. The only objection that has been advanced against this proposed amendment is that it will result in a "tearing up" of the governments just established under the new code; and that the plan of uniformity should be given a trial. Those who take this ground have overlooked the word "may" in the amendment. Should it be adopted, it will not require the legislature to act under it at once. If the majority feels like giving the uniform plan a trial for two years, it can do so. The amendment is not mandatory; it is permissive.

The secretary of the Democratic state committee, referring to the Ohio Democratic senatorial candidate, says: "Any Democrat who voted three times for Cleveland and twice for Bryan will do." In other words, a candidate who is unlikely to know where he "is at" at present is wanted. Under this ruling every county in the state could furnish anywhere from 2 to 200 candidates. But it won't make a bit of difference what selection is made. The game will be interesting only in the candidacy stage.

England's latest and biggest battle ship will cost $7,500,000. Her tonnage is 16,530, which is but a small fraction greater than that of two American battle ships under construction. It takes a long purse to keep in the modern naval swim.

A New York man has just awakened from a sleep of 44 days. Philadelphia should look to her laurels. With practice he may be able to beat her best record.

The railroad problem has passed the talking stage. Now is the time for action.

Construction Will Be Pushed As Rapidly As Possible on C. A. Smith's New Railway.

The interrupted work on the new car line to the East End of the city has been resumed and the construction force is being added to as fast as the men can be secured. Yesterday afternoon there were 10 or 12 men at work and this number has been increased today. According to the statements of C. A. Smith and his associates the line will now be rushed to completion.

Contractor Coates, who with his men commenced the construction of the line, is expected here this evening. Engineer Bryan is also expected from Pittsburg. Owing to the uncertainty of the time of a decision being reached in the injunction proceedings both of these men left the city to look after other interests. Contractor Coates will bring with him a number of men experienced in street car construction.

A feeling of relief prevails among the people along the proposed route of the new line and particularly in the neighborhood where the streets have remained torn up on account of the injunction. Mr. Smith states that these streets will be placed in good condition at once.

The necessary material to proceed with the work is at hand and additional shipments will be received as needed. No further delay in the completion of the line is expected.

There is but one thing to hinder the speedy construction of the line at the present time. Though there are seemingly plenty of laborers in the vicinity it has been found difficult to get sufficient men to work on the line, and the contractor will be handicapped greatly unless conditions change. Not only are laborers in demand but teams and teamsters are hard to find. Having a plentiful supply of ties, rails, etc., the contractor is able to push the work with dispatch, if he can only get the men.

Orders of Interest in Connection With the Settlement of Estates.

Lisbon, July 30.—(Special)—The late Thomas T. Hamilton, of Wellsville, left no will and the widow, Lizzie Hamilton, has been appointed administratrix. Bond, $5,000. Appraisers, A. H. Bulger, John I. Hodson and Will Reed.

Michael V. Ryan, as administrator of the estate of James F. Ryan, of Wellsville, has been given an order for the private sale of real estate. An additional bond of $7,000 has been required.

Louis Weirick has been appointed executor of the late John Weirick, of Salem. No bond required.

Susanna Lodge, of Leetonia, as guardian of Walter G. and Orlan Lodge, has been given an order for the appraisement of six tracts in Salem township.

Go Prepared.

In preparing for your summer outing a little forethought may save you no end of trouble. Mr. John H. Manly, a dry goods merchant, of Bellville, R. I., while packing an outfit for camping a few weeks on Narragansett Bay, put in a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for emergency use. The second day in camp his little boy was taken with cramp colic. The first dose of this remedy gave relief and the second dose effected a cure. Think of the pain and suffering this boy would have had to endure without this remedy at hand to relieve him. Such cases often result fatally. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

A Foolish Pair

Mr. and Mrs. Googoobird were very economical and careful creatures, and it happened that in a few years they managed to lay by a nice little sum of money. One day they agreed to buy new clothes and begin to enjoy life.

So Mr. Googoobird purchased a pretty straw hat, and Mrs. Googoobird purchased a beautiful spring bonnet. Then they put on these fine things and flew out to the road, where they perched upon the milestone to wait for the other birds and animals to pass by and say nice things about them.

But all the time nobody came their way to admire them, and they wondered why that was so. They still waited, however.

Now, the truth of the matter was that there was a small black cloud in the sky that was getting larger every minute, and all the animals were afraid to venture from their homes until after the storm, for they were sure that the cloud meant rain. The Googoobirds were so pleased with themselves that they never once thought of clouds or rain, and when the rain did come it took them by surprise.

My, how it did rain! And, my, how their poor hats did suffer! Mrs. Googoobird's feathers were so thoroughly soaked with water that they were simply washed off her hat, and black dye from the band of Mr. Googoobird's hat ran down into his eyes. Their fine things were utterly ruined, but they learned a very good lesson, and that lesson was that clothes are not everything in this world. Good common sense is worth much more.—Detroit Journal.

Horses of Celebrated Men.

It is generally known that Napoleon's white stallion, the horse he rode at Waterloo, was named Marengo and that Wellington's charger in the same battle was Copenhagen. The latter lived to be twenty-seven years old. The remains of Marengo are preserved in the Museum of the United Services, London. Do you remember the names of any of George Washington's horses? In nearly all of the Washington statues the Father of His Country is represented as on horseback, but what is the name of the animal he bestrides? Richard III. owned White Surrey, and it was for that splendid animal that he cried when he shouted, "My kingdom for a horse!" William III.'s favorite horse, Sorrel, had one eye. Savoy, the black horse of Charles VII. of France, also had only one eye.

WELLSVILLE

THIS IS REFRESHING

Wellsville, Despite Hot Weather, Is Talking of a Skating Park.

If the present plans of a number of the heavy stockholders of the Central base ball park are carried out, Wellsville will have one of the finest ice skating parks in this section of the state the coming winter. It is the intention of these stockholders to convert the park into a skating pond as soon as the base ball season is over, and work will be commenced toward making the change at that place.

A six inch curb is to be placed inside the park and a certain distance from the fence and the water is to be put on the inside of this curb. By this plan it will be unnecessary to make any excavation or tear up the ball field in any way. The ice is to be frozen by an artificial process similar to that used in a majority of the skating parks. The ice is to be kept about five inches thick and frozen to the ground. In this way it is claimed that it will remain frozen longer and give a much smoother surface for the skaters.

W. C. Connor is the prime mover in the project. He believes that much money can be made if a good skating park is constructed. The former plan of the stockholders, to use the park for a foot ball field during the fall, has been abandoned.

NEW PUMPING STATION

Duquesne Engineering Company, $17,772, the Lowest Bidder for the Work.

Three bids were submitted for the construction of the new pumping station. They were opened today at noon and the bid of the Duquesne Engineering company, of Pittsburg, $17,772, was the lowest.

Though the contract was awarded this company it will likely be at another meeting to be held this week.

Rural Carrier Found.

Civil Service Examiner E. W. Crawford, of Washington, D. C., was in the city Tuesday afternoon, when he examined two applicants for the rural free delivery route. The applicants were Miss Sylvia Culman and M. C. Excell. Mr. Crawford will make a report on their standing in a short time. Postmaster Snowden has appointed A. G. McBane, of California Mills, to carry the route commencing Monday, August 3. He has already passed the examination and waits the route until some regular carrier can be secured.

To Organize a Band.

Mayor W. L. Fogo has issued an official call to all of the musicians in the city and those who are interested in the formation of a brass band of a meeting to be held in the city hall for the above purpose this evening. It is expected that a band of at least 15 or 16 pieces can be formed. There are enough instruments in the hands of those interested in the project to equip the entire band and it is hoped that as many as possible will attend the meeting.

Sunday School Picnic.

The annual outing and picnic of the Sunday school of the First United Evangelical church and the Bethel Mission was held today at Columbian park in the East End, East Liverpool. Over 100 children attended and the day was most enjayably spent. The majority of the children were under the care of their parents or a guardian, but the others were looked after by the pastor of both churches, Rev. W. A. Vandersall.

Scattered Pottery Casks.

A runaway occurred in the neighborhood of the Smith-McNicol pottery yesterday which did not result in much damage. A team of horses hitched to a dray of loaded pottery casks ran off at breakneck speed, throwing the driver to the ground. All of the casks rolled out of the dray before the horses were stopped. The driver was uninjured. The team became frightened at a blast which sounded nearby.

Money Left Over.

The committees who had the Fourth of July celebration in charge met last evening at the city hall at which time the financial business connected with the celebration was settled up. It was found that the total expenditures of the celebration amounted to $452, which does not include the $25 to be awarded to the firm having the best vehicle in the parade. The total amount received, including all donations, was $480, which, when the $25 prize has been awarded, will leave a balance in the treasury of $3. The parade committee the first of the week will award the $25 prize.

Real Estate Deals.

A house and lot belonging to Estella Hoffman, situated on Commerce street, West End, has been sold to George and William Sheckler, of Chester, for $750. The same men purchased three houses and lots on Fourteenth street at a cost of about $1,600 from A. C. Van Dyke.

Repairs at the Depot.

A number of much needed repairs are being made at the Third street depot. A new lavatory is being put in and also a new floor in the men's waiting room. The office of the assistsuperintendent, J. W. Coney, has been entirely remodeled and refurnished.

Will Play at Empire.

The West End Athletic club, which is classed as the second base ball team of Wellsville, will go to Empire Saturday and in the afternoon will play the strong team of that village.

New Rules.

E. L. Wilson and Byron D. Beacom, who comprise the board of public safety, are now hard at work preparing new rules and regulations for the police and fire departments.

Will Probably Be in the McCutcheon Building on Virginia Avenue.

The committee which was appointed a few days ago to select and make arrangements to secure quarters for the new Industrial bank, have lost no time since given authority to proceed, and it is now almost certain that the bank will be located in the McCutcheon building on Virginia avenue.

The committee approached Mr. McCutcheon several days ago, and the chances for securing the room were thought to be of the best since the drug man is contemplating the erection of a residence and business room on his new property at the corner of Virginia avenue and Second street. The only difficulty which confronts the parties to the deal is the fact that the bank people desire that the location for the bank be in readiness within 60 days.

Even if the contract for Mr. McCutcheon's new building were let at once it would hardly be in shape to move into in the 60 days' limit. However, all are taking a breathing spell in which to figure, and if it is at all possible for the drug man to rush the work on his new building so as to have it ready for occupancy in the limited time allowed, the present drug store site will be rented to the bank. The location is a very desirable one, and is thought by the committee to be commodious enough to accommodate the institution for several years to come, or until the company would decide to erect a building of its own.

GOOD ROADS MOVEMENT

A Supervisor in Brooke County Setting a Good Example to Others.

The Wellsburg Herald, which is interested in the good roads movement, says:

"Robert McNabb, road supervisor, reports that his work on the roads near Collier is about done so far as his present contracts are concerned. His next work on the Cross Creek roads will be the improvement by macadamizing of one and one-quarter miles of road between Ebenezer church and Sanders' mill. He expects to begin work in a few days. McNabb, with J. T. Douglas and one or two others, were the Brooke county delegates to the recent road convention held at Morgantown. He reports that the meeting resulted in great good and that many had come from the lower counties a hundred miles or more on horseback, so eager were they for information, displaying an interest that should be emulated by those in the northern counties."

The farmers of Hancock county, especially those who attended the convention at Morgantown, are vitally interested in the movement, and it is probable action will be taken very soon toward improving the country roads in this section of the state. The country people feel that they have neglected the agitation quite long enough. The roads leading into Chester from every rural district become actually impassable during the winter, and all are awake to the fact that the time for action is at hand.

WORK RESUMED

Delay Was Short in Resuming Operations at Hadley Farm Well.

The members of the Chester Oil & Gas company consider themselves the most fortunate individuals in the whole state of West Virginia. At an early hour Wednesday morning the tools being used in the well on the Hadley farm were lost, and the drillers felt sure a long job of fishing was on hand. The mishap was caused by the jars breaking, and this is considered the very worst kind of luck. The drillers were further handicapped by the absence of clutches of any sort.

Edward Stewart, who is an expert oil man, and who has been superintending the work, was equal to the emergency, and in a very short time had rigged up an improvised grappling apparatus. The arrangement was a crude affair but it answered the purpose in a very satisfactory manner. Wickets were quickly cut in the jars, and the new appliance took hold at once. It was only a short time after the breakage occurred until the drillers were able to resume their operations.

Word was sent to the interested ones in Chester that the damage had been repaired and the members of the company, who had been badly discouraged since the break was reported, commenced making renewed preparations to visit the well. New estimates were made as to the length of time it would take to bring the well to a finished state, and early this morning the stockholders in large numbers went to the Hadley farm to witness the finish.

GREAT TRANSFORMATION

An Attraction of Unusual Interest at Rock Springs Theater Next Week.

Manager M. Shay, of the "Choir Transformation," has just closed with Manager Franklin for the appearance of his attraction at Rock Springs park next week. The lovers of fine music are delighted with the prospect of an opportunity to hear this new act before it is taken into New York for the coming season.

Mr. Shay and his stage director, M. O'Brien, have been rehearsing the piece for the past two weeks, and it has now reached a degree of perfection which surprises even the promoters. Miss Kathryn McFadden will be seen at her best, while Master Earl Troupe, who arrived this week, has been hard at work upon his music for several days. The scenic and electrical effects for this great transformation are said to surpass anything of the sort ever attempted, and will undoubtedly attract large crowds during the entire week.

Arrested for Picking Berries.

Stephen Canady and Albert Buchheit were arrested for trespass yesterday, the charge being filed by Benton Newell, upon whose farm the men had been picking blackberries. The men were arraigned in the court of Justice A. G. Pugh and upon pleading guilty were each fined $3 and costs. Canady was able to pay, but Buchheit did not have the money and was remanded to jail. Both were from East Liverpool.

Bought Valuable Property.

C. T. McCutcheon, the Virginia avenue drug man, has closed the deal for the lot at the southeast corner of Virginie avenue and Second street, buying it from William Croxall. The property is one of the most desirable in the city as a residence location. The lot includes the space occupied by the present postoffice building. The new owner expects to erect a fine residence in the near future.

CHESTER NOTES.

Mrs. L. A Smith, of Phoenix avenue, is ill.

Alexander Allison, who has been ill for a week, is improving.

James Welsh, of Fairview, is the guest of Lawrence Baxter today.

Miss Rachel Baxter and sister, Miss Ruth, are the guests of relatives at Fairview.

W. H. Sterling, who has been ill with rheumatism for the past four weeks, is better.

Ground will be broken soon for the construction of two dwellings on Pennsylvania avenue, to be built by John Shrader.

Mrs. Rev. Bruce Gillis, with her sister, Mrs. Smith, departed yesterday for Xenia, where the ladies will visit their parents.

Justice W. C. Johnston, who has been ill for several weeks, has recovered sufficiently to be able to resume his duties as postmaster.

Robert Hobbs, who recently disposed of his interests in the firm of Allison & Hobbs, will be employed by the new firm of J. C. Lewis & Co.

Mrs. Dr. George E. Lewis and Miss Spear are spending today in Wellsville, the guests of Miss Anna Moore, bookkeeper at the Chester grocery.

The tin mill is once more running full in every department. All of the mill men who have been out of town arrived early in the week and are at work.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles St. Clair, of Carolina avenue, have returned from an extended visit to Monroe county. They were guests at the home of Mrs. St. Clair's parents.

The household goods of J. C. Lewis arrived in Chester yesterday from Knsington. Mr. Lewis and family will reside at the corner of Carolina avenue and Second street.

Depositions are being taken today in the case of Ellen Gibson versus James Gibson, which comes up for trial at New Cumberland shortly. Mrs. Gibson seeks legal separation, and a large number of witnesses are being examined before Justice W. C. Johnston today.

Under the direction of A. Dinerstein the theatre and upper cafe at Rock Springs park are being re-painted. The work is nearly completed, and the new buildings present a handsome appearance.

The whereabouts of Stage Manager Joe Bradley is still a mystery. Careful inquiry is being made in every city for miles around, and it is hoped the authorities will be able to locate him soon.

Prof. James M. Miller, will have charge of the Chester schools the coming year. He is a Hancock county boy, who formerly taught in Chester and last year had charge of the Holliday's Cove high school.

Catarrh of the Stomach.

When the stomach is overloaded; when food is taken into it that fails to digest, it decays and inflames the mucous membrane, exposing the nerves, and causes the glands to secret mucin, instead of the natural juices of digestion. This is called catarrh of the stomach. "For years I suffered with catarrh of the stomach, caused by indigestion. Doctors and medicines failed to benefit me until I used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure."—J. R. THE KING HARDWARE CO.

A YOUTHFUL SCIENTIST.

Inventor of a Wonderful Device to Make the Deaf Hear.

Scientific men all over the world are deeply interested in the discovery made by Miller Reese Hutchinson, a young inventor, who by means of an electrical device has seemingly demonstrated that the deaf can be made to hear.

The instrument as explained by the inventor is an application of the combined principles of the telephone and the microphone, the latter being a very sensitive scientific instrument for the magnifying of sound. By the combination sounds are vastly magnified through the outer and middle ears to the inner ear and the auditory nerve.

In operation the instrument sends the air waves against the tympanum and forces it to vibrate, thus vibrating the middle ear and loosening the three vibratory bones so that they perform their functions. "It was the use of this appliance, it is said, that enabled Queen Alexandra of England to regain her hearing, which for some years had been impaired. Mr. Hutchinson is the happy possessor of a gold medal given him by the queen "for scientific research and investigation."

While pursuing his investigation the inventor made a study of the human ear under one of the leading aurists of the country, acquiring a thorough knowledge of its mechanical construction. Speaking of this phase of his research, the inventor said: "I am an engineer, electrical and mechanical, and the human body is mechanism. The perfecting of my invention has been due to the application of sound mechanical principles and mathematical facts to the mechanical aspects of the ear as an organ."

Miller Reese Hutchinson is a native of Mobile and ten years ago, when but sixteen years of age, began working on the problem, which even at that age had engrossed his attention. He was educated in the public schools and at the Alabama Polytechnic institute, graduating from that school as an electrical engineer. After his graduation Mr. Hutchinson applied himself to the perfecting of two instruments by means of which, it is said, persons who have never heard a sound in all their lives have been enabled to hear with distinctness music played on a piano and the tones of the human voice in ordinary conversation.

REALM OF SPORTS

Will Open Early in This City—Rovers Begin Practice Next Week.

The foot ball season will be opened in this city during the early part of September and already teams are being organized. Practice will be commenced this week and both association and Rugby players will begin to get into condition for the fall gridiron contests.

Manager Ashbaugh and Captain Tyson, of the West End Rovers, have issued notices to the players of last year's team to report for practice Monday evening, August 3, at West End park. The team will be selected from the following well known players: Amos, McDevitt, J. Hester, Tyson, T. Hester, F. Coleman, Arb, Coleman, Jones, Cartwright, Robinson, McAvoy, Johnson, Fraser, Miller Hardy and Moore.

Notices have also been issued by several of the association teams to report for practice. The first few weeks will be given to learning new signals and new plays, the weather being too warm for active training.

Wellsville Team on a Tour.

The members of the Wellsville base ball team all reported to the manager yesterday morning and in the afternoon went to the park to indulge in practice. The rain prevented, however, and the team left the city this morning for New Castle, where they will play a game in the afternoon. From New Castle, the team will go to Jamestown, N. Y., and will play against the team of that city on Friday and Saturday afternoons. Next week the team will play in a few Pennsylvania towns and will return for a game on the Wellsville grounds the following Saturday with Rochester, Pa.

West End Beaten.

The West End base ball team was defeated in a contest last evening by the Pleasant Heights club on the grounds of the latter. The feature of the game was the hard hitting of both teams, the score being 17 to 20.

A Game on Saturday.

A game of base ball has been arranged between the Pleasant Heights team and the club from Smith's Ferry. The game will be played next Saturday on the grounds of the former team on the hill.

SPORTING MISCELLANY.

Base ball games in San Francisco have been attended by 500,000 fans this season.

Forty-five men have been benched by the umpires in the two leagues this season, some of them three times.

The Pittsburg base ball club has received a severe shock by the desertion of Edward Doheny, one of the club's mainstays in the pitching department. Doheny left the team for his home in Andover.

Tom Sharkey, the famous Irish heavyweight, and Tom Jenkins, of Cleveland, the present champion, have signed for a wrestling match to take place at the carnival stadium in Jacksonville November 7 next.

A match race will take place at the Morado (Beaver county) driving park tomorrow afternoon between B. Steinfeld's Rena Young and William Bogler's Blue Bell. The former has a record of 2:18¼ and the latter one of 2:16¼. The race will be the best three out of five heats for $250 a side.

After three successful years Leach Maskrey has resigned as manager of the Warren ball club and Harvey Leach was chosen to succeed him. Sump succeeded Van Paterson as captain. Paterson will quit base ball. All players were notified by the new management that they must play winning ball or go.

Sun

Stroke Shattered My Nerves.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Put Me On Active List.

Are you well? Do you sleep well? Do you get up rested, fresh and vigorous? Is your mind clear and active? If not read the following. See what another has suffered and how he recovered.

"Some years ago I was afflicted with sun stroke which left me with a shattered nervous system and exceedingly poor health. I suffered terribly with pain in my head, the top of my head would feel hot. I could not study, and after striving for two years to wear the trouble off, I was compelled to give up my pastoral labor and retire to my farm where I spent nearly two years trying to recuperate. It was all of no avail. Physicians' treatment and patent medicines failed to relieve me. I was exceedingly nervous and irritable and sometimes would shake terribly. I could not bear any noise. At the least excitement the blood would rush to my face and head. Two years ago I was induced to try Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. After using one bottle I could see improvement in my condition so I continued taking it for nearly a year. I am happy to say I no longer have those pains in my head or nervous spells. My appetite is good and I am able to preach three times on Sunday without fatigue. I consider Dr. Miles' Nervine the most wonderful medicine ever discovered."—Rev. D. Alex. Holman, Pastor U. B. Aeronauts Enjoined.

Omaha, July 30.—A temporary injunction was granted in the court of Judge Dickinson that the balloon which ascends twice daily from Courtland beach must not descend on the farm property, destroy crops or frighten the live stock of Claus Nelson. The balloon has fallen many times on Nelson's property. To recover their airship the aeronauts have been forced to pay lately sums ranging from $2 to $5, and a few days ago the farmer stood guard over the canvas with a shotgun and demanded $20. The big bag was recovered by a writ of replevin.

BLOWN TO ETERNITY

Gunpowder Magazines Explode With Frightful Concussion, Killing Over a Score.

HALF A HUNDRED ARE INJURED

Lowell, Mass., July 30.—Two small gunpowder magazines, situated in the very midst of the humble residences of 50 mill operatives, exploded with a frightful concussion and the resultant wave of death cut off the lives of more than a score of human beings and injured nearly 50 others. Half a dozen men who were loading kegs of powder from one of the magazines were blown to pieces; four boys 200 yards away were killed by the force of the explosion, and 14 frame houses within a radius of 400 yards went down as if they had been built of cards. Seven of these homes immediately caught fire, probably from the kitchen stoves, and were completely consumed. At least three persons were caught in the ruins and burned to death, while seven or eight others, who were rescued, died subsequently of their injuries.

It is estimated that 70 separate pieces of property, including those already mentioned, were destroyed, while the force of the explosion wrecked windows for five or six miles around and its thunder could be heard distinctly more than 50 miles away.

Many Dwellings Near Magazines.

The magazines were the property of the United States Cartridge company, of this city, but fortunately were situated more than a mile away from the factory itself. They were built of brick about 10 feet high, with a rounded roof of corrugated iron. They were constructed some 30 years ago, in what was then a broad open field on the banks of the Concord river. During the last decade small wooden dwelling houses have gradually sprung up in the vicinity, crowding closer and nearer with the fancied security to the two innocent looking buildings until they almost completely surrounded them, except on the river side, the nearest house being scarcely 50 feet away.

One of the magazines was just within the roadside of fence, while the other was about 100 feet behind it near the banks of the river. Both magazines ordinarily contained two or three tons of gunpowder in tin kegs. The company has for some time been desirous of strenghtening the floor of the magazine near the street and eight men were sent there with three large express teams to take out the powder and mend the floor. Two of the teams had been loaded and the other was almost full when the explosion occurred.

Cause of Explosion.

It was a long time before the actual cause of the explosion could be ascertained. It was thought at first that every one within a radius of 50 feet of the magazines had been killed, but later it was found that Clarendon Good, the foremen of the men who were loading the powder on the teams, had survived, together with one of his assistants, Amadee Boulanger, and the latter was seen in the hospital.

He said that the men went down to the magazine nearest to the street to fix the floor and after the teams had been loaded with the powder which was in the magazine, it was discovered that a can of nitroglycerin which was stored in the magazine was leaking. Mr. Goodwin picked up what he thought was a jug of water and began pouring onto the nitroglycerin with the idea of diluting it and washing it up. As soon as the fluid from the jug struck the floor he found that it was nitric acid. The floor at once began to smoke, and when the men saw it they rushed from the building, but had not gone 10 feet when the explosion occurred.

The magazine was therefore the first to go up, followed immediately by the gunpowder in the three teams, and several seconds later by the second magazine.

DROWNED AT ATLANTIC CITY

Carbondale Man Loses Life Trying to Rescue Girl from Sea—Mother Witnesses Accident.

Atlantic City, July 30.—Dr. Joseph Kelvine, aged 34 years, of Carbondale, Pa., gave up his life while trying to rescue from the sea Miss Mearle Shannon, aged 20 years, of Williamsport, Pa., who disappeared beneath the waves before she could be taken from the water.

Dr. Kelvine was a guest at the Hotel Sothern, where Miss Shannon was employed. The accident happened off New Jersey avenue. The young woman, while bathing, was swept around the end of a jetty where the water was 20 feet deep. The girl gave a shriek and Dr. Kelvine, who had accompanied her into the surf, went to her rescue. He reached her and while struggling to get her into shallow water she was torn from him by the waves.

About this time three life guards came to the rescue and one of them took care of Dr. Kelvine, who lapsed into unconsciousness. The girl sank and the other two guards dived for her, but did not find the drowning girl. The life guards tried to resuscitate Dr. Kelvine without success. It is believed he died from some other cause than drowning, as he had not been in the water long enough.

The accident was witnessed by thousands of persons on the boardwalk, among which was Mrs. John Klune, of Carbondale, the mother of Dr. Kelvine. She did not know that the dead man was her son until she had elbowed her way through the crowd and found him lying upon a bench. Mrs. Klune was taken care of by friends.

and afterwards proceeded in a motor car through the picturesque scenery of that portion of Ireland, inspecting many of the laborers' cottages on the way.

Their majesties will travel by motor car through the Connemara country. Queen Alexandra has given the earl of Dudley $2,500 for distribution among the poorest people of Dublin and other parts of Ireland.

Arranging for Long's Funeral.

London, July 30.—Pending the arrival of relatives of John G. Long, of St. Augustine, Fla., United States consul general at Cairo, Egypt, who fell down the steps of his hotel at Dunbar, Scotland, Monday evening, sustaining injuries from which he died the same night, Major General Sir Francis Wingate, sirdar of the Egyptian army, who is home on leave and with whom Mr. Long spent Monday evening, is making preliminary arrangements for the funeral. It is expected that the body will be removed to Liverpool Saturday for shipment to the United States and that the interment will take place at Washington.

Arrests Made in Danville.

Danville, Ill., July 30.—Eleven arrests were made for participation in the lawless outbreak of Saturday night, when the jail was attacked in an effort to lynch James Wilson, a negro who, it is alleged, assaulted Mrs. Burgess, of Alvin. The grand jury has been ordered to convene on Monday to indict the leaders of the mob. Of those arrested only one gave bond. A guard has been placed around the hospital where five men, who were members of the mob, are receiving treatment for their wounds.

Herman's Contract Signed.

Washington, July 30.—Acting Postmaster General Wynne signed the contract of Paul Herman, of Rutherford, N. J., to furnish the money order forms to the government during the next four years. The first forms are to be supplied under the new contract on Sept. 4.

Marconi's Monopoly of Wireless Telegraphy Easily Frustrated, According to German Company.

Berlin, July 30.—The German Wireless Telegraph company, which was recently organized through the amalgamation of the Slaby and Braun systems, has issued a statement regarding Signor Marconi's utterances on the possibility of the German company intercepting Marconi messages in England.

Marconi's opinion that such interception can only occur if the German company's stations are erected in England is, it is declared, erroneous. The German company says all that is necessary is to erect a strong station on the shores of the Baltic or the North sea, attune its receiving wires to Marconi's station at Poldhu, Cornwall, and it would be impossible for Marconi to receive trans-Atlantic messages. The statement concludes:

"Such procedure for fighting the world monopoly aimed at by Marconi could hardly be called 'chicanery,' but more properly self-defense."

Knocked Out in Fifth Round.

Philadelphia, July 30.—Champion "Young Corbett" knocked out "Jack" O'Neill, of this city, in the fifth round at the National Athletic club. The first three rounds were tame, O'Neill avoiding the champion's rushes. In the fourth round O'Neill hit Corbett three glancing blows on the jaw and was about to deliver a fourth one when Corbett dropped to his knees to avoid it. This gave the local man confidence in the fifth round, which proved fatal to him. He met Corbett's rushes and in an unguarded moment received a terrific right hand punch which sent him to the floor and he was counted out.

Posses Exchange Shots With Convicts.

Folsom, Cal., July 30.—The posses under the direction of Sheriff Keena, of Placerville, and Sheriff Bosquit, of El Dorado, had a brush with the fugitive Folsom convicts on Greenwood creek and a number of shots were exchanged, but so far as can be learned nobody was shot. The convicts avoided a decisive encounter and are now supposed to be working back in the general direction of Coloma.

"Love lightens labor," the saying runs, and in a sense it is true. But even love cannot lighten labor or make it easy for the woman who is in constant suffering from inflammation, bearing-down pains or other womanly diseases. The one thing that can make work easy for women is sound health, and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the thing that will give sound health to sick women. It cures womanly diseases which cause weakness, and cures the backache, sideache, nervousness and other ills which are the result of womanly diseases.

"I suffered from female weakness for five months," writes Miss Belle Hedrick, of Nye, Fotham Co., W. Va. "I was treated by a good physician but he never seemed to do me any good. I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce for advice, which I received, telling me to take his 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' When I had used the medicines a month, my health was much improved. It has continued to improve until now I can work at almost all kinds of housework. I had scarcely any appetite, but it is all right now. Have gained several pounds in weight. Dr. Pierce's medicines have done wonderfully well here. I would advise all who suffer from chronic diseases to write to Dr. Pierce."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the paper-covered book, or 31 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters.

"Ach, that accounts for his surprise when I talked louder and faster than ever. I did not know what he meant. He said positively he would not wait, but just then a second message came from the other station. I did not know what it was then, but a gentleman told me that it instructed him to hold the train if he wanted to hold his job. Job is situation, is it not? Well, when he read that message he said he would wait just twenty minutes. I asked him to tell me how you were coming to us, but he refused to answer. Your aunt and I went at once to the telegraph man and implored him to tell us the truth, and he said you were coming in a carriage over a very dangerous road. Imagine our feelings when he said some people had been killed yesterday on that very road.

"When your aunt and I returned to the train we saw the conductor holding his watch. He said to me, 'In just three minutes we pull out. If they are not here by that time they can get on the best they know how. I've done all I can.' I did not say a word, but went to my section and had Hedrick get out my pistols. If the train left before you arrived it would be without its conductor.

"Then came the sound of carriage wheels and galloping horses. Almost before we knew it you were with us. I am so happy that you were not a minute later."

There was something so cool and grim in the quiet voice, something so determined in those brilliant eyes, that Grenfall felt like looking up the conductor to congratulate him. The dinner was served, and while it was being discussed his fair companion of the drive graphically described the experience of twenty strange minutes in a shackledown mountain coach.

Somehow the real flavor of romance was stricken from the ride by her candid admissions. What he had considered a romantic treasure was being calmly robbed of its glitter, leaving for his memory the blur of an adventure in which he had played the part of a gallant gentleman and she a grateful lady. He was beginning to feel ashamed of the conceit that had misled him. Down in his heart he was saying, "I might have known it. I did know it. She is not like other women." The perfect confidence that dwelt in the rapt faces of the others forced into his wondering mind the impression that this girl could do no wrong.

"And, Aunt Yvonne," she said, in conclusion, "the luck which you say is mine as birthright asserted itself. I escaped unhurt, while Mr. Lorry alone possesses the pain and unpleasantness of our ride."

"I possess neither," he objected. "The pain that you refer to is a pleasure."

"The pain that a man endures for a woman should always be a pleasure," said Uncle Caspar smilingly.

"But it could not be a pleasure to him unless the woman considered it a pain," reasoned Miss Guggenslocker. "He could not feel happy if she did not respect the pain."

"And encourage it," supplemented Lorry dryly. "If you do not remind me occasionally that I am hurt, Miss Guggenslocker, I am liable to forget it." To himself he added, "I'll never learn how to say it in one breath."

"If I were not so soon to part from you, I should be your physician, and, like all physicians, prolong your ailment interminably," she said prettily.

"To my deepest satisfaction," he said warmly, not lightly. There was nothing further from his mind than servile flattery, as his rejoinder might imply. "Alas," he went on, "we no sooner meet than we part. May I ask when you are to sail?"

"On Thursday," replied Mr. Guggenslocker.

"On the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse," added his niece, a faraway look coming into her eyes.

"We are to stop off one day, tomorrow, in Washington," said Aunt Yvonne, and the jump that Lorry's heart gave was so mighty that he was afraid they could see it in his face.

"My uncle has some business to transact in your city, Mr. Lorry. We are to spend tomorrow there and Wednesday in New York. Then we sail. Ach, how I long for Thursday!" His heart sank like lead to the depths from which it had sprung. It required no effort on his part to see that he was alone in his infatuation. Thursday was more to her than his existence. She could forget him and think of Thursday, and when she thought of Thursday, the future, he was but a thing of the past, not even of the present.

"Have you always lived in Washington, Mr. Lorry?" asked Mrs. Guggenslocker.

"All my life," he replied, wishing at that moment that he was homeless and free to choose for himself.

"You Americans live in one city and then in another," she said. "Now, in our country generation after generation lives and dies in one town. We are not migratory."

"Mr. Lorry has offended us by not knowing where Graustark is located on the map," cried the young lady, and he could see the flash of resentment in her eyes.

"Why, my dear sir, Graustark is in"—began Uncle Caspar, but she checked him instantly.

"Uncle Caspar, you are not to tell him. I have recommended that he study geography and discover for himself. He should be ashamed of his ignorance."

He was not ashamed, but he mentally vowed that before he was a day older he would find Graustark on the map and would stock his negligent brain with all that history and the encyclopedia had to say of the unknown land. Her uncle laughed, and, to Lorry's disappointment, obeyed the young lady's command.

"Shall I study the map of Europe, Asia or Africa?" asked he, and they laughed.

"Study the map of the world," said Miss Guggenslocker proudly.

"Edelweiss is the capital?"

"Yes, our home city, the queen of the crags," cried she. "You should see Edelweiss, Mr. Lorry. It is of the mountain, the plain and the sky. There are homes in the valley, homes on the mountain side and homes in the clouds."

"And yours? From what you say it must be above the clouds—in heaven."

"We are farthest from the clouds, for we live in the green valley, shaded by the white topped mountains. We may, in Edelweiss, have what climate we will. Doctors do not send us on long journeys for our health. They tell us to move up or down the mountain. We have balmy spring, glorious summer, refreshing autumn and chilly winter, just as we like."

"Ideal! I think you must be pretty well toward the south. You could not have July in January if you were far north."

"True; yet we have January in July. Study your map. We are discernible to the naked eye," she said, half ironically.

"I care not if there are but three inhabitants of Graustark, all told, it is certainly worthy of a position on any map," said Lorry gallantly, and his listeners applauded with patriotic appreciation. "By the way, Mr. Gug—Guggenslocker, you say the conductor asked you for my name, and you did not know it. May I ask how you learned it later on?" His curiosity got the better of him, and his courage was increased by the champagne the old gentleman had ordered.

"I did not know your name until my niece told it to me after your arrival in the carriage," said Uncle Caspar.

"I don't remember giving it to Miss Guggenslocker at any time," said Lorry.

"You were not my informant," she said demurely.

"Oh, no, indeed. I am no mind reader."

"My own name was the last thing you could have read in my mind in that event, for I have not thought of it in three days."

She was sitting with her elbows on the table, her chin in her hands, a dreamy look in her blue eyes.

"You say you obtained that coin from the porter on the Denver train?"

"Within two hours after I got aboard."

"Well, that coin purchased your name for me," she said calmly, candidly. He gasped.

"You—you don't mean that you"—he stammered.

"You see, Mr. Lorry, I wanted to know the name of a man who came nearest my ideal of what an American should be. As soon as I saw you I knew that you were the American as I had grown to know him through the books—big, strong, bold and comely. That is why I bought your name of the porter. I shall always say that I know the name of an ideal American—Grenfall Lorry."

Her frank statement staggered him almost beyond the power of recovery.

"I—I am honored," he at last managed to say, his eyes gleaming with embarrassment. "I trust you have not found your first judgment a faulty one." He felt very foolish after this flat remark.

"I have remembered your name," she said graciously. His heart swelled.

"There are a great many better Americans than I," he said. "You forget our president and our statesmen."

"I thought they were mere politicians."

Grenfall Lorry, idealized, retired to his berth that night, his head whirling with the emotions inspired by this strange, beautiful woman. How lovely, how charming, how naive, how queenly, how indifferent, how warm, how cold—how everything that puzzled him was she. His last waking thought was:

"Guggenslocker! An angel with a name like that!"

THE INVITATION EXTENDED.

THEY were called by the porter early the next morning. The train was pulling into Washington five hours late. Grenfall wondered as he dressed whether fortune would permit him to see much of her during her brief day in the capital.

After the train had come to a standstill he could hear the rustle of her garments in the next compartment. Then he heard her sweep into the passage, greet her uncle and aunt, utter a few commands to the maid, and, while he was adjusting his collar and necktie, pass from the car. No man ever made quicker time in dressing than did Lorry.

"She'll get away, and that 'll be the end of it," he growled, seizing his traps and rushing from the train two minutes after her departure. The porter attempted to relieve him of his bags on the platform, but he brushed him aside and was off toward the station.

"Nice time for you to call a man, you idiot," was his parting shot for the porter, forgetting of course that the foreigners had been called at the same time. With eyes intent on the crowd ahead, he plunged along, seeing nobody in his disappointed flight. "I'll never forgive myself if I miss her," he was wailing to himself. She was not to be seen in the waiting rooms, so he rushed to the sidewalk.

"Baggage transferred?"

"Cab, sir."

"Go to the devil—yes, here! Take these traps and checks and rush my stuff to — W—— avenue. Trunks just in on B. and O.," he cried, tossing his burdens to a transfer man and giving him the checks so quickly that the fellow's sleepy eyes opened wider than they had been for a month. Relieved of his impediments, he returned to the station.

"Good morning, Mr. Lorry. Are you in too much of a hurry to see your friends?" cried a clear, musical voice, and he stopped as if shot. The anxious frown flew from his brow and was succeeded instantaneously by a glad smile. He wheeled and beheld her, with Aunt Yvonne, standing near the main entrance to the station. "Why, good morning," he exclaimed, extending his hand gladly. To his amazement she drew herself up haughtily and ignored the proffered hand. Only a brief second did this strange and uncalled for hauteur obtain. A bright smile swept over her face, and her repentant fingers sought his timidly, even awkwardly. Something told him that she was not accustomed to handshaking; that same something impelled him to bend low and touch the gloved fingers with his lips. He straightened, with face flushed, half fearful lest his act had been observed by curious loungers, and he had taken a liberty in a public place which could not be condoned. But she smiled serenely, approvingly. There was not the faintest sign of embarrassment or confusion in the lovely face. Any other girl in the world, he thought, would have jerked her hand away and giggled furiously. Aunt Yvonne inclined her head slightly, but did not proffer her hand. He wisely refrained from extending his own. "I thought you had left the station," he said.

"We are waiting for Uncle Caspar, who is giving Hedrick instructions. Hedrick, you know, is to go on to New York with our boxes. He will have them aboard ship when we arrive there. All that we have with us is hand luggage. We leave Washington tonight."

"I had hoped you might stay over for a few days."

"It is urgent business that compels us to leave so hastily, Mr. Lorry. Of all the cities in the world, I have most desired to see the capital of your country. Perhaps I may return some day. But do not let us detain you if you are in a hurry."

He started, looked guilty, stammered something about baggage, said he would return in a moment, and rushed aimlessly away, his ears fiery.

"I'm all kinds of a fool," he muttered as he raced around the baggage room and then back to where he had left the two ladies. Mr. Guggenslocker had joined them, and they were preparing to depart. Miss Guggenslocker's face expressed pleasure at seeing him.

"We thought you would never return, so long were you gone," she cried gayly. He had been gone just two minutes by the watch. The old gentleman greeted him warmly, and Lorry asked them to what hotel they were going. On being informed that they expected to spend the day at the Ebbitt he volunteered to accompany them, saying that he intended to breakfast there. Quicker than a flash a glance unfathomable as it was brief passed between the three, not quickly enough, however, to escape his keen, watchful eyes, on the alert since the beginning of his acquaintance with them, in conjunction with his ears, to catch something that might satisfy in a measure his burning curiosity. What was the meaning of that glance? It half angered him, for in it he thought he could distinguish annoyance, apprehension, dismay or something equally disquieting. Before he could stiffen his long frame and give vent to the dignified reconsideration that flew to his mind the young lady dispelled all pain and displeasure, sending him into raptures by saying:

"How good of you! We shall be so delighted to have you breakfast with us, Mr. Lorry, if it is convenient for you. You can talk to us of your wonderful city. I am sure we cannot trouble you much longer."

He expostulated gallantly and delightedly and then hurried forth to call a cab. At 8 o'clock he breakfasted with them, his infatuation growing deeper and stronger as he sat for the hour beneath the spell of those eyes, the glorious face, the sweet, imperial air that was a part of her, strange and unaffected. As they were leaving the dining room he asked if she would not drive with him.

His ardent gallantry met with a surprising rebuke. Her voice, a moment ago sweet and affable, changed its tone instantly to one so proud and arrogant that he could scarcely believe his ears.

"I shall be engaged during the entire day, Mr. Lorry," she said slowly, looking him fairly in the eyes with cruel positiveness. For a moment he dared not speak.

"I have reason to feel thankful that you are to be engaged," he said at last calmly, without taking his eyes from hers, "I am forced to believe, much to my regret, that I have offended when I intended to please. You will pardon my temerity."

There was no mistaking the resentment in his voice or the glitter in his eyes. Impulsively her little hand was stretched forth, falling upon his arm, while into her eyes came again the soft glow and to her lips the most pathetic, appealing smile, the forerunner of a pretty plea for forgiveness. The change startled and puzzled him more than ever. In one moment she was unreasonably rude and imperious, in the next gracious and imploring.

"Forgive me," she cried, the blue eyes battling bravely against the steel in the gray ones above. "I was so uncivil! Perhaps I cannot make you understand why I spoke as I did, but, let me say, I richly deserved the rebuke. Pray forgive me and forget that I have been disagreeable. Do not ask me to tell you why I was so rude to you just now, but overlook my unkind treatment of your invitation. Please, Mr. Lorry, I beg of you—I beg for the first time in my life. You have been so good to me, be good to me still."

His wrath melted away like snow before the sunshine. How could he resist such an appeal? "I beg for the first time in my life," whirled in his brain. What did she mean by that?

"I absolve the penitent," he said gravely.

"I thank you. You are still my ideal American—courteous, bold and gentle. I do not wonder that Americans can be masterful men. And now I thank you for your invitation and ask you to let me withdraw my implied refusal. If you will take me for the drive I shall be delighted and more than grateful."

Brights Disease

Not Rare, but Common—All Kidney Disease is Bright's Disease—The 8th to 10th Month It Becomes Chronic and Incurable by All Known Means Except the new Fulton Compounds, which Record 87% of Recoveries.

We have before us a little work on kidney diseases by Joseph F. Edwards, M. D., of Philadelphia, that contains some things that everyone ought to know. Many people imagine Bright's Disease is rare, when, in fact, it covers the whole gamut of kidney diseases. This book sets out that the kidneys have but one function, viz., the elimination of the urea and waste products, and that all interferences with that function are called Bright's Disease. Dr. Edwards adds: "For the benefit of physicians who may read this book I will give a list of the causes which I attribute to Bright's Disease, viz.:

Albumenuria.
Congestion of the Kidney.
Degeneration of the Kidney.
Fatty Degeneration of the Kidney.
Inflammation of the Kidney.
Uraemia.
Disease of the Kidney."

Thus, all kidney disease being Bright's Disease, the serious question is, is it acute or chronic? In other words, is it in the primary or secondary stage? After the eighth to tenth month it becomes chronic and is then incurable by all known means except the Fulton Compounds. The kidneys are not sensitive. There is often no notice of the trouble till it has already fastened. If you have kidney disease in the first stage the Renal Compound will cure it quickly. If it is of more than 8 to 10 months standing it is the only thing known that will cure it. In proof that nothing else will we cite all medical works as evidence that to this time there has been nothing that cures Chronic Bright's Disease. The stockholders of the John J. Fulton Co., business and professional men of San Francisco, are the first people in the world to announce a positive cure, presenting a definite percentage of recoveries (87 per cent), and giving out the lists of the cured, all among purely chronic, well-defined cases. If you have any kind of kidney trouble, there is only one thing to take. The Renal Compound for Bright's Disease is $1; for Diabetes, $1.50. John J. Fulton Co., 409 Washington street, San Francisco, sole compounders. Free analyses for patients. Pamphlet free. We are the sole agents.

A FRIEND'S ADVICE

Will Often Help You Greatly—Read What An East Liverpool Citizen Says.

You may hesitate to listen to the advice of strangers, but the testimony of residents of East Liverpool is worth your most careful attention. It is an easy matter to investigate such proof as this. The evidence must be conclusive. Read the following:

Mr. W. P. Cochran, of Mulberry street, East End, says: "At intervals for 30 years I had serious kidney and bladder trouble. The agony I went through can hardly be described. Many nights I rolled from one side to another trying to find an easy position for my back; I could not move without having sharp twinges of pain and I was also troubled with urinary difficulty, the secretions being very irregular, and at times very distressing. I ran down so that I could hardly help myself. Doctors treated me. I took a power of stuff and had given up all hope when I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised as a never failing remedy. I got a box at the W. & W. Pharmacy and after taking half of it I could see some improvement. I continued, and the treatment did me more good than anything I ever used"

Sold for 50 cents a box by all dealers. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Sold at the W. & W. Pharmacy.

NOW that the heat of summer is here thousands are realizing how low their ambition, vitality and resistive force has become.

They are easily exhausted, heat seems unusually oppressive, feel draggy—all fagged out. They feel the need of a tonic that will build them up from the very foundation; give them strength, life, activity.

Hagee's Cordial of Cod Liver Oil (with Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda) is an ideal summer tonic, a builder—revitalizer—reconstructive that physicians of all schools prescribe for these conditions. Pleasant to take. Contains all the active properties of cod liver oil without the grease.

Sold by all druggists. Prepared by Katharmon Chemical Co. St. Louis, Mo.

Corrosive Ink.

With an impatient grunt the bookkeeper threw away his pen and put a new one in the holder. "It's terrible," he said, "how ink corrodes pens. In six or seven hours a new pen will begin to scratch. It keeps me busy changing the blamed things, let alone the expense. There's money in it for the man who will invent a noncorrosive ink." An old man, a bill collector, remarked to him: "My young friend, I'll tell you a sure way to stop your ink from corroding your pen. Take a few rusty iron nails and put them in your ink well. The ink's corrosive acid will play itself out on the nails, and in consequence your pen will escape. A pen that only lasts you a day now should, with my method, last at least a week."—Philadelphia Record.

Hospitality Pays.

Cities and communities frequently expend large sums of money in entertaining conventions, conferences and other public gatherings, both because of a spirit of hospitality prevailing or through a sinister desire to "advertise the city." After the affair is over and the visitors have gone their several ways the people ask one of the other, "Does it pay to spend money thus?" There never was a case of public hospitality that didn't pay, if not in dollars and cents, in the extension and broadening of that finest of all sentiments, the brotherhood of man.—Dayton Herald.

His Auspicious Beginning.

"To gratify the curiosity of the public, Mr. Dollaraline," purred the young person with the notebook, "will you please tell me if the first contribution you ever sent to a magazine was accepted?"

The literary celebrity smiled genially.

"I am happy to say it was," he answered.

"What was it?"

"Four dollars for a year's subscription."—Chicago Tribune.

Restaurant and dwelling of 12 rooms furnished in part. Well suited and located for a boarding or mealing house. See us for terms and price.

We have 25 times as many more properties. Call and see us about any or all of them. We will sell on terms to suit your income. Why pay rent when you can own a home? Don't you know that by paying a dollar on each $100 you owe will wipe out the debt and interest in ten years? For instance, fifteen dollars paid monthly for ten years will pay off a $1,500 debt and interest. It's not how much money one spends but how one spends it that makes one's financial weal or woe.

PRESBYTERIAN PICNIC

Members of Church and Sunday School to Have An Enjoyable Outing Monday.

The members of the church and Sunday school of the Presbyterian church will hold their annual picnic next Monday at Rock Springs park. It is the earnest endeavor of all those who are arranging the program for the day, to make the event memorable to the large number which will participate in the pleasures of the outing.

Rev. Dr. Marshall, former pastor of the church, will make an address at the pavilion. Miss Margaret Baxter and Prof. Laughlin, also a quartet selected from the choir of the church, will render musical selections on the program. Prof. R. E. Rayman will make an address on the progress of the Sunday school, and Attorney Jason H. Brookes will probably speak on a topic of interest to the Sunday school and church workers.

Places on the program have been assigned to Frank H. Croxall, also Mr. Romey, and George C. Murphy will act as chairman. The Presbyterians and friends are cordially invited to be present and enjoy the day.

Lyceum Reception.

Lisbon, July 30.—(Special)—The members of the Young Men's Lyceum last evening gave a reception to their parents and older friends. The functions of the previous evening were repeated, a choice musical and literary program being rendered. Miss Ellen Wellington gave three readings and there was vocal and instrumental music by Mrs. Helen Blockson, Mrs. Clent Baxley, Miss Leah King and D. H Jackson. Tonight's reception to the young men and "old boys" will be the concluding one.

In Honor of Visitors.

Mrs. John S. Goodwin entertained yesterday afternoon at a luncheon in honor of Mrs. Blynn, of Denver, Col. and Miss Mame Scott, of Cambridge, O. A large number of ladies were in attendance.

Wedded at Lisbon.

Entertained Friends.

Mrs. William Davidson, in honor of her sister-in-law of New York city, entertained a few of her friends at 6 o'clock dinner last evening.

When Carlyle Pinched His Wife.

A volume by the late Anthony Froude, the historian, tells this story of Carlyle and his wife, who lived on notoriously bad terms, the latter dying first: "Carlyle found a remembrance in her diary of the blue marks which in a fit of passion he had once inflicted on her arms. As soon as he could collect himself he put together a memoir of her, in which with deliberate courage he inserted the incriminating passages of her diary, the note of the blue marks among them, and he added an injunction of his own that, however stern and tragic that record might be, it was never to be destroyed."

A BONANZA STRIKE

FOR GREEN MOUNTAIN MINING & MILLING CO.

The Stockholders and Friends of This Company Will Be Pleased to Note the Following Letter.

Office of James A. Snedaker, Mining Engineer, Equitable Building.

Mr. S. J. Crawford, Sec., 519 Frick building, Pittsburg, Pa.

Dear Sir—I had a long talk with Mr. Frost over the 'phone and would have gone to the mines Monday, but as Mr Hart will be here Thursday I wish to see him before leaving. Mr. Frost tells me that the ore body has continued and that they are still in the same for a distance of 10 feet, the ore running, according to assays, 17-100 of an ounce in Gold, 6½ ounces of Silver, 21 per cent Lead and 7 96-100 per cent Copper. You can see that this is an ideal ore. I will expect shortly to go down there and it may be possible that I will ship a lot of this ore direct to the smelter. This bonanza that we have struck places us beyond any doubt on the paying list, and the Green Mountain Co.'s stock should be worth a great deal more than it was a month ago. This ore has been struck in the Leonard claim. It is evidently the main vein of the "Pride of the West" and is the greatest bonanza that has been struck in the San Juan for over a year. The expected has happened—that is, this is one of the great mines of the whole country. We can see our way towards having a mill and that pretty quick. It will, of course, require some drifting and development, but this can be done before a mill could be completed. You can tell all of your friends that we have made good much better than our promise. This vein is larger and better than any vein that the Silver Lake mines ever had and will make a greater producer.

I have had Mr. Frost express you some samples from the vein. We have this ore body at least 250 feet deep from the surface, and with the size of it will mean thousands of tons of ore.

Mr. Hart will be here tomorrow and we will go over the whole situation together and possibly go to the mines. Will let you know at our earliest convenience everything pertaining to the property.

Very truly yours,
(Signed.)
JAMES A. SNEDAKER.

CHOOSING SITE FOR POSTOFFICE

Government Agent Looking at Ground Offered For Federal Building.

BRUNT SMITH IS FAVORED

By Business Men and Citizens Generally and Likely to Be Chosen.

DECISION EAGERLY AWAITED

Col. James P. Low, sent here by the postoffice department to inspect the sites offered for the proposed new federal building in East Liverpool, has made an inspection of the Brunt property, offered as a site, and today looked over the Deidrick property. These are the only properties formerly offered as sites.

The government agent will acquaint himself with the sites and the wishes of the people regarding the location of the postoffice, and on his report will depend the action to be taken by the postmaster general in regard to the matter.

Col. Low will be in the city until tomorrow when he will return to Washington and submit a report of the conditions existing in connection with the two sites. Upon his report will rest the decision as to where the federal building will be located. Which of the two sites, the William Brunt property, Fifth and Broadway, and the Deidrick property, Fourth and Broadway, Col. Low will recommend for purchase is not known, but it is generally believed that it will be the former.

According to instructions at Washington Col. Low must take into consideration the dimensions of the property, the nature of the business in close proximity, the condition as to access, and public opinion.

This being his plan of consideration there are none except those directly interested in the sale of the Deidrick property who think Col. Low will decide upon any other than the Brunt property. The conditions surrounding it are much more favorable from every standpoint, location and dimension, and in public opinion it is the only site that should even be considered.

Prominent residents of the city have been in conversation with Col. Low regarding the site, and the sentiment of them all is that he should decide upon the Brunt property, it being the unanimous opinion that it will be more suitable in every respect.

THEY BROUGHT HOME NUGGETS OF GOLD

A Lisbon Company's Agents Find Alaskan Claims Very Promising.

Lisbon, July 30.—(Special.)—W. H. Hepburn and John Costello, who returned Tuesday from a visit to the Nome district of the Alaskan gold field, where they spent about nine days inspecting the holdings of the Ophir Creek Gold company, of Lisbon, are enthusiastic over the outlook for the company, though they are not giving out much for publication.

Mr. Hepburn will return to Alaska soon and will leave Lisbon in time to enable him to sail from Seattle for Nome about August 20.

Mr. Hepburn and Mr. Costello left Lisbon on their trip Sunday, June 14, sailing from Seattle on the steamer Oregon, and reaching Nome, a city of 5,000 to 10,000, July 8. During their stay of nine day they made their headquarters at Nome. Within a few miles of that city is located the company's Anvil Creek claim, and about half of the 400 acres controlled by the company is in this vicinity. It was found that the Anvil Creek claim is surrounded by other claims which are being successfully worked, and Mr. Hepburn brought home with him a handfull of gold nuggets from that region. The Ophir Creek claim, located 60 miles inland, was also visited and specimens of gold from there were also brought home.

Officer Dawson Files a Charge of Pointing Firearms and Resisting Arrest.

Officer Dawson, true to the forecast of the News Review, swore to a warrant late yesterday afternoon charging Edward ("Teddy") O'Connor with pointing firearms and resisting arrest. The officer would have preferred the charge on the evening of O'Connor's arrest but the thought of it slipped his mind. Upon his arrival at the city hall yesterday afternoon he at once filed the charge and stated last evening that he was going to let the law take its course. O'Connor's attorneys approached Dawson and attempted to persuade him to withdraw the charge, but the policeman declared he would not, and O'Connor will positively have to answer to the charge before the mayor tomorrow.

Fierce Battle in a Restaurant Between a Cook and a Waiter.

A war of words lasting for more than two weeks between Sherman Reed, colored, day cook at the Arcade restaurant, and Amos Kapp, a night waiter at the same establishment, culminated in a fierce battle last night when the two met face to face in the restaprant and renewed their argument. After warmly debating for a few minutes both men decided to have it out by a combat and witnesses to the affair say that it was one of the liveliest scenes enacted for months in the city. As a result of their fight both were arrested and were compelled to pay a fine of $5 and costs each to escape lodging in the city jail.

What the two men disputed about is not known, each telling a different story, but it was of such consequence that the brother of Kapp, who is the proprietor of the restaurant, felt ten days ago that it would result in a fight and for that reason changed Amos from day turn to night. This move kept the two apart for several days, but last evening the negro stepped into the restaurant and almost instantly the hottest kind of epihets were being used by each. Finally Reed started at Kapp in a menacing manner and the latter picked up a pop bottle and a couple of saucers and cups and commenced firing them at his adversary with wonderful strength and accuracy. The bottle struck the negro on the head and cut a big gash in it, and the remaining pieces were felt by him.

Reed, it is said, commenced to realize his position and after retaliating with a few dishes, none of them striking their intended mark, however, rushed up stairs over the restaurant to his room for the purpose of getting a gun. Meantime an enormous crowd had collected and Officers Dawson and Morris were attracted. Dawson ran up to the negro's room and prevented him from getting the gun, and Morris placed Kapp under arrest. Each accused the other of being the originator of the trouble and the officers decided to take them before the mayor to settle the dispute. The chief executive listened to the tales of each and determined that they were both guilty. He then imposed a fine on each and they were dismissed.

SPECULATION OF BANK OFFICERS

Responsible for the Failure of the Doylestown (Pa.) National Bank.

Doylestown, Pa., July 30.—(Special.)—The comptroller of the currency has closed the Doylestown National bank and appointed Examiner Schoefield receiver. Considerable excitement rules here, as the deposits are large.

The failure is due to stock speculation on the part of the officers of the bank.

Going On a Vacation.

And His Life Only Saved by Timely Arrival of Others of the Family.

HIS INJURIES ARE SERIOUS

Lisbon, July 30.—(Special.)—Eliphaz Cope, a prominent and well known citizen, was nearly killed at his home near Rogers this morning by an infuriated cow. Accompanied by a dog he was turning a cow and calf into a pasture when the cow, angered at the dog, started toward him. The dog fled and the cow turned on Mr. Cope, goring and trampling him almost to death before other members of the family came to his rescue and drove the cow away with clubs.

Mr. Cope was frightfully injured about the head, chest and back, his entire body being covered with wounds and bruises. His cries, before he lost consciousness, attracted his family in time to save his life. There were several particularly bad gashes about the head and back and a number of his teth were knocked out. The attending physicians think he will survive if he is not internally injured. He had not fully recovered consciousness this afternoon.

Mr. Cope is upward of 50 years of age. He is president of the Columbiana County Pioneer and Historiical society and is well known as well as an extensive nurseryman.

MANY CLAIMS ARE ENTERED

IN THE SUIT AGAINST BUCKEYE BRICK WORKS.

Liens Which the Receiver Is Directed to Pay Amount to a Large Sum.

Lisbon, July 30.—(Special)—In the case of Harmon Michaels et al. vs the Buckeye Brick company, of Wellsville, a mortgage of the Perpetual Savings & Loan company, of Wellsville, has been decreed a first lien on certain property of the company, but the amount of the indebtedness is left open for future determination by the court. Other mortgages held as follows are decreed second liens on the property: John A. Noble, $1,085; W. E. Smith, $1,050.60; Vulcan Clay company, $359.50; David Hargest, $319; P. M. Smith, $542.50.

Receiver Catlett is authorized to pay these claims from the proceeds of the sale of real estate.

The following are decreed third lien creditors for sums ranging from $200 to $300: A. D. Forbes, E. H. Riggs J. W. Hammond, John Todd, J. W. Riley, J. C. Catlett, P. M. Smith, P. H. White, J. J. Dowling, P. Fitzpatrick, Samuel Stephenson, W. E. Smith, J. W. Russell, G. W. Adams, G. M. Aten, These claims the receiver is directed to pay.

A mortgage for $2,445.07 held by John C. Catlett is decreed a court lien. The court finding that after the payment of these priority claims there will remain money in the hands of the receiver, he is directed to pay from these funds a number of small sums for labor. Claims of Daniel M. Smith, for $2,738.37 and David Hargest for $568.80 are adjudged first mortgages, and a claim of John Dodge for $1,727.04 is adjudged a second mortgage on certain property of the company. The Central Building and Loan company is found to hold a first mortgage lien on certain of the property for $12,130.12.

A Great Deal of Interest Being Manifested By the Local Unions.

The Labor day committee held a meeting in the Potters' Herald office last evening and a few more details were arranged for the celebration of Labor day in this city, September 7.

A report was received from the subcommittee having in hand the program. The report was not so encouraging as it might have been, and many business men and merchants who have heretofore supported the cause of labor by buying advertising space on the program were reported to have turned the solicitors down. The grocerymen and butchers of the city have been especially antagonistic to the movement, and not one merchant in these lines could be induced to take space. It is thought the attitude of these business men will precipitate a bitter fight if persisted in, as the matter is sure to reach the entire membership of the many local unions in the city. The general committee of arrangements has decided to let the question lie over until the next meeting of Trades Council, when it will be brought to the attention of that body. The solicitors have been asked to meet with the council for the purpose of presenting the matter in an intelligent way. Decisive action is sure to be taken by the council, and the Labor day committee is determined to see it through.

The question of adopting a general Labor day badge was disposed of by the committee deciding to recommend a ribbon badge in place of the button worn last year. An order for 5,000 of the ordinary ribbon badges will be placed at once and when done will be distributed among the members of the locals through their secretary.

A circular letter will be mailed early in the week to the officials of every union organization in this section of the state, urging all unionists and their friends to be present at the East Liverpool demonstration, which will be the largest and most successful ever held.

Edward W. Holz of Leetonia, has been appointed administrator of the estate of his deceased father, Christian J. Holz, with the will annexed, under bond of $600. There will be no appraisement. The widow has elected to accept the will.

Mrs. Heidrick and Her Babies Left Penniless and Friendless.

TALE TOLD WITH MANY TEARS

NEIGHBORS HELP FAMILY

Heartbroken and nearly crazed with grief, Mrs. Wilbur Heidrick, wife of the motorman who was soundly thrashed by his brothers-in-law and their father Tuesday night because he had left his wife to pay attention to a well known young woman of the city, is in terrible distress at her home, Jefferson and Fifth streets. So trying is her position that friends fear she may carry out her first intention and put a sudden end to her miserable existence.

Mrs. Heidrick was interviewed by a reporter of the News Review this morning at her home. While the poor woman talked she was absolutely unable to control her feelings, hot tears pouring down her cheeks in a stream. When met by the reporter she had just left the presence of her husband, and according to her statement he had just finished heaping coals of fire on her already aching heart.

"I don't know what to do," she said. "My husband has completely forsaken me. He told me a few minutes ago that he was going to leave me and my dear children and that he wants me to never claim him again as my husband. The thought is simply terrible. I am penniless and without friends. What on earth will ever become of me and my children? My parents in Steubenville have now turned against me, and I am thrown out on the cold world without a home, without a friend and without a penny. To say that I am heartbroken does not express my condition. I have always tried to live right and have treated my husband the best I knew, and now I am to be cruelly deserted by him and treated like a dog. He says he is going away and that he will never come back. I am afraid I can never stand the ordeal."

The picture presented by Mrs. Heidrick would appeal to the most hardened wretch that ever inhabited the civilized world. She is pretty and her reputation for goodness, kindness and all of the other attributes that go to make a pure woman could not be better. Those knowing her intimately are all indignant over the actions of her husband.

At noon today Heidrick was still in the city, but if he carries out his avowed determination he will leave before evening and his family will be left to subsist as best it can.

The family living next door to the Heidricks are highly indignant over the deplorable affair. It was necessary for them to furnish Mrs. Heidrick and her children with food yesterday. They did not have a morsel of eatables in the house and would have been starving but for the kindness shown them. The neighbor woman who prevented Mrs. Heidrick from suicide Tuesday night is suffering from burns received as a result of drops of the carbolic acid falling on her arm. She is in constant terror for fear that the frenzied woman will take her life in spite of interference and watching.

Just what the result of the affair will be cannot be predicted, but unless the proper authorities take some step it is feared that the life of Mrs. Heidrick will be cut off by her own hands.

THIEVES CAME THIS WAY

Valuable Horses And a Complete Outfit Were Stolen Near Warren.

Daring thieves entered the barn of Ray Dunwoody, a farmer living near Warren, on the night of July 28 and stole two of his most valuable horses, a pair of double harness, a fine new surrey and other paraphernalia. The officers were communicated with and the thieves were last seen coming toward this city.

Chief Wyman received word last evening to be on the lookout for the thieves and the team. He has instructed the police and a vigorous search will be instituted in this vicinity.

FINED FOR STRIKING A YOUNG WOMAN

Dutch Zoellers Paid $5 and Costs For Hitting Miss Minnie Lytle.

Pleading guilty to the charge of striking Miss Minnie Lytle on the mouth, Charles ("Dutch") Zoellers was fined $5 and costs by Mayor Weaver last night shortly before 9 o'clock.

Zoellers stated to the mayor that his wife had left his place of business on Walnut street early in the afternoon and when she failed to return to prepare his supper he started out in search of her. In a short time he located her in the saloon of C. B. Bowers, Franklin street, where she was in company with Miss Lytle. When he commenced to censure his spouse for her actions the Lytle girl interfered and he simply made her shut up by landing a gentle blow on her ruby lips.

Miss Lytle telephoned for the policeman and later Zoellers was arraigned.

THE CONTEST WAXING WARM

It Is Votes and Not Talk That Will Win and the Time Is Short.

TOMORROW THE LAST DAY

So spirited has become the rivalry among the leading candidates in the News Review's great popularity contest that some feeling has arisen. In a few instances candidates and their friends have been accused of employing tactics that were not regular.

The News Review is sincerely sorry that anything of the sort has occurred, and would advise the candidates who are interested in securing a place to get after the coupons instead of engaging in fruitless arguments. It will be more profitable. This paper has not a man in its employ who is taking any part in the contest, so far as the management is aware, and if a candidate or any of his friends has a charge to make that favoritism has been shown, he will confer a favor by reporting the same to this office at once. The News Review treats all alike. Each of the leaders had votes that counted yesterday, and the contest is warming up.

All ballots must be in by 6 o'clock tomorrow evening. As fast as counted the results of the balloting will be bulletined at the News Review office. The whole city is eagerly awaiting the outcome.

TO CIRCUIT COURT

The Hartley Will Case of Salineville Will Be Appealed, Error Being Alleged.

Lisbon, July 30.—(Special)—The Salineville case, in which Lina Hartley seeks to set aside the alleged will of Abraham Hartley, will be taken on error to the circuit court and the application of Byron Hudson and Frank Huxley that their bond be approved as executors named in the will has been continued until after the next term of circuit court.

PLANT TO START IN SEPTEMBER

BIG PLANS FOR THE FUTURE

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, July 30.—J. R. Rose, who has charge of the business of the Bell Pottery company, of Columbus, states that the firm is daily in receipt of applications for positions from all pottery towns of the country. Manager Albert S. Hughes is here and is looking after matters at the plant which is approaching completion. Mr. Rose said a start would probably be made in September. All the buildings are completed, but work has not been started on the kilns. It has not been determined whether to put in down draft or the ordinary kiln. The company is wrestling with this proposition just now. Mr. Rose says the sale of lots is progressing favorably, but not as lively as at the start. Between 400 and 600 hands will be employed in the new plant. The capacity will be increased to 24 kilns after the plant has been in operation a short time, if there is no change in plans, which will make it the largest single pottery in the United States, and, by including the company's pottery at Findlay, will make the concern the largest of the kind in the land.

The state board of appraisers and assessors will begin the work of appraising quasi-public service corporations early next month under the excise law imposing a tax of one-tenth of the per cent on the gross earnings. A comparison with the returns of this year with those of 1896 shows a great growth of telephone companies. In the latter year there were 18 such companies and now there are over 200.

Captain John Maynard, assistant clerk of the house of representatives, today formally announced his candidacy for the house clerkship, to succeed the late Burgess L. McElroy, who served two terms. He is now sending out notices of his candidacy to the Republican nominees for membership in the lower house. Dr. W. F. Cain, who represented Noble in the last house, is a strong candidate for the place.

DOG KILLING CASE ON TRIAL TODAY

John Montgomery Charged With Destroying Solicitor Davidson's Property.

The suit brought in the court of Justice H. P. McCarron by George E. Davidson against John Montgomery for malicious destruction of property, is being heard this afternoon.

The details of the brutal slaughter of Mr. Davidson's two valuable English setter dogs while in camp at Fernwood last week were given exclusive mention in the News Review a few days ago. Mr. Davidson is determined to have satisfaction and says he will carry the matter to the highest tribunal.

Attorney F. W. Lones, of Wellsville, and Mr. Davidson himself are conducting the prosecution, while Attorneys W. S. Potts and W. K. Gaston appear for the defendant.

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

BOOK ON CHINA.

In almost every household is treasured some piece of china, or, perhaps, some example of the poorest earthenware, which is valued beyond price. Around these pieces are crowded memories of the past too varied and too precious to be named. In short, they are sacred, so sacred as to have earned the dignity and title of household gods. This "Old China Book," by N. Hudson Moore, just published, reproduces in careful outline and sketch hundreds of specimens or examples of pottery which are expected to revive a thousand memories in the minds of readers. It was compiled, the author says, to meet the wants, expressed in hundreds of letters of those who own old china, particularly old English china, and who would like to know more about it and to stimulate others to whom the fascination of china collecting are as yet unknown.

The subject as it is treated in this book appeals to those who are interested in their country's history during the time when this colonial country cast aside its mother's hand and took its first step alone. It tends to stir the spirit of patroitism to look on the plain buildings our ancestors were content to view as "beauties." These and other sketches are to be found within the limits of a collection of "Old Blue." Then, apart from the peculiar interest of the Staffordshire wares, are those lovely English porcelains and pottery of the late eighteenth century. One of the earliest examples shown in this volume is the once familiar "Willow Pattern" in form of a platter.

The platter of "New York from Brooklyn Heights" is evidently photographed from an example which has yielded to the frequent cleansing of a fearful housewife, but what is left indicates a very delightful picture. Several examples of fish platters, showing the capitol at Washington, are decidedly ornate. The "Battle of Bunker Hill" is the picture on an old tray, part of a fruit dish. The round spots in the border are holes which pierce it a curious style of ornamentation. As we see it on the china the battle seems almost a toy affair, the proverbial thin line of red broken by two little prancing horses in the middle.

For the near home feeling there are beautiful examples of plates in which are pictured the old City Hotel, New York; Scudder's American Museum, New York; Columbia college, New York; the Burning of the Merchants' Exchange, New York, and of St. Paul's Chapel, New York. There are state pieces, which appeal to those who delight in tracing commonwealth insignia; these are in examples of plates representing the state of New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Delaware and others; the examples of Louisville, Ky.; Sandusky, O., and Albany, N. Y. Among the examples of vases that named the "Jasper Vase," in lilac and white, is an exceedingly chaste piece of work. The original is in the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. But the number and variety of examples presented are too great to be even outlined here.

AWAITING A MEETING.

It is likely that a meeting of the stockholders of the East Liverpool Potteries company will be held some time within the next few weeks. The situation with the company is such as to demand a meeting soon and only the return to the city of the prominent stockholders has been awaited. John J. Purinton returned a few days ago from Boston and other eastern points and Robert Hall is expected home in a short time from Colorado Springs. Both are heavy stockholders of the corporation.

It will be remembered that while the dissolution of the combine has been decided upon the formal steps toward this end have not been taken and such a move is awaited with a great deal of impatience by stockholders, who will retain interests in the individual plants.

A SAD MESSAGE.

William Davidson, a sticker-up at Thompson's, was called to Hamilton, Ontario, yesterday by a telegram announcing that his little daughter, living there with his mother, had died very suddenly. The message did not state the particulars of the sad affair. Mr. Davidson had returned only two weeks ago from Hamilton and at that time the little girl was in excellent health. This is the second death in the Davidson family recently, Mrs. Davidson having died last winter from typhoid fever. Mr. Davidson left last night for Hamilton.

POTTER ROBBED.

T. J. Eisenhuth, the proprietor of a one-kiln art plant on Ravine street, told a News Review reporter yesterday that his home had been entered during the forenoon by robbers and pottery to the value of about $9 taken. Mr. and Mrs. Eisenhuth left home yesterday to spend a few hours down town and the robbery occurred in their absence. They left several doors and windows of the house unfastened and the robbers had no trouble in effecting an entrance. Mr. Eisenhuth claims that two men were seen leaving the premises by neighbors.

Eisenhuth is finding a local market for most of the ware made in his plant. He expects to make another kiln next month.

RUMORED ELOPEMENT.

It was reported today that Miss Maggie Dailey, a well known young lady of the West End, has been missing from the home of her mother, Mrs. Maggie Dailey, since Monday. Until that time Miss Dailey has been employed as forelady in one of the departments at Brunt's porcelain works and is well known in pottery circles. It is claimed that a well known young operative left town at the same time, and it is believed by their friends that they eloped to be married.

PAINFUL INJURY.

Jesse Colclough, jiggerman at the K., T. & K. pottery, met with an accident yesterday which will disqualify him for work for several days. His hand was caught in the jigger-head in some manner, and the thumb of his right hand was badly mashed. A physician dressed the wound and Mr. Colclough's jigger is idle today.

NEW FILTER PRESS.

The National has been installing new filter presses in its plant, which is not only a marked improvement, but will lessen the number of delays encountered in the past. The management of the National have succeeded in making the plant one of the pleasantest in the city in which to work.

THE WEATHER.

Ohio and Western Pennsylvania—Showers; cooler along the lake; Friday fair; fresh west to northwest winds.

West Virginia—Showers; Friday fair in west, showers in east portion.

Well Known New England Woman Cured By Hyomei—Cure Was Lasting.

The thousands of discouraged people who dread summer's approach because they think that hay fever cannot be avoided, will read with interest and gratitude the following statement from Helen F. Williams, of Mansfield, Mass.:

"For 27 years, from the month of August until heavy frost, I have been afflicted with hay fever, growing worse and worse each year, and of late years I was unable to attend to my work during that period.

"Last summer I fortunately gave Hyomei a trial and I am happy to say that it entirely cured me and I have had no return of the condition since."

This letter is one of the many that have come to the proprietors of Hyomei, and the results following this treatment have been so wonderful that it is proposed at the annual convention of hay fever sufferers to recommend Hyomei to all who are susceptible to this disease.

Hyomei is a treatment for hay fever that combines the latest discoveries of science and the best of common sense. Knowing that a change of climate was the only way in which relief could be obtained, the evolution of Hyomei naturally resulted. By breathing its germ killing and healing balsams, any one can have, at any moment of the day, either in their home, the office or the factory, a climate like that of the White Mountains or other health resorts, where hay fever is unknown.

Will Reed agrees to refund the money to any hay fever sufferer who uses Hyomei if it does not give satisfaction.

Indian Coolies for South Africa.

London, July 30.—The parliamentary correspondence on the South African labor question has been issued. Lord Milner, high commissioner for South Africa, telegraphed Colonial Secretary Chamberlain on May 12, 1903, urging the employment of 10,000 Indian coolies for work on the railways, the coolies to be forcibly repatriated at the end of their service. Lord Milner represented the labor problem to be alarming in South Africa. He reported that there were not enough natives there, if all worked, to meet the growing requirements for the development of the country's resources and that such a dilemma must eventually land the country in financial embarrassment.

Shown the Way Out of Town.

Idaho Springs, Col., July 30.—After a meeting of business men 500 citizens of Idaho Springs went to the city jail and took 14 of the men arrested in connection with the blowing up of the Sun and Moon mine buildings, marched them to the city limits, and told them to leave the place and never return. The men driven out include the president of the local union, the vice president, secretary and treasurer and two or three members of the executive committee. All the others are prominent members of the union. Some of the men complained that they had no money and a purse was made up for them. Everything was done in an orderly manner. The other prisoners were taken to Georgetown, the county seat.

Drivers Have Battle With Police.

New York, July 30.—The police reserves battled with a mob of striking drivers who began their fight for shorter hours against the New York Transfer company. The trouble was precipitated when one of the drivers who refused to join them made his appearance on Seventh avenue. The mob cut the traces from the horse, dumped the contents of the wagon into the gutter and then attacked the offending driver with knives.

Judge Gillmer to Resign.

Youngstown, O., July 30.—The announcement is made that Judge T. I. Gillmer, of Warren, will resign from the judgeship within a week or so. His term does not expire until next February and the election of his successor takes place this fall. If his resignation is given before the Republican convention there will be nominations for the short and long terms.

Electric Car Wrecked.

Anderson, Ind., July 30.—A wreck on the Union Electric company's road in the suburbs caused the death of Walter McGowan, of Alexandria, and injuries more or less serious to 17 passengers. The car was going full speed when it struck a short curve. The brakes failed to work and the car shot from the track and turned over.

Buried 32,000 in His Lifetime.

Columbus, O., July 30.—Adam Stephens, who in his 77 years of life buried more than 32,000 people, is dead. For 35 years he had been superintendent of Greenlawn cemetery in this city. He was born near Lancaster, Pa., but had lived here most of his life.

Only High Price of Manufacturing Sites Keeps Them Out.

APPLICATIONS ARE MANY

So desirable is East Liverpool, owing to its location, for almost any kind of an industry that there is scarcely a week passes in which some city official does not get a letter of inquiry from some firm regarding a site within its corporate limits. Foreign business men realize the value of the Crockery City's location from the standpoint of its close proximity to Pittsburg. As a matter of fact East Liverpool is strictly in the Pittsburg district, and as that district is considered the busiest and most flourishing in the United States, it is not considered strange that applications galore are received for permanent building here.

The numerous applications received lately have been given due consideration and a number of them have been looked upon with favor, but owing to certain existing conditions those interested have been compelled to make the reply: "Your proposition is all right and we would like to assist you in locating in this city, but we are powerless, owing to the fact that people who have property for sale have rated it at such a figure that we know it would be useless to consult you further."

As was stated recently in the News Review one of the biggest concerns in the east applied for a site in the city and was very anxious that some kind of a deal be made whereby it could get a location. Business men took the proposition into careful consideration, viewed a number of desirable sites and could have closed a deal but for the property owners, who upon learning that their property was in demand immediately raised the selling price to almost double the amount usually asked by them. Until such conditions cease it is not very likely that any new industries will settle in the city, and it is hoped by many that a change will soon be noted.

The following letter received by Mayor Weaver from Indianapolis is a sample of the offers made during the past few weeks:

"Mayor of East Liverpool, East Liverpool, O.

"Dear Sir—I have clients who are looking for a location for a steel casting company. They are practical men in the business, expect to erect a first-class plant and to live in the town where it is located and manage it personally. They will guarantee to employ 50 men at the start, 100 men within 12 months and 150 men within two years. They estimate the number of their employes much greater, but will guarantee the above. They are looking for a location where labor can be procured and where the town is willing to offer a site and $20,000 bonus to secure the factory. They will contract to have the factory built and running before one dollar of the bonus is to be paid, and to give any other assurance which may be required to show that they mean business. If your city is interested in this matter I will be glad to hear from you, or to have you refer this to your Business Men's association or such other person or organization as will give it attention.

"Yours very truly,

"W. H. LATTA."

The mayor will turn the letter over to parties likely to be interested. If East Liverpool had an active board of trade, opportunities are constantly being presented for securing new industries.

Case Under Advisement.

Lisbon, July 30.—(Special.)—The case of W. G. Bentley, of Salem, as administrator of the estate of Martha Street, versus William J. Street et al, heirs of the deceased, was on trial yesterday morning and afternoon and was taken under advisement. The administrator had petitioned for the sale of certain real estate, including the Street homestead, and Judge B. S. Ambler, of Salem, who is a party defendant, claims an interest in the property by virtue of a mortgage, which the administrator contends the heirs had no right to give.

Excursion Train on Bessemer Road Crashes Into Rear of Freight.

Butler, Pa., July 30.—An excursion train of nine coaches, loaded with 500 picknickers, bound from Butler to Oil City on the Protected Home Circle picnic, crashed into the rear of a northbound freight train at Carter station, five miles south of Grove City, on the Pittsburg, Bessemer and Lake Erie railroad. A score of passengers were injured, and only the slow rate of speed at the time prevented fatalities. The injured are:

Miss Leah Rogers, Butler; arm and head cut.
Tracy Renshaw, Butler; cut on head.
John Schuring, Butler; cut and bruised slightly.
George Campbell, Butler; head cut.
Lillian Sarver, Butler; head cut.
Isaac Scanlon, newsboy; head bruised and forehead cut.
Mrs. Howe Lyon, Jr., elbow dislocated.
Jane Long, Buttercup; nose broken.
W. L. Beatty, Prospect; elbow cut and back bruised.
Howard Gardner, Butler; cut on head.
Alonzo C. Bonnery, Butler, arteries cut on left wrist.
Mrs. C. A. Hite, Butler; chin cut and fact bruised.
Moses Bell, engine driver; hands and face cut.
E. F. Henry, fireman; back bandly sprained.

The train was in charge of Conductor Charles Kamerer, who escaped injury. W. L. Beatty, of Prospect, got his injuries by being knocked out of the rear door. Attorney Schuring, of Butler, was thrown violently down the aisle. A flagman had been sent back from the freight 20 minutes before the accident occurred to stop the excursion train. After the crash a panic ensued among the passengers.

After a delay of an hour and 30 minutes the engine was raised upon the rails and the excursion continued to Oil City, where the injured had their wounds carefully dressed. The debris of the freight blocked two tracks for two hours.

Work of Conference Endorsed.

Denver, July 30.—The national executive committee of the United Peoples party endorsed all the proceedings of the conference of the reform parties which has been in session in this city for the past two days. The proclamation was also endorsed. A resolution was adopted calling a meeting of the national executive committee of the United Peoples party to be held at St. Louis Feb. 22, 1904. It was also resolved that it was the sense of the committee that the nominating committee should be held early in 1904, before the conventions of either the Republicans or the Democrats. A committee on organization was appointed to organize reform parties in every state in the union.

EAST END

PITTSBURG CAPITALISTS WANT A FACTORY SITE

Have Been Negotiating With a Real Estate Firm for Land in the East End.

The fact that Pittsburg capitalists have been negotiating for a factory site in the East End during the past week has aroused a great deal of speculation as for what purpose the land is wanted. The Smoky City people have visited the East End and looked over the territory, but if they divulged their intentions the secret is being very closely guarded.

Negotiations have been in progress for several days with a well known real estate firm, controlling a very desirable factory site, but no deal has as yet been closed. It is the general belief among those interested in the proposed deal that the site is not wanted for a clay making plant, and the prospect for some new industry is most pleasing.

TRACK TO BE RAISED

C. & P. Railroad Company Will Place Tracks on a Level With the City Street Grades.

The tracks of the C. & P. railroad, from a point near the culvert at Ralston crossing to the state line, are to be raised 18 inches above the present grade. At present the tracks are below the established street grades of the city, and it has been found almost impossible to keep them in proper condition. Stone ballasting is to be used in the work, which is to commence within the next few weeks.

New crossing plates are to be installed at the Mulberry street crossing when the old track is raised and the new one laid. The plates have been on the ground for some time.

Another Family Row.

Officer Fisher was called to Calhoun's addition yesterday morning shortly before noon to take a hand in one of the many family disputes which have been numerous of late in that section. It is stated that blows were passed between a husband and wife as the result of a little difference of opinion and the woman then telephoned to the East End station for an officer. The husband took advantage of the space necessary for the officer to reach the scene and made good his escape. No charge was preferred by the woman and her husband can return to his home without fear of being molested by the police.

A crowd of young people attended the dancing at Ohioville last night, returning at an early hour this morning.

Rev. John C. Hanley, of Canton, is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hanley, Sr., of Pennsylvania avenue.

Attorney James E. Davis went to Calcutta early this morning and is assisting in harvesting the hay crop on his farm.

The ball game which was to have been played tomorrow by Bob Sodaker's and Billy Morrow's teams, has been postponed until next week.

Rev. D. W. McQuiston is home from Cambridge, where he addressed the synodical convention of Young People's societies of the United Presbyterian church.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Erie street Methodist church will give a social at the home of Mrs. Emma Pinkerton, on Pennsylvania avenue, from 5 until 7 o'clock this evening.

Quite a number of young people from the Dry Run neighborhood went to the woods bright and early this morning for a day's outing. The heavy rain this morning marred the day's pleasures.

Reports from the bedside of Elza Caldwell, the lad seriously shot some time ago by his brother James, are that he will soon be able to walk around. The wound will not leave him a cripple, as was at first feared.

YOUNG THEOLOGUE'S MISSIONARY WORK

Gave Rise to Rumors Which Grew Into the Proportions of a Whitecap Crusade.

Mysterious occurrences at Winona within the past two weeks have caused something of a sensation in the small village, and have given rise to reports which were greatly exaggerated concerning "whitecaps." The mysterious appearance of numerous scriptural texts tacked on doors, fences and thrown on steps, gave rise to various tales. For a time a number of the residents of the village were quite indignant over these procedures.

It has now turned out that the cause of the commotion was nothing but the misdirected efforts of a theological student, who conceived the idea of promulgating the cause of righteousness by clandestinely pasting verses, cards, and texts of scripture on gates, barn doors and porches at different places in the neighborhood.

POSSE QUITS SEARCH FOR WM. JACKSON

Sebring Wife Shooter Still at Large And Seems to Have Made Good His Escape.

Sebring, July 30.—(Special.)—The posse has withdrawn from the search for William Jackson, the Sebring wife shooter, and it is believed that he has made good his escape from the immediate neighborhood. The belief that he has committed suicide in the woods is held by but few people. Jackson is armed with the weapon he used on the night of the tragedy.

Physicians at the Alliance hospital stated today that Mrs. Jackson had shown a slight improvement, but that complications are sure to set in which will result in her death ultimately. She may linger for several weeks.

Temporary Truce Declared.

Detroit, July 30.—An agreement has been reached between the striking firemen, oilers and helpers and Superintendent Stanley, of the Detroit United railway, and the men temporarily resumed work under the old conditions. Negotiations, however, will be resumed where they were broken off by the strike and a conference seeking an adjustment of all differences will be held Monday afternoon.

Actress Suicides in Chicago.

Chicago, July 30.—Miss Anna Poston, an actress, 24 years of age, shot and killed herself in her room at the Inter Ocean hotel. Miss Sally Price, her roommate, stated that Miss Poston had been grieving over something for the past two weeks and had made frequent references to suicide. From letters the police learned that she had a sister, Mrs. Mattie Weinns, living in Binghamton, N. Y.

New Counterfeit.

Washington, July 30.—A new issue of the counterfeit of the United States (buffalo) note, described in the press dispatches of Oct. 17, 1902, has been discovered. The check letter has been changed from "C" to "B" and the plate number from 57 to 52. Otherwise the notes are the same.

Shot Rival With Winchester.

RAMPOLLA GETS LUCKY NUMBER

Said to Signify "Pope"—Gotti Not Prejudiced Against America—Conclave Commences Saturday Morning. Sixty-Two Cardinals to Be Present.

Rome, July 30.—Cardinal Oreglia invited the cardinals to enter the conclave on Friday afternoon. The doors will not, however, be closed until Saturday morning and the conclave will not commence until then.

Lots were drawn for the "cells" which the cardinals will occupy during the conclave. The "cell" bearing No. 58 fell to Cardinal Rampolla. According to the cabalistic code of the Roman populace, No. 58 signifies "pope," and since the drawing of lots for the conclave "cells" not a single man or woman among the lower classes of the Roman population has the slightest doubt of Rampolla's election to the chair of St. Peter.

Cardinal Gibbons' cell number is 29, second floor of the court of St. Damascus, in the vatican.

Cardinal Logue's Opinion.

Cardinal Logue, archbishop of Armagh, had an interview with Cardinal Gibbons. When asked what he thought of the objections frequently mentioned against Cardinal Gotti being elected pope on the ground that his being a member of a religious order would prevent him from dealing in a broad spirit with Catholic problems in America and Great Britain, he said:

"It is absurd. Cardinal Gotti was formerly an internuncio and has mixed with the representatives of the various powers. He knows the prevailing conditions as well as anybody. Just because he is a Carmelite, it does not follow that he is narrow-minded. Moreover, it is unreasonable to attribute too much weight to the personality of the new pope. International matters and internal policy are now almost invariably settled by commissions of cardinals, who, under the late Pope Leo, have directed their departments just as much as the heads of departments of a civil government direct their departments.

"But, whatever may be possible it is not likely that he will attempt to make any changes in policy without being careful to take the advice of those commissions which have heretofore directed the policy of the vatican."

With the arrival here of Cardinal Prisco, archbishop of Naples, the number of cadinals who will participate in the conclave is complete and totals 62.

Dramatic Contrast.

Rome during the morning was the scene of one of those dramatic contrasts which are now characteristic of the Eternal City. While at the vatican, in the sistine chapel, a solemn requiem mass was being intoned, with all the solemnity the Catholic church can impose, for the repose of the soul of Leo XIII, the spiritual monarch who claimed Rome as his capitol, another and no less solemn requiem mass was being celebrated in the magnificent pantheon for the repose of the soul of the late King Humbert, the temporal monarch, the capital of whose kingdom was Rome.

In the evening there was a public procession through the streets to the tombs of King Humbert and King Victor Emmanuel. It passed off quietly, though thousands of persons witnessed the demonstration and the procession itself was over a mile in length.

GRAND CHIEF YOUNGSON DEAD

Expired in City Hospital in Meadville This Morning—Appointed Successor.

Cleveland, July 30.—A dispatch received here says A. B. Youngson, who succeeded to the grand chieftainship of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers on the death of Chief P. M. Arthur, died at Meadville, Pa., at 2:40 o'clock this morning.

Meadville, Pa., July 30.—Grand Assistant Chief Engineer A. B. Youngson, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, who is lying at the point of death in Meadville City hospital, and who by the recent sudden death of Chief P. M. Arthur became the executive head of the brotherhood, named M. H. Shay, of Youngstown, O., as his successor, to act in case of his death. Shay is chairman of the committee of adjustment in the brotherhood on the Erie and one of the most capable men in the order.

A PURE HEART, A CLEAN MIND AND A DEEP SENSE OF COURTESY AND CONSIDERATION FOR OTHERS AT ALL TIMES ARE THE REQUISITES OF A GENTLEMAN. It has been said that some of our most perfect ladies and gentlemen—in the strict interpretation of the term—are found in the almshouses today. A gentleman may be recognized in any circle no matter what his attire, and this goes to prove that POSITION AND WEALTH HAVE NOTHING TO DO WITH THE MAKING OF A GENTLEMAN. Environment brings out the good and bad in a gentleman, and if a child is reared in refinement he has the advantage of the child carelessly reared. YOU CAN ALWAYS TELL A GENTLEMAN BY HIS ATTITUDE TOWARD OTHERS.

By BOOKER T. WASHINGTON

THERE are several influences that are constantly exerting themselves against the negro growing up on the soil at present. One of these is THE LACK OF PUBLIC SCHOOL FACILITIES. In the cities the negro parent finds a comfortable schoolhouse and a school in session eight or nine months.

Another thing which sends a larger number of negroes to the cities than many realize is the surety of getting police protection when one is charged with a crime.

FOR EVERY LYNCHING OR ATTEMPT AT LYNCHING IN THE COUNTRY A SCORE OF NEGROES LEAVE FOR THE CITY.

COUNTY AND NEIGHBORHOOD

Elder James Calvin, of Youngstown, known as "the marrying parson," is dead at the age of 90. He had resided in that city since 1832.

A man believed to be Andrew Brindzke, of New Castle, was killed at Lowellville. He was getting off a B. & O. train when he fell under.

The convention to nominate a successor to Congressman Gill will meet at Steubenville September 22. The primaries will be held September 16.

Isaac Kille, a prominent Damascus citizen, has been taken to Massillon asylum for treatment. He was ill for several weeks which terminated in insanity.

Jesse R. Maple, who lives on Yellow Creek, just above the mouth of Brush creek, is hale and hearty at the age of 94. He was born on the farm where he now lives.

Peter Calambros met with death by burning in a horrible way at the Mingo Junction steel plant. A big splash of hot metal enveloped him and burned every inch of his body.

Amos Denn, of Warren, was bothered with ants and he poured gasoline into an ant hole at the side of the house. The blaze killed the ants, but badly damaged one side of his home, which was scorched by the blaze.

Court at Youngstown overruled the motion for a new trial in the case of Michael Schiller, a saloonkeeper, convicted of murder in the first degree for stabbing his wife to death and sentenced him to be electrocuted at Columbus on Tuesday, November 10.

George Rice, aged 11 years, son of James M. Rice, proprietor of the Crown Mineral Spring bottling works at Alliance, died from injuries received by the explosion of a pop bottle. A piece of glass penetrated his left side and severed an artery.

A Woman's Complexion.

It is rank foolishness to, attempt to remove sallowness or greasiness of the skin by the use of cosmetics, or "local" treatment, as advocated by the "beauty doctors." The only safe and sure way that a woman can improve her complexion is by purifying and enriching the blood, which can only be accomplished by keeping the liver healthy and active. The liver is the seat of disease and blood pollution. Green's August Flower acts directly on the liver, cleanses and enriches the blood, purifies the complexion. It also cures constipation, biliousness, nervousness, and induces refreshing sleep. A single bottle of August Flower has been known to cure the most pronounced and distressing cases of dyspepsia and indigestion. New size trial bottle, 25 cents: regular size, 75 cents. BABY'S VOICE

Is the joy of the household, for without it no happiness can be complete. How sweet the picture of mother and babe, angels smile at and commend the thoughts and aspirations of the mother bending over the cradle. The ordeal through which the expectant mother must pass, however, is so full of danger and suffering that she looks forward to the hour when she shall feel the exquisite thrill of motherhood with indescribable dread and fear. Every woman should know that the danger, pain and horror of child-birth can be entirely avoided by the use of Mother's Friend, a scientific liniment for external use only, which toughens and renders pliable all the parts, and assists nature in its sublime work. By its aid thousands of women have passed this great crisis in perfect safety and without pain. Sold at $1.00 per bottle by druggists. Our book of priceless value to all women sent free. THE RAILROAD PROBLEM.

The railroad problem, which has been before the city council for almost a year, should be settled without unnecessary delay. Otherwise the improvements which East Liverpool earnestly desires and greatly needs will be delayed indefinitely. Already needless quibbling has led to such procractination that the improvements which the railroad company is making all along its line are less advanced in this city than at almost any other point, whereas this ought to have been one of the first spots where the double track should have been completed early and put to use. Manufacturers and merchants and all others who deal with the railroad company are constantly hampered and annoyed by delayed shipments and delayed deliveries of freight, and this state of affairs is bound to continue as long as the railroad company is restrained from extending its facilities here.

The News Review is no apologist for the Pennsylvania company, and fully agrees with those who argue that the city owes that corporation nothing. Yet the Cleveland & Pittsburg is the only railroad the city has, and with it we must deal. It is not wise, therefore, for East Liverpool to place unnecessary obstructions in the way of the railroad constructing a system of double tracks, which will be of vast benefit to the city, as well as to the railroad. There has been too much disputing over streets and alleys that are unnamed, unopened and unused and likely to continue so indefinitely. These are not matters of vital importance to the city. The really important issues involved are whether there shall be a station in the East End, protection for dangerous grade crossings and improved facilities for reaching the company's cars with teams for the purpose of unloading freight after it has reached the city. The board of public service, which is largely composed of manufacturers and business men, does not seem disposed to insist upon the erection of a freight station upon the hill. Certainly the board is in a position to know whether or not business interests demand that concession.

If a majority of the manufacturers are satisfied with what the railroad company is disposed to grant—and whether they are or not can be ascertained very easily—that fact should go a long way toward satisfying the people, whose prosperity depends so largely on the prosperity of the city's industrial establishments. The railroad company has conceded much and may be prevailed upon to concede more. The city should certainly make the very best bargain possible and have a contract with no loopholes in it. Now, when the railroad is asking favors, is the time to see that the city gets what it is entitled to. The needs of the future, as well as those of the present, should be carefully kept in mind in making the contract, as the city's growth is bound to be great, and no one wants to see its expansion hindered. But the whole proposition is a business one and should be dealt with in a business way. It is not business to halt and hem and haw and postpone. The questions involved are already so well understood that further discussion of them is needless. Tackle the problem and settle it, and hasten the coming of the day when the railroad will be able to serve its patrons promptly. Croaking and knocking and railing against corporations will do no good, and have already done much harm in delaying settlement of questions which the business men of the city are impatient to see settled, that improvements may proceed without interruption.

The people of Ohio will have a chance to vote next November on a constitutional amendment giving the general assembly power to divide the cities of the state into three classes. The first class is to include cities of 100,000 population and over; the second, cities from 25,000 to 100,000 population and the third those under 25,000. The legislature is authorized to provide a proper form of government for cities of each class. The only objection that has been advanced against this proposed amendment is that it will result in a "tearing up" of the governments just established under the new code; and that the plan of uniformity should be given a trial. Those who take this ground have overlooked the word "may" in the amendment. Should it be adopted, it will not require the legislature to act under it at once. If the majority feels like giving the uniform plan a trial for two years, it can do so. The amendment is not mandatory; it is permissive.

The secretary of the Democratic state committee, referring to the Ohio Democratic senatorial candidate, says: "Any Democrat who voted three times for Cleveland and twice for Bryan will do." In other words, a candidate who is unlikely to know where he "is at" at present is wanted. Under this ruling every county in the state could furnish anywhere from 2 to 200 candidates. But it won't make a bit of difference what selection is made. The game will be interesting only in the candidacy stage.

England's latest and biggest battle ship will cost $7,500,000. Her tonnage is 16,530, which is but a small fraction greater than that of two American battle ships under construction. It takes a long purse to keep in the modern naval swim.

A New York man has just awakened from a sleep of 44 days. Philadelphia should look to her laurels. With practice he may be able to beat her best record.

The railroad problem has passed the talking stage. Now is the time for action.

Construction Will Be Pushed As Rapidly As Possible On C. A. Smith's New Railway.

The interrupted work on the new car line to the East End of the city has been resumed and the construction force is being added to as fast as the men can be secured. Yesterday afternoon there were 10 or 12 men at work and this number has been increased today. According to the statements of C. A. Smith and his associates the line will now be rushed to completion.

Contractor Coates, who with his men commenced the construction of the line, is expected here this evening. Engineer Bryan is also expected from Pittsburg. Owing to the uncertainty of the time of a decision being reached in the injunction proceedings both of these men left the city to look after other interests. Contractor Coates will bring with him a number of men experienced in street car construction.

A feeling of relief prevails among the people along the proposed route of the new line and particularly in the neighborhood where the streets have remained torn up on account of the injunction. Mr. Smith states that these streets will be placed in good condition at once.

The necessary material to proceed with the work is at hand and additional shipments will be received as needed. No further delay in the completion of the line is expected.

There is but one thing to hinder the speedy construction of the line at the present time. Though there are seemingly plenty of laborers in the vicinity it has been found difficult to get sufficient men to work on the line, and the contractor will be handicapped greatly unless conditions change. Not only are laborers in demand but teams and teamsters are hard to find. Having a plentiful supply of ties, rails, etc., the contractor is able to push the work with dispatch, if he can only get the men.

Orders of Interest in Connection With the Settlement of Estates.

Lisbon, July 30.—(Special)—The late Thomas T. Hamilton, of Wellsville, left no will and the widow, Lizzie Hamilton, has been appointed administratrix. Bond, $5,000. Appraisers, A. H. Bulger, John I. Hodson and Will Reed.

Michael V. Ryan, as administrator of the estate of James F. Ryan, of Wellsville, has been given an order for the private sale of real estate. An additional bond of $7,000 has been required.

Louis Weirick has been appointed executor of the late John Weirick, of Salem. No bond required.

Susanna Lodge, of Leetonia, as guardian of Walter G. and Orlan Lodge, has been given an order for the appraisement of six tracts in Salem township.

Go Prepared.

In preparing for your summer outing a little forethought may save you no end of trouble. Mr. John H. Manly, a dry goods merchant, of Bellville, R. I., while packing an outfit for camping a few weeks on Narragansett Bay, put in a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for emergency use. The second day in camp his little boy was taken with cramp colic. The first dose of this remedy gave relief and the second dose effected a cure. Think of the pain and suffering this boy would have had to endure without this remedy at hand to relieve him. Such cases often result fatally. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

A Foolish Pair

Mr. and Mrs. Googoobird were very economical and careful creatures, and it happened that in a few years they managed to lay by a nice little sum of money. One day they agreed to buy new clothes and begin to enjoy life.

So Mr. Googoobird purchased a pretty straw hat, and Mrs. Googoobird purchased a beautiful spring bonnet. Then they put on these fine things and flew out to the road, where they perched upon the milestone to wait for the other birds and animals to pass by and say nice things about them.

But all the time nobody came their way to admire them, and they wondered why that was so. They still waited, however.

Now, the truth of the matter was that there was a small black cloud in the sky that was getting larger every minute, and all the animals were afraid to venture from their homes until after the storm, for they were sure that the cloud meant rain. The Googoobirds were so pleased with themselves that they never once thought of clouds or rain, and when the rain did come it took them by surprise.

My, how it did rain! And, my, how their poor hats did suffer! Mrs. Googoobird's feathers were so thoroughly soaked with water that they were simply washed off her hat, and black dye from the band of Mr. Googoobird's hat ran down into his eyes. Their fine things were utterly ruined, but they learned a very good lesson, and that lesson was that clothes are not everything in this world. Good common sense is worth much more.—Detroit Journal.

Horses of Celebrated Men.

It is generally known that Napoleon's white stallion, the horse he rode at Waterloo, was named Marengo and that Wellington's charger in the same battle was Copenhagen. The latter lived to be twenty-seven years old. The remains of Marengo are preserved in the Museum of the United Services, London. Do you remember the names of any of George Washington's horses? In nearly all of the Washington statues the Father of His Country is represented as on horseback, but what is the name of the animal he bestrides? Richard III. owned White Surrey, and it was for that splendid animal that he cried when he shouted, "My kingdom for a horse!" William III.'s favorite horse, Sorrel, had one eye. Savoy, the black horse of Charles VII. of France, also had only one eye.

WELLSVILLE

THIS IS REFRESHING

Wellsville, Despite Hot Weather, Is Talking of a Skating Park.

If the present plans of a number of the heavy stockholders of the Central base ball park are carried out, Wellsville will have one of the finest ice skating parks in this section of the state the coming winter. It is the intention of these stockholders to convert the park into a skating pond as soon as the base ball season is over, and work will be commenced toward making the change at that place.

A six inch curb is to be placed inside the park and a certain distance from the fence and the water is to be put on the inside of this curb. By this plan it will be unnecessary to make any excavation or tear up the ball field in any way. The ice is to be frozen by an artificial process similar to that used in a majority of the skating parks. The ice is to be kept about five inches thick and frozen to the ground. In this way it is claimed that it will remain frozen longer and give a much smoother surface for the skaters.

W. C. Connor is the prime mover in the project. He believes that much money can be made if a good skating park is constructed. The former plan of the stockholders, to use the park for a foot ball field during the fall, has been abandoned.

NEW PUMPING STATION

Duquesne Engineering Company, $17,772, the Lowest Bidder for the Work.

Three bids were submitted for the construction of the new pumping station. They were opened today at noon and the bid of the Duquesne Engineering company, of Pittsburg, $17,772, was the lowest.

Though the contract was awarded this company it will likely be at another meeting to be held this week.

Rural Carrier Found.

Civil Service Examiner E. W. Crawford, of Washington, D. C., was in the city Tuesday afternoon, when he examined two applicants for the rural free delivery route. The applicants were Miss Sylvia Culman and M. C. Excell. Mr. Crawford will make a report on their standing in a short time. Postmaster Snowden has appointed A. G. McBane, of California Mills, to carry the route commencing Monday, August 3. He has already passed the examination and waits the route until some regular carrier can be secured.

To Organize a Band.

Mayor W. L. Fogo has issued an official call to all of the musicians in the city and those who are interested in the formation of a brass band of a meeting to be held in the city hall for the above purpose this evening. It is expected that a band of at least 15 or 16 pieces can be formed. There are enough instruments in the hands of those interested in the project to equip the entire band and it is hoped that as many as possible will attend the meeting.

Sunday School Picnic.

The annual outing and picnic of the Sunday school of the First United Evangelical church and the Bethel Mission was held today at Columbian park in the East End, East Liverpool. Over 100 children attended and the day was most enjayably spent. The majority of the children were under the care of their parents or a guardian, but the others were looked after by the pastor of both churches, Rev. W. A. Vandersall.

Scattered Pottery Casks.

A runaway occurred in the neighborhood of the Smith-McNicol pottery yesterday which did not result in much damage. A team of horses hitched to a dray of loaded pottery casks ran off at breakneck speed, throwing the driver to the ground. All of the casks rolled out of the dray before the horses were stopped. The driver was uninjured. The team became frightened at a blast which sounded nearby.

The committees who had the Fourth of July celebration in charge met last evening at the city hall at which time the financial business connected with the celebration was settled up. It was found that the total expenditures of the celebration amounted to $452, which does not include the $25 to be awarded to the firm having the best vehicle in the parade. The total amount received, including all donations, was $480, which, when the $25 prize has been awarded, will leave a balance in the treasury of $3. The parade committee the first of the week will award the $25 prize.

Real Estate Deals.

A house and lot belonging to Estella Hoffman, situated on Commerce street, West End, has been sold to George and William Sheckler, of Chester, for $750. The same men purchased three houses and lots on Fourteenth street at a cost of about $1,600 from A. C. Van Dyke.

Repairs at the Depot.

A number of much needed repairs are being made at the Third street depot. A new lavatory is being put in and also a new floor in the men's waiting room. The office of the assistsuperintendent, J. W. Coney, has been entirely remodeled and refurnished.

Will Play at Empire.

The West End Athletic club, which is classed as the second base ball team of Wellsville, will go to Empire Saturday and in the afternoon will play the strong team of that village.

New Rules.

E. L. Wilson and Byron D. Beacom, who comprise the board of public safety, are now hard at work preparing new rules and regulations for the police and fire departments.

WELLSVILLE SHORT STORIES.

SOUTH SIDE

Will Probably Be in the McCutcheon Building on Virginia Avenue.

The committee which was appointed a few days ago to select and make arrangements to secure quarters for the new Industrial bank, have lost no time since given authority to proceed, and it is now almost certain that the bank will be located in the McCutcheon building on Virginia avenue.

The committee approached Mr. McCutcheon several days ago, and the chances for securing the room were thought to be of the best since the drug man is contemplating the erection of a residence and business room on his new property at the corner of Virginia avenue and Second street The only difficulty which confronts the parties to the deal is the fact that the bank people desire that the location for the bank be in readiness within 60 days.

Even if the contract for Mr. McCutcheon's new building were let at once it would hardly be in shape to move into in the 60 days' limit. However, all are taking a breathing spell in which to figure, and if it is at all possible for the drug man to rush the work on his new building so as to have it ready for occupancy in the limited time allowed, the present drug store site will be rented to the bank. The location is a very desirable one, and is thought by the committee to be commodious enough to accommodate the institution for several years to come, or until the company would decide to erect a building of its own.

GOOD ROADS MOVEMENT

A Supervisor in Brooke County Setting a Good Example to Others.

The Wellsburg Herald, which is interested in the good roads movement, says:

"Robert McNabb, road supervisor, reports that his work on the roads near Collier is about done so far as his present contracts are concerned. His next work on the Cross Creek roads will be the improvement by macadamizing of one and one-quarter miles of road between Ebenezer church and Sanders' mill. He expects to begin work in a few days. McNabb, with J. T. Douglas and one or two others, were the Brooke county delegates to the recent road convention held at Morgantown. He reports that the meeting resulted in great good and that many had come from the lower counties a hundred miles or more on horseback, so eager were they for information, displaying an interest that should be emulated by those in the northern counties."

The farmers of Hancock county, especially those who attended the convention at Morgantown, are vitally interested in the movement, and it is probable action will be taken very soon toward improving the country roads in this section of the state. The country people feel that they have neglected the agitation quite long enough. The roads leading into Chester from every rural district become actually impassable during the winter, and all are awake to the fact that the time for action is at hand.

WORK RESUMED

Delay Was Short in Resuming Operations at Hadley Farm Well.

The members of the Chester Oil & Gas company consider themselves the most fortunate individuals in the whole state of West Virginia. At an early hour Wednesday morning the tools being used in the well on the Hadley farm were lost, and the drillers felt sure a long job of fishing was on hand. The mishap was caused by the jars breaking, and this is considered the very worst kind of luck. The drillers were further handicapped by the absence of clutches of any sort.

Edward Stewart, who is an expert oil man, and who has been superintending the work, was equal to the emergency, and in a very short time had rigged up an improvised grappling apparatus. The arrangement was a crude affair but it answered the purpose in a very satisfactory manner. Wickets were quickly cut in the jars, and the new appliance took hold at once. It was only a short time after the breakage occurred until the drillers were able to resume their operations.

Word was sent to the interested ones in Chester that the damage had been repaired and the members of the company, who had been badly discouraged since the break was reported, commenced making renewed preparations to visit the well. New estimates were made as to the length of time it would take to bring the well to a finished state, and early this morning the stockholders in large numbers went to the Hadley farm to witness the finish.

GREAT TRANSFORMATION

An Attraction of Unusual Interest at Rock Springs Theater Next Week.

Manager M. Shay, of the "Choir Transformation," has just closed with Manager Franklin for the appearance of his attraction at Rock Springs park next week. The lovers of fine music are delighted with the prospect of an opportunity to hear this new act before it is taken into New York for the coming season.

Mr. Shay and his stage director, M. O'Brien, have been rehearsing the piece for the past two weeks, and it has now reached a degree of perfection which surprises even the promoters. Miss Kathryn McFadden will be seen at her best, while Master Earl Troupe, who arrived this week, has been hard at work upon his music for several days. The scenic and electrical effects for this great transformation are said to surpass anything of the sort ever attempted, and will undoubtedly attract large crowds during the entire week.

Arrested for Picking Berries.

Stephen Canady and Albert Buchheit were arrested for trespass yesterday, the charge being filed by Benton Newell, upon whose farm the men had been picking blackberries. The men were arraigned in the court of Justice A. G. Pugh and upon pleading guilty were each fined $3 and costs. Canady was able to pay, but Buchheit did not have the money and was remanded to jail. Both were from East Liverpool.

Bought Valuable Property.

C. T. McCutcheon, the Virginia avenue drug man, has closed the deal for the lot at the southeast corner of Virginie avenue and Second street, buying it from William Croxall. The property is one of the most desirable in the city as a residence location. The lot includes the space occupied by the present postoffice building. The new owner expects to erect a fine residence in the near future.

CHESTER NOTES.

Mrs. L. A Smith, of Phoenix avenue, is ill.

Alexander Allison, who has been ill for a week, is improving.

James Welsh, of Fairview, is the guest of Lawrence Baxter today.

Miss Rachel Baxter and sister, Miss Ruth, are the guests of relatives at Fairview.

W. H. Sterling, who has been ill with rheumatism for the past four weeks, is better.

Ground will be broken soon for the construction of two dwellings on Pennsylvania avenue, to be built by John Shrader.

Mrs. Rev. Bruce Gillis, with her sister, Mrs. Smith, departed yesterday for Xenia, where the ladies will visit their parents.

Justice W. C. Johnston, who has been ill for several weeks, has recovered sufficiently to be able to resume his duties as postmaster.

Robert Hobbs, who recently disposed of his interests in the firm of Allison & Hobbs, will be employed by the new firm of J. C. Lewis & Co.

Mrs. Dr. George E. Lewis and Miss Spear are spending today in Wellsville, the guests of Miss Anna Moore, bookkeeper at the Chester grocery.

The tin mill is once more running full in every department. All of the mill men who have been out of town arrived early in the week and are at work.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles St. Clair, of Carolina avenue, have returned from an extended visit to Monroe county. They were guests at the home of Mrs. St. Clair's parents.

The household goods of J. C. Lewis arrived in Chester yesterday from Knsington. Mr. Lewis and family will reside at the corner of Carolina avenue and Second street.

Depositions are being taken today in the case of Ellen Gibson versus James Gibson, which comes up for trial at New Cumberland shortly. Mrs. Gibson seeks legal separation, and a large number of witnesses are being examined before Justice W. C. Johnston today.

Under the direction of A. Dinerstein the theatre and upper cafe at Rock Springs park are being re-painted. The work is nearly completed, and the new buildings present a handsome appearance.

The whereabouts of Stage Manager Joe Bradley is still a mystery. Careful inquiry is being made in every city for miles around, and it is hoped the authorities will be able to locate him soon.

Prof. James M. Miller, will have charge of the Chester schools the coming year. He is a Hancock county boy, who formerly taught in Chester and last year had charge of the Holliday's Cove high school.

THE KING HARDWARE CO.

A YOUTHFUL SCIENTIST.

Inventor of a Wonderful Device to Make the Deaf Hear.

Scientific men all over the world are deeply interested in the discovery made by Miller Reese Hutchinson, a young inventor, who by means of an electrical device has seemingly demonstrated that the deaf can be made to hear.

The instrument as explained by the inventor is an application of the combined principles of the telephone and the microphone, the latter being a very sensitive scientific instrument for the magnifying of sound. By the combination sounds are vastly magnified through the outer and middle ears to the inner ear and the auditory nerve.

In operation the instrument sends the air waves against the tympanum and forces it to vibrate, thus vibrating the middle ear and loosening the three vibratory bones so that they perform their functions. 'It was the use of this appliance, it is said, that enabled Queen Alexandra of England to regain her hearing, which for some years had been impaired. Mr. Hutchinson is the happy possessor of a gold medal given him by the queen "for scientific research and investigation."

While pursuing his investigation the inventor made a study of the human ear under one of the leading aurists of the country, acquiring a thorough knowledge of its mechanical construction. Speaking of this phase of his research, the inventor said: "I am an engineer, electrical and mechanical, and the human body is mechanism. The perfecting of my invention has been due to the application of sound mechanical principles and mathematical facts to the mechanical aspects of the ear as an organ."

Miller Reese Hutchinson is a native of Mobile and ten years ago, when but sixteen years of age, began working on the problem, which even at that age had engrossed his attention. He was educated in the public schools and at the Alabama Polytechnic institute, graduating from that school as an electrical engineer. After his graduation Mr. Hutchinson applied himself to the perfecting of two instruments by means of which, it is said, persons who have never heard a sound in all their lives have been enabled to hear with distinctness music played on a piano and the tones of the human voice in ordinary conversation.

FOOTBALL SEASON

Will Open Early in This City—Rovers Begin Practice Next Week.

The foot ball season will be opened in this city during the early part of September and already teams are being organized. Practice will be commenced this week and both association and Rugby players will begin to get into condition for the fall gridiron contests.

Manager Ashbaugh and Captain Tyson, of the West End Rovers, have issued notices to the players of last year's team to report for practice Monday evening, August 3, at West End park. The team will be selected from the following well known players: Amos, McDevitt, J. Hester, Tyson, T. Hester, F. Coleman, Arb, Coleman, Jones, Cartwright, Robinson, McAvoy, Johnson, Fraser, Miller Hardy and Moore.

Notices have also been issued by several of the association teams to report for practice. The first few weeks will be given to learning new signals and new plays, the weather being too warm for active training.

Wellsville Team on a Tour.

The members of the Wellsville base ball team all reported to the manager yesterday morning and in the afternoon went to the park to indulge in practice. The rain prevented, however, and the team left the city this morning for New Castle, where they will play a game in the afternoon. From New Castle, the team will go to Jamestown, N. Y., and will play against the team of that city on Friday and Saturday afternoons. Next week the team will play in a few Pennsylvania towns and will return for a game on the Wellsville grounds the following Saturday with Rochester, Pa.

West End Beaten.

The West End base ball team was defeated in a contest last evening by the Pleasant Heights club on the grounds of the latter. The feature of the game was the hard hitting of both teams, the score being 17 to 20.

A Game on Saturday.

A game of base ball has been arranged between the Pleasant Heights team and the club from Smith's Ferry. The game will be played next Saturday on the grounds of the former team on the hill.

SPORTING MISCELLANY.

Base ball games in San Francisco have been attended by 500,000 fans this season.

Forty-five men have been benched by the umpires in the two leagues this season, some of them three times.

The Pittsburg base ball club has received a severe shock by the desertion of Edward Doheny, one of the club's mainstays in the pitching department. Doheny left the team for his home in Andover.

Tom Sharkey, the famous Irish heavyweight, and Tom Jenkins, of Cleveland, the present champion, have signed for a wrestling match to take place at the carnival stadium in Jacksonville November 7 next.

A match race will take place at the Morado (Beaver county) driving park tomorrow afternoon between B. Steinfeld's Rena Young and William Bogler's Blue Bell. The former has a record of 2:18¼ and the latter one of 2:16¼. The race will be the best three out of five heats for $250 a side.

After three successful years Leach Maskrey has resigned as manager of the Warren ball club and Harvey Leach was chosen to succeed him. Sump succeeded Van Paterson as captain. Paterson will quit base ball. All players were notified by the new management that they must play winning ball or go.

Sun

Gave Up Preaching For Two Years.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Put Me On Active List.

Are you well? Do you sleep well? Do you get up rested, fresh and vigorous? Is your mind clear and active? If not read the following. See what another has suffered and how he recovered.

"Some years ago I was afflicted with sun stroke which left me with a shattered nervous system and exceedingly poor health. I suffered terribly with pain in my head, the top of my head would feel hot. I could not study, and after striving for two years to wear the trouble off, I was compelled to give up my pastoral labor and retire to my farm where I spent nearly two years trying to recuperate. It was all of no avail. Physicians' treatment and patent medicines failed to relieve me. I was exceedingly nervous and irritable and sometimes would shake terribly. I could not bear any noise. At the least excitement the blood would rush to my face and head. Two years ago I was induced to try Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. After using one bottle I could see improvement in my condition so I continued taking it for nearly a year. I am happy to say I no longer have those pains in my head or nervous spells. My appetite is good and I am able to preach three times on Sunday without fatigue. I consider Dr. Miles' Nervine the most wonderful medicine ever discovered."—Rev. D. Alex. Holman, Pastor U. B. Church, Marion, Ind.

Aeronauts Enjoined.

Omaha, July 30.—A temporary injunction was granted in the court of Judge Dickinson that the balloon which ascends twice daily from Courtland beach must not descend on the farm property, destroy crops or frighten the live stock of Claus Nelson. The balloon has fallen many times on Nelson's property. To recover their airship the aeronauts have been forced to pay lately sums ranging from $2 to $5, and a few days ago the farmer stood guard over the canvas with a shotgun and demanded $20. The big bag was recovered by a writ of replevin.

BLOWN TO ETERNITY

Gunpowder Magazines Explode With Frightful Concussion, Killing Over a Score.

HALF A HUNDRED ARE INJURED

Lowell, Mass., July 30.—Two small gunpowder magazines, situated in the very midst of the humble residences of 50 mill operatives, exploded with a frightful concussion and the resultant wave of death cut off the lives of more than a score of human beings and injured nearly 50 others. Half a dozen men who were loading kegs of powder from one of the magazines were blown to pieces; four boys 200 yards away were killed by the force of the explosion, and 14 frame houses within a radius of 400 yards went down as if they had been built of cards. Seven of these homes immediately caught fire, probably from the kitchen stoves, and were completely consumed. At least three persons were caught in the ruins and burned to death, while seven or eight others, who were rescued, died subsequently of their injuries.

It is estimated that 70 separate pieces of property, including those already mentioned, were destroyed, while the force of the explosion wrecked windows for five or six miles around and its thunder could be heard distinctly more than 50 miles away.

Many Dwellings Near Magazines.

The magazines were the property of the United States Cartridge company, of this city, but fortunately were situated more than a mile away from the factory itself. They were built of brick about 10 feet high, with a rounded roof of corrugated iron. They were constructed some 30 years ago, in what was then a broad open field on the banks of the Concord river. During the last decade small wooden dwelling houses have gradually sprung up in the vicinity, crowding closer and nearer with the fancied security to the two innocent looking buildings until they almost completely surrounded them, except on the river side, the nearest house being scarcely 50 feet away.

One of the magazines was just within the roadside of fence, while the other was about 100 feet behind it near the banks of the river. Both magazines ordinarily contained two or three tons of gunpowder in tin kegs. The company has for some time been desirous of strengthening the floor of the magazine near the street and eight men were sent there with three large express teams to take out the powder and mend the floor. Two of the teams had been loaded and the other was almost full when the explosion occurred.

Cause of Explosion.

It was a long time before the actual cause of the explosion could be ascertained. It was thought at first that every one within a radius of 50 feet of the magazines had been killed, but later it was found that Clarendon Good, the foremen of the men who were loading the powder on the teams, had survived, together with one of his assistants, Amadee Boulanger, and the latter was seen in the hospital.

He said that the men went down to the magazine nearest to the street to fix the floor and after the teams had been loaded with the powder which was in the magazine, it was discovered that a can of nitroglycerin which was stored in the magazine was leaking. Mr. Goodwin picked up what he thought was a jug of water and began pouring onto the nitroglycerin with the idea of diluting it and washing it up. As soon as the fluid from the jug struck the floor he found that it was nitric acid. The floor at once began to smoke, and when the men saw it they rushed from the building, but had not gone 10 feet when the explosion occurred.

The magazine was therefore the first to go up, followed immediately by the gunpowder in the three teams, and several seconds later by the second magazine.

DROWNED AT ATLANTIC CITY

Carbondale Man Loses Life Trying to Rescue Girl from Sea—Mother Witnesses Accident.

Atlantic City, July 30.—Dr. Joseph Kelvine, aged 34 years, of Carbondale, Pa., gave up his life while trying to rescue from the sea Miss Mearle Shannon, aged 20 years, of Williamsport, Pa., who disappeared beneath the waves before she could be taken from the water.

Dr. Kelvine was a guest at the Hotel Sothern, where Miss Shannon was employed. The accident happened off New Jersey avenue. The young woman, while bathing, was swept around the end of a jetty where the water was 20 feet deep. The girl gave a shriek and Dr. Kelvine, who had accompanied her into the surf, went to her rescue. He reached her and while struggling to get her into shallow water she was torn from him by the waves.

About this time three life guards came to the rescue and one of them took care of Dr. Kelvine, who lapsed into unconsciousness. The girl sank and the other two guards dived for her, but did not find the drowning girl. The life guards tried to resuscitate Dr. Kelvine without success. It is believed he died from some other cause than drowning, as he had not been in the water long enough.

The accident was witnessed by thousands of persons on the boardwalk, among which was Mrs. John Klune, of Carbondale, the mother of Dr. Kelvine. She did not know that the dead man was her son until she had elbowed her way through the crowd and found him lying upon a bench. Mrs. Klune was taken care of by friends.

and afterwards proceeded in a motor car through the picturesque scenery of that portion of Ireland, inspecting many of the laborers' cottages on the way.

Their majesties will travel by motor car through the Connemara country. Queen Alexandra has given the earl of Dudley $2,500 for distribution among the poorest people of Dublin and other parts of Ireland.

Arranging for Long's Funeral.

London, July 30.—Pending the arrival of relatives of John G. Long, of St. Augustine, Fla., United States consul general at Cairo, Egypt, who fell down the steps of his hotel at Dunbar, Scotland, Monday evening, sustaining injuries from which he died the same night, Major General Sir Francis Wingate, sirdar of the Egyptian army, who is home on leave and with whom Mr. Long spent Monday evening, is making preliminary arrangements for the funeral. It is expected that the body will be removed to Liverpool Saturday for shipment to the United States and that the interment will take place at Washington.

Arrests Made in Danville.

Danville, Ill., July 30.—Eleven arrests were made for participation in the lawless outbreak of Saturday night, when the jail was attacked in an effort to lynch James Wilson, a negro who, it is alleged, assaulted Mrs. Burgess, of Alvin. The grand jury has been ordered to convene on Monday to indict the leaders of the mob. Of those arrested only one gave bond. A guard has been placed around the hospital where five men, who were members of the mob, are receiving treatment for their wounds.

Herman's Contract Signed.

Washington, July 30.—Acting Postmaster General Wynne signed the contract of Paul Herman, of Rutherford, N. J., to furnish the money order forms to the government during the next four years. The first forms are to be supplied under the new contract on Sept. 4.

Marconi's Monopoly of Wireless Telegraphy Easily Frustrated, According to German Company.

Berlin, July 30.—The German Wireless Telegraph company, which was recently organized through the amalgamation of the Slaby and Braun systems, has issued a statement regarding Signor Marconi's utterances on the possibility of the German company intercepting Marconi messages in England.

Marconi's opinion that such interception can only occur if the German company's stations are erected in England is, it is declared, erroneous. The German company says all that is necessary is to erect a strong station on the shores of the Baltic or the North sea, attune its receiving wires to Marconi's station at Poldhu, Cornwall, and it would be impossible for Marconi to receive trans-Atlantic messages. The statement concludes:

"Such procedure for fighting the world monopoly aimed at by Marconi could hardly be called 'chicanery,' but more properly self-defense."

Knocked Out in Fifth Round.

Philadelphia, July 30.—Champion "Young Corbett" knocked out "Jack" O'Neill, of this city, in the fifth round at the National Athletic club. The first three rounds were tame, O'Neill avoiding the champion's rushes. In the fourth round O'Neill hit Corbett three glancing blows on the jaw and was about to deliver a fourth one when Corbett dropped to his knees to avoid it. This gave the local man confidence in the fifth round, which proved fatal to him. He met Corbett's rushes and in an unguarded moment received a terrific right hand punch which sent him to the floor and he was counted out.

Posses Exchange Shots With Convicts.

Folsom, Cal., July 30.—The posses under the direction of Sheriff Keena, of Placerville, and Sheriff Bosquit, of El Dorado, had a brush with the fugitive Folsom convicts on Greenwood creek and a number of shots were exchanged, but so far as can be learned nobody was shot. The convicts avoided a decisive encounter and are now supposed to be working back in the general direction of Coloma.

"Love lightens labor," the saying runs, and in a sense it is true. But even love cannot lighten labor or make it easy for the woman who is in constant suffering from inflammation, bearing-down pains or other womanly diseases. The one thing that can make work easy for women is sound health, and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the thing that will give sound health to sick women. It cures womanly diseases which cause weakness, and cures the backache, sideache, nervousness and other ills which are the result of womanly diseases.

"I suffered from female weakness for five months," writes Miss Belle Hedrick, of Nye, Putnam Co., W. Va. "I was treated by a good physician but he never seemed to do me any good. I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce for advice, which I received, telling me to take his 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' When I had used the medicines a month, my health was much improved. It has continued to improve until now I can work at almost all kinds of housework. I had scarcely any appetite, but it is all right now. Have gained several pounds in weight. Dr Pierce's medicines have done wonderfully well here. I would advise all who suffer from chronic diseases to write to Dr. Pierce."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the paper-covered book, or 31 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

To Cross Arctic Circle in Automobile.

Copenhagen, July 30.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Glidden of Lowell, Mass., left here in their automobile in an attempt to cross the Arctic circle. The United States consul here accompanied them to Elzinore. The automobilists received an enthusiastic send-off from a big crowd.

Date Set for Machen Hearing.

Washington, July 30.—The supreme court fixed Aug. 5 for hearing on the demurrer of August W. Machen, formerly general superintendent of the free delivery division of the postoffice department, to the indictments against him. The demurrer will be filed in court in a day or two.

Drowned Man Carried Big Insurance.

Louisville, July 30.—Paul Caine, the young man who was found drowned last week, had $35,000 in accident insurance in addition to the life policies he carried. A New York company has a representative here investigating the case and the body may be exhumed.

Mrs. Primrose Dead.

Buffalo, July 30.—Mrs. Emma Primrose, nee Catlin, wife of George H. Primrose, the minstrel, is dead of heart paralysis. Mr. Primrose has canceled his engagements and will come on from Chicago.

President Will Deliver an Address.

Oyster Bay, July 30.—The meeting of the societies of the Holy Name of Brooklyn and Long Island, which was postponed on account of the death of Pope Leo, will be held here on Sunday, Aug. 9. President Roosevelt will deliver the principal address. Postmaster General and Mrs. Payne will arrive at Sagamore Hill on the revenue cutter Onondaga and will spend the afternoon at Sagamore Hill. They will take luncheon with the president and Mrs. Roosevelt.

No Change in Methods.

St. Petersburg, July 30.—The statement published in the American papers to the effect that there has been a change in the method of viseing passports for travelers intending to visit Russia is untrue. The rule which has always been in force and remains unchanged is that ambassadors and consuls general may vise passports, but that honorary consuls may not.

GRAUSTARK

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters.

"Ach, that accounts for his surprise when I talked louder and faster than ever. I did not know what he meant. He said positively he would not wait, but just then a second message came from the other station. I did not know what it was then, but a gentleman told me that it instructed him to hold the train if he wanted to hold his job. Job is situation, is it not? Well, when he read that message he said he would wait just twenty minutes. I asked him to tell me how you were coming to us, but he refused to answer. Your aunt and I went at once to the telegraph man and implored him to tell us the truth, and he said you were coming in a carriage over a very dangerous road. Imagine our feelings when he said some people had been killed yesterday on that very road.

"When your aunt and I returned to the train we saw the conductor holding his watch. He said to me, 'In just three minutes we pull out. If they are not here by that time they can get on the best they know how. I've done all I can.' I did not say a word, but went to my section and had Hedrick get out my pistols. If the train left before you arrived it would be without its conductor.

"Then came the sound of carriage wheels and galloping horses. Almost before we knew it you were with us. I am so happy that you were not a minute later."

There was something so cool and grim in the quiet voice, something so determined in those brilliant eyes, that Grenfall felt like looking up the conductor to congratulate him. The dinner was served, and while it was being discussed his fair companion of the drive graphically described the experience of twenty strange minutes in a shackledown mountain coach.

Somehow the real flavor of romance was stricken from the ride by her candid admissions. What he had considered a romantic treasure was being calmly robbed of its glitter, leaving for his memory the blur of an adventure in which he had played the part of a gallant gentleman and she a grateful lady. He was beginning to feel ashamed of the conceit that had misled him. Down in his heart he was saying, "I might have known it. I did know it. She is not like other women." The perfect confidence that dwelt in the rapt faces of the others forced into his wondering mind the impression that this girl could do no wrong.

"And, Aunt Yvonne," she said, in conclusion, "the luck which you say is mine as birthright asserted itself. I escaped unhurt, while Mr. Lorry alone possesses the pain and unpleasantness of our ride."

"I possess neither," he objected. "The pain that you refer to is a pleasure."

"The pain that a man endures for a woman should always be a pleasure," said Uncle Caspar smilingly.

"But it could not be a pleasure to him unless the woman considered it a pain," reasoned Miss Guggenslocker. "He could not feel happy if she did not respect the pain."

"And encourage it," supplemented Lorry dryly. "If you do not remind me occasionally that I am hurt, Miss Guggenslocker, I am liable to forget it." To himself he added, "I'll never learn how to say it in one breath."

"If I were not so soon to part from you, I should be your physician, and, like all physicians, prolong your ailment interminably," she said prettily.

"To my deepest satisfaction," he said warmly, not lightly. There was nothing further from his mind than servile flattery, as his rejoinder might imply. "Alas," he went on, "we no sooner meet than we part. May I ask when you are to sail?"

"On Thursday," replied Mr. Guggenslocker.

"On the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse," added his niece, a faraway look coming into her eyes.

"We are to stop off one day, tomorrow, in Washington," said Aunt Yvonne, and the jump that Lorry's heart gave was so mighty that he was afraid they could see it in his face.

"My uncle has some business to transact in your city, Mr. Lorry. We are to spend tomorrow there and Wednesday in New York. Then we sail. Ach, how I long for Thursday!" His heart sank like lead to the depths from which it had sprung. It required no effort on his part to see that he was alone in his infatuation. Thursday was more to her than his existence. She could forget him and think of Thursday, and when she thought of Thursday, the future, he was but a thing of the past, not even of the present.

"Have you always lived in Washington, Mr. Lorry?" asked Mrs. Guggenslocker.

"All my life," he replied, wishing at that moment that he was homeless and free to choose for himself.

"You Americans live in one city and then in another," she said. "Now, in our country generation after generation lives and dies in one town. We are not migratory."

"Mr. Lorry has offended us by not knowing where Graustark is located on the map," cried the young lady, and he could see the flash of resentment in her eyes.

"Why, my dear sir, Graustark is in"—began Uncle Caspar, but she checked him instantly.

"Uncle Caspar, you are not to tell him. I have recommended that he study geography and discover for himself. He should be ashamed of his ignorance."

He was not ashamed, but he mentally vowed that before he was a day older he would find Graustark on the map and would stock his negligent brain with all that history and the encyclopedia had to say of the unknown land. Her uncle laughed, and, to Lorry's disappointment, obeyed the young lady's command.

"Shall I study the map of Europe, Asia or Africa?" asked he, and they laughed.

"Study the map of the world," said Miss Guggenslocker proudly.

"Edelweiss is the capital?"

"Yes, our home city, the queen of the crags," cried she. "You should see Edelweiss, Mr. Lorry. It is of the mountain, the plain and the sky. There are homes in the valley, homes on the mountain side and homes in the clouds."

"And yours? From what you say it must be above the clouds—in heaven."

"We are farthest from the clouds, for we live in the green valley, shaded by the white topped mountains. We may, in Edelweiss, have what climate we will. Doctors do not send us on long journeys for our health. They tell us to move up or down the mountain. We have balmy spring, glorious summer, refreshing autumn and chilly winter, just as we like."

"Ideal! I think you must be pretty well toward the south. You could not have July in January if you were far north."

"True; yet we have January in July. Study your map. We are discernible to the naked eye," she said, half ironically.

"I care not if there are but three inhabitants of Graustark, all told, it is certainly worthy of a position on any map," said Lorry gallantly, and his listeners applauded with patriotic appreciation. "By the way, Mr. Gug—Guggenslocker, you say the conductor asked you for my name, and you did not know it. May I ask how you learned it later on?" His curiosity got the better of him, and his courage was increased by the champagne the old gentleman had ordered.

"I did not know your name until my niece told it to me after your arrival in the carriage," said Uncle Caspar.

"I don't remember giving it to Miss Guggenslocker at any time," said Lorry.

"You were not my informant," she said demurely.

"Oh, no, indeed. I am no mind reader."

"My own name was the last thing you could have read in my mind in that event, for I have not thought of it in three days."

She was sitting with her elbows on the table, her chin in her hands, a dreamy look in her blue eyes.

"You say you obtained that coin from the porter on the Denver train?"

"Within two hours after I got aboard."

"Well, that coin purchased your name for me," she said calmly, candidly. He gasped.

"You—you don't mean that you"—he stammered.

"You see, Mr. Lorry, I wanted to know the name of a man who came nearest my ideal of what an American should be. As soon as I saw you I knew that you were the American as I had grown to know him through the books—big, strong, bold and comely. That is why I bought your name of the porter. I shall always say that I know the name of an ideal American—Grenfall Lorry."

Her frank statement staggered him almost beyond the power of recovery.

"I—I am honored," he at last managed to say, his eyes gleaming with embarrassment. "I trust you have not found your first judgment a faulty one." He felt very foolish after this flat remark.

"I have remembered your name," she said graciously. His heart swelled.

"There are a great many better Americans than I," he said. "You forget our president and our statesmen."

"I thought they were mere politicians."

Grenfall Lorry, idealized, retired to his berth that night, his head whirling with the emotions inspired by this strange, beautiful woman. How lovely, how charming, how naive, how queenly, how indifferent, how warm, how cold—how everything that puzzled him was she. His last waking thought was: "Guggenslocker! An angel with a name like that!"

CHAPTER IV.

THE INVITATION EXTENDED.

THEY were called by the porter early the next morning. The train was pulling into Washington five hours late. Grenfall wondered as he dressed whether fortune would permit him to see much of her during her brief day in the capital.

After the train had come to a standstill he could hear the rustle of her garments in the next compartment. Then he heard her sweep into the passage, greet her uncle and aunt, utter a few commands to the maid, and, while he was adjusting his collar and necktie, pass from the car. No man ever made quicker time in dressing than did Lorry.

"She'll get away, and that 'll be the end of it," he growled, seizing his traps and rushing from the train two minutes after her departure. The porter attempted to relieve him of his bags on the platform, but he brushed him aside and was off toward the station.

"Nice time for you to call a man, you idiot," was his parting shot for the porter, forgetting of course that the foreigners had been called at the same time. With eyes intent on the crowd ahead, he plunged along, seeing nobody in his disappointed flight. "I'll never forgive myself if I miss her," he was wailing to himself. She was not to be seen in the waiting rooms, so he rushed to the sidewalk.

"Baggage transferred?"

"Cab, sir."

"Go to the devil—yes, here! Take these traps and checks and rush my stuff to — W— avenue. Trunks just in on B. and O.," he cried, tossing his burdens to a transfer man and giving him the checks so quickly that the fellow's sleepy eyes opened wider than they had been for a month. Relieved of his impediments, he returned to the station.

"Good morning, Mr. Lorry. Are you in too much of a hurry to see your friends?" cried a clear, musical voice, and he stopped as if shot. The anxious frown flew from his brow and was succeeded instantaneously by a glad smile. He wheeled and beheld her, with Aunt Yvonne, standing near the main entrance to the station. "Why, good morning," he exclaimed, extending his hand gladly. To his amazement she drew herself up haughtily and ignored the proffered hand. Only a brief second did this strange and uncalled for hauteur obtain. A bright smile swept over her face, and her repentant fingers sought his timidly, even awkwardly. Something told him that she was not accustomed to handshaking; that same something impelled him to bend low and touch the gloved fingers with his lips. He straightened, with face flushed, half fearful lest his act had been observed by curious loungers, and he had taken a liberty in a public place which could not be condoned. But she smiled serenely, approvingly. There was not the faintest sign of embarrassment or confusion in the lovely face. Any other girl in the world, he thought, would have jerked her hand away and giggled furiously. Aunt Yvonne inclined her head slightly, but did not proffer her hand. He wisely refrained from extending his own. "I thought you had left the station," he said.

"We are waiting for Uncle Caspar, who is giving Hedrick instructions. Hedrick, you know, is to go on to New York with our boxes. He will have them aboard ship when we arrive there. All that we have with us is hand luggage. We leave Washington tonight."

"I had hoped you might stay over for a few days."

"It is urgent business that compels us to leave so hastily, Mr. Lorry. Of all the cities in the world, I have most desired to see the capital of your country. Perhaps I may return some day. But do not let us detain you if you are in a hurry."

He started, looked guilty, stammered something about baggage, said he would return in a moment, and rushed aimlessly away, his ears fiery.

"I'm all kinds of a fool," he muttered as he raced around the baggage room and then back to where he had left the two ladies. Mr. Guggenslocker had joined them, and they were preparing to depart. Miss Guggenslocker's face expressed pleasure at seeing him.

"We thought you would never return, so long were you gone," she cried gayly. He had been gone just two minutes by the watch. The old gentleman greeted him warmly, and Lorry asked them to what hotel they were going. On being informed that they expected to spend the day at the Ebbitt he volunteered to accompany them, saying that he intended to breakfast there. Quicker than a flash a glance unfathomable as it was brief passed between the three, not quickly enough, however, to escape his keen, watchful eyes, on the alert since the beginning of his acquaintance with them, in conjunction with his ears, to catch something that might satisfy in a measure his burning curiosity. What was the meaning of that glance? It half angered him, for in it he thought he could distinguish annoyance, apprehension, dismay or something equally disquieting. Before he could stiffen his long frame and give vent to the dignified reconsideration that flew to his mind the young lady dispelled all pain and displeasure, sending him into raptures by saying:

"How good of you! We shall be so delighted to have you breakfast with us, Mr. Lorry, if it is convenient for you. You can talk to us of your wonderful city. I am sure we cannot trouble you much longer."

He expostulated gallantly and delightedly and then hurried forth to call a cab. At 8 o'clock he breakfasted with them, his infatuation growing deeper and stronger as he sat for the hour beneath the spell of those eyes, the glorious face, the sweet, imperial air that was a part of her, strange and unaffected. As they were leaving the dining room he asked if she would not drive with him.

His ardent gallantry met with a surprising rebuke. Her voice, a moment ago sweet and affable, changed its tone instantly to one so proud and arrogant that he could scarcely believe his ears.

"I shall be engaged during the entire day, Mr. Lorry," she said slowly, looking him fairly in the eyes with cruel positiveness. For a moment he dared not speak.

"I have reason to feel thankful that you are to be engaged," he said at last calmly, without taking his eyes from hers, "I am forced to believe, much to my regret, that I have offended when I intended to please. You will pardon my temerity."

There was no mistaking the resentment in his voice or the glitter in his eyes. Impulsively her little hand was stretched forth, falling upon his arm, while into her eyes came again the soft glow and to her lips the most pathetic, appealing smile, the forerunner of a pretty plea for forgiveness. The change startled and puzzled him more than ever. In one moment she was unreasonably rude and imperious, in the next gracious and imploring.

"Forgive me," she cried, the blue eyes battling bravely against the steel in the gray ones above. "I was so uncivil! Perhaps I cannot make you understand why I spoke as I did, but, let me say, I richly deserved the rebuke. Pray forgive me and forget that I have been disagreeable. Do not ask me to tell you why I was so rude to you just now, but overlook my unkind treatment of your invitation. Please, Mr. Lorry, I beg of you—I beg for the first time in my life. You have been so good to me, be good to me still."

His wrath melted away like snow before the sunshine. How could he resist such an appeal? "I beg for the first time in my life," whirled in his brain. What did she mean by that?

"I absolve the penitent," he said gravely.

"I thank you. You are still my ideal American—courteous, bold and gentle. I do not wonder that Americans can be masterful men. And now I thank you for your invitation and ask you to let me withdraw my implied refusal. If you will take me for the drive I shall be delighted and more than grateful."

Brights Disease

Not Rare, but Common—All Kidney Disease is Bright's Disease—The 8th to 10th Month it Becomes Chronic and Incurable by All Known Means Except the new Fulton Compounds, which Record 87% of Recoveries.

We have before us a little work on kidney diseases by Joseph F. Edwards, M. D., of Philadelphia, that contains some things that everyone ought to know. Many people imagine Bright's Disease is rare, when, in fact, it covers the whole gamut of kidney diseases. This book sets out that the kidneys have but one function, viz., the elimination of the urea and waste products, and that all interferences with that function are called Bright's Disease. Dr. Edwards adds: "For the benefit of physicians who may read this book I will give a list of the cases which I attribute to Bright's Disease, viz.:

Albuminuria.
Congestion of the Kidney.
Degeneration of the Kidney.
Fatty Degeneration of the Kidney.
Inflammation of the Kidney.
Uraemia.
Disease of the Kidney."

Thus, all kidney disease being Bright's Disease, the serious question is, is it acute or chronic? In other words, is it in the primary or secondary stage? After the eighth to tenth month it becomes chronic and is then incurable by all known means except the Fulton Compounds. The kidneys are not sensitive. There is often no notice of the trouble till it has already fastened. If you have kidney disease in the first stage the Renal Compound will cure it quickly. If it is of more than 8 to 10 months standing it is the only thing known that will cure it. In proof that nothing else will we cite all medical works as evidence that to this time there has been nothing that cures Chronic Bright's Disease. The stockholders of the John J. Fulton Co., business and professional men of San Francisco, are the first people in the world to announce a positive cure, presenting a definite percentage of recoveries (87 per cent), and giving out the lists of the cured, all among purely chronic, well-defined cases. If you have any kind of kidney trouble, there is only one thing to take. The Renal Compound for Bright's Disease is $1; for Diabetes, $1.50. John J. Fulton Co., 409 Washington street, San Francisco, sole compounders. Free analyses for patients. Pamphlet free. We are the sole agents.

A FRIEND'S ADVICE

You may hesitate to listen to the advice of strangers, but the testimony of residents of East Liverpool is worth your most careful attention. It is an easy matter to investigate such proof as this. The evidence must be conclusive. Read the following:

Mr. W. P. Cochran, of Mulberry street, East End, says: "At intervals for 30 years I had serious kidney and bladder trouble. The agony I went through can hardly be described. Many nights I rolled from one side to another trying to find an easy position for my back; I could not move without having sharp twinges of pain and I was also troubled with urinary difficulty, the secretions being very irregular, and at times very distressing. I ran down so that I could hardly help myself. Doctors treated me. I took a power of stuff and had given up all hope when I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised as a never failing remedy. I got a box at the W. & W. Pharmacy and after taking half of it I could see some improvement. I continued, and the treatment did me more good than anything I ever used"

Sold for 50 cents a box by all dealers. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Corrosive Ink.

With an impatient grunt the bookkeeper threw away his pen and put a new one in the holder. "It's terrible," he said, "how ink corrodes pens. In six or seven hours a new pen will begin to scratch. It keeps me busy changing the blamed things, let alone the expense. There's money in it for the man who will invent a noncorrosive ink." An old man, a bill collector, remarked to him: "My young friend, I'll tell you a sure way to stop your ink from corroding your pen. Take a few rusty iron nails and put them in your ink well. The ink's corrosive acid will play itself out on the nails, and in consequence your pen will escape. A pen that only lasts you a day now should, with my method, last at least a week."—Philadelphia Record.

Hospitality Pays.

Cities and communities frequently expend large sums of money in entertaining conventions, conferences and other public gatherings, both because of a spirit of hospitality prevailing or through a sinister desire to "advertise the city." After the affair is over and the visitors have gone their several ways the people ask one of the other, "Does it pay to spend money thus?" There never was a case of public hospitality that didn't pay, if not in dollars and cents, in the extension and broadening of that finest of all sentiments, the brotherhood of man.—Dayton Herald.

His Auspicious Beginning.

"To gratify the curiosity of the public, Mr. Dollaraline," purred the young person with the notebook, "will you please tell me if the first contribution you ever sent to a magazine was accepted?"

The literary celebrity smiled genially.

"I am happy to say it was," he answered.

"What was it?"

"Four dollars for a year's subscription."—Chicago Tribune.

Bright Spick Span New Dwellings.

$2500 Six rooms, slate roof, front and rear portico, cellar, gas, electric light wiring, sanitary plumbing, bath, hot and cold water, golden oak grain throughout, just finished and within five minutes walk of the Diamond, on Minerva street. No hill to climb. Terms—$500 down, balance $20 monthly.

$3100 Seven rooms and finished attic, slate roof, cabinet mantle, good cellar, sanitary plumbing, bath, hot and cold water, electric light wiring, grained in golden oak, front and rear porticos. No hill to climb. One half square east of Walnut street on Minerva. Terms—$500 down and balance $25 monthly.

$2175 Six rooms, slate roof, large front portico, good cellar, wired for electricity, bath, hot and cold water, all sanitary plumbing complete, grained in oak, new and never occupied. Within four squares of the Diamond. Terms—$375 down and $18 per month.

$1650 Six rooms, slate roof, front, back and side porticos, grained inside, well arranged, comfortable and convenient. Good cellar, drilled well with force pump. Lot 40x100. Commands a fine view, is easy of access, within one minute's walk of north side street car line. It is located one-half square east of the Calcutta road just beyond Riverview cemetery. Terms—$450 down; balance $10 per month.

Other properties we would note as follows as being on sale with us (particulars furnished upon inquiry). Ten room brick house, lot 33x133, Sixth street, $5,200; new ten room house, lot 40x100, Ogden street, $2,500; six room modern house, Spring street, $2,900; four rooms, water and gas, lot 30x100 Minerva street, $1,850; ten room modern double house near Second street, $3,000; four rooms, new, just completed, McKinnon addition, $1,200; three rooms and small lot, Cadmus street, $700; two rooms and large lot Gardendale, $400; four rooms, lot 30x100, Pennsylvania avenue, East End, $1,450; six rooms, new, Sheridan avenue, $2,750; five rooms, pantry, lot 30x100, Bradshaw avenue, $1,850; six rooms, furnace, gas, lot 30x100, Eighth street, $2,400; four rooms, just new, Oakland addition, $1,200; four rooms, new, Maple street, East End, $1,250; four rooms, Ohio avenue, East End, $1,750; seven rooms and five rooms on Third street, $5,500; seven rooms on Pine street, $2,500.

Restaurant and dwelling of 12 rooms furnished in part. Well suited and located for a boarding or mealing house. See us for terms and price.

We have 25 times as many more properties. Call and see us about any or all of them. We will sell on terms to suit your income. Why pay rent when you can own a home? Don't you know that by paying a dollar on each $100 you owe will wipe out the debt and interest in ten years? For instance, fifteen dollars paid monthly for ten years will pay off a $1,500 debt and interest. It's not how much money one spends but how one spends it that makes one's financial weal or woe.

PRESBYTERIAN PICNIC

Members of Church and Sunday School to Have An Enjoyable Outing Monday.

The members of the church and Sunday school of the Presbyterian church will hold their annual picnic next Monday at Rock Springs park. It is the earnest endeavor of all those who are arranging the program for the day, to make the event memorable to the large number which will participate in the pleasures of the outing.

Rev. Dr. Marshall, former pastor of the church, will make an address at the pavilion. Miss Margaret Baxter and Prof. Laughlin, also a quartet selected from the choir of the church, will render musical selections on the program. Prof. R. E. Rayman will make an address on the progress of the Sunday school, and Attorney Jason H. Brookes will probably speak on a topic of interest to the Sunday school and church workers.

Places on the program have been assigned to Frank H. Croxall, also Mr. Romey, and George C. Murphy will act as chairman. The Presbyterians and friends are cordially invited to be present and enjoy the day.

Lyceum Reception.

Lisbon, July 30.—(Special)—The members of the Young Men's Lyceum last evening gave a reception to their parents and older friends. The functions of the previous evening were repeated, a choice musical and literary program being rendered. Miss Ellen Wellington gave three readings and there was vocal and instrumental music by Mrs. Helen Blockson, Mrs. Clent Baxley, Miss Leah King and D. H. Jackson. Tonight's reception to the young men and "old boys" will be the concluding one.

In Honor of Visitors.

Mrs. John S. Goodwin entertained yesterday afternoon at a luncheon in honor of Mrs. Blynn, of Denver, Col., and Miss Mame Scott, of Cambridge, O. A large number of ladies were in attendance.

Wedded at Lisbon.

Entertained Friends.

Mrs. William Davidson, in honor of her sister-in-law of New York city, entertained a few of her friends at 6 o'clock dinner last evening.

When Carlyle Pinched His Wife.

A volume by the late Anthony Froude, the historian, tells this story of Carlyle and his wife, who lived on notoriously bad terms, the latter dying first: "Carlyle found a remembrance in her diary of the blue marks which in a fit of passion he had once inflicted on her arms. As soon as he could collect himself he put together a memoir of her, in which with deliberate courage he inserted the incriminating passages of her diary, the note of the blue marks among them, and he added an injunction of his own that, however stern and tragic that record might be, it was never to be destroyed."

A BONANZA STRIKE

FOR GREEN MOUNTAIN MINING & MILLING CO.

The Stockholders and Friends of This Company Will Be Pleased to Note the Following Letter.

Office of James A. Snedaker, Mining Engineer, Equitable Building.

Mr. S. J. Crawford, Sec., 519 Frick building, Pittsburg, Pa.

Dear Sir—I had a long talk with Mr. Frost over the 'phone and would have gone to the mines Monday, but as Mr Hart will be here Thursday I wish to see him before leaving. Mr. Frost tells me that the ore body has continued and that they are still in the same for a distance of 10 feet, the ore running, according to assays, 17-100 of an ounce in Gold, 6½ ounces of Silver, 21 per cent Lead and 7 96-100 per cent Copper. You can see that this is an ideal ore. I will expect shortly to go down there and it may be possible that I will ship a lot of this ore direct to the smelter. This bonanza that we have struck places us beyond any doubt on the paying list, and the Green Mountain Co.'s stock should be worth a great deal more than it was a month ago. This ore has been struck in the Leonard claim. It is evidently the main vein of the "Pride of the West" and is the greatest bonanza that has been struck in the San Juan for over a year. The expected has happened—that is, this is one of the great mines of the whole country. We can see our way towards having a mill and that pretty quick. It will, of course, require some drifting and development, but this can be done before a mill could be completed. You can tell all of your friends that we have made good much better than our promise. This vein is larger and better than any vein that the Silver Lake mines ever had and will make a greater producer.

I have had Mr. Frost express you some samples from the vein. We have this ore body at least 250 feet deep from the surface, and with the size of it will mean thousands of tons of ore.

Mr. Hart will be here tomorrow and we will go over the whole situation together and possibly go to the mines. Will let you know at our earliest convenience everything pertaining to the property.

Very truly yours,
JAMES A. SNEDAKER.
